Big Four Groundwork Laid For Talks On German Peace Treaty

BRITISH AND AMERICANS CONSIDER MERGING ZONES

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The groundwork for Big Four talks on a German peace treaty late this month was being prepared tonight as hopes rose that the long deadlocked Trieste dispute might be near a solution.

American military government officials from Germany arrived in Washington this afternoon to begin British-American negotiations on the further merging of their two zones. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was expected to confer with them in New York tomorrow. Byrnes remained here over the week-end to attend the Army-Notre Dame football game.

The British-American negotiations in Washington are aimed at setting the stage for four-power talks here on the German peace problem.

Preliminary attention to the German issue was given as the foreign ministers took a long week-end recess after a week's failure to make any visible headway on peace treaties for Germany's satellites.

The American military government officials arriving today were headed by Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor of Germany, and Robert Murphy, political adviser to Clay and U. S. occupation forces in Germany.

Diplomatic sources believed that if the Trieste dispute could be settled within the next 10 days, the four-power ministers would be able to tackle the German peace problem earlier than had been expected.

Clay was expected to give Byrnes a quick fill-in here on the German situation, but sources close to the secretary of state said that Byrnes did not plan to participate in the British-American negotiations in Washington.

However, it was explained that Clay and Murphy would certainly confer with Byrnes when these negotiations

U. S. Announces Intention Of Keeping Agreements With 18 Nations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The United States announced its intention tonight of seeking specific tariff-reducing agreements with 18 key countries at a conference next spring.

In an apparent post-election move to reassure foreign countries of the administration's determination to keep its trade pledges, Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton announced the move at a news conference.

Clayton simultaneously expressed firm conviction that the Republicans formerly considered exponents of high tariffs, will support the Democratic administration's foreign trade program.

The negotiations will be the most extensive ever carried out under the reciprocal trade agreements act of 1934 which former Secretary of State Hull pioneered. Tariff cuts on thousands of items ranging from feathers to machinery will be considered.

Countries to be represented at the conference account for two-thirds of the world's trade. Only Russia has not accepted an American invitation.

President Truman released a statement terming the projected trade discussions "necessary to achieve the

13 INJURED WHEN BUS, TRUCK CRASH

McCOMB, Miss., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Thirteen persons were injured, one seriously, today in a collision between a passenger bus and a heavy truck on highway 24, three miles east of McComb.

All were hospitalized here pending determination of their injuries. The most seriously hurt was John E. Johnson of McComb, who State Patrolman C. P. Simmons said, was driver of the truck.

The bus had just left McComb for Hattiesburg. The truck was demolished and the bus was damaged considerably.

Manson Jenkins, Bogalusa, La.; Wroten Hall, Bogalusa; Benjamin Franklin, Tylertown, Miss.; H. R. Dunlap, Tylertown, Miss.; Ellie Shaw, Sontag, Miss.; Mrs. Georgie Hudson, Hammond, La., Route 3, and her five-year-old granddaughter, Hazel Barber; Mrs. Ashley Halreston, Tylertown; Mrs. Mary Case, McComb; Jesse Rush, McComb, and Ed Magee and Alise Robinson of Tylertown.

ASSERTS G. O. P. WILL AID LABOR

Senator Ball Says Some Drastic Changes In Act Planned

WASHINGTON, Nov 9.—(AP)—Senator Morse (R-Ore.) said tonight that labor need not fear the Republican election victory and an A. F. L. spokesman said he had better be right or the voting may boomerang in 1948.

Senator Ball (R-Minn.) told a reporter some of the first Republican bills in the next congress may propose drastic changes in the Wagner labor relations act, cornerstone of many of labor's rights. He said he expects to write one which would hold unions just as responsible as management under the law.

Early enactment of some provisions of the stringent Case bill, killed by a presidential veto, also will be sought by the G. O. P., Ball said.

In a speech for an A. F. L. broadcast over the ABC network, Morse declared, however:

"The great victory of the Republican party at the nation's polls Tuesday, Nov. 5, should be welcomed, and not feared, by organized labor."

He said the victory was won with heavy support from labor, adding:

"I think the leaders of the Republican party should remember that the vote of the people last Tuesday did not take the form of a mandate for any particular pieces of legislation and certainly not for any particular anti-labor legislation such as the Case bill."

PLANS TO INQUIRE INTO BILBO MONEY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.) said today his war investigating committee will inquire whether Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) received money from a war contractor if committee investigators "uncover any record evidence."

Kilgore also told reporters at the White House "as far as the committee is concerned" its investigation of the Garsson Munitions Companies and Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky.) is closed.

Kilgore said he had no intention of calling May to testify but would hear him if he had anything more to volunteer.

"There is no evidence that May ever got a cent," Kilgore added.

Asked about his committee's plans with respect to the Bilbo matter, he said he had two investigators looking into it in Mississippi. He added he would be willing to have the full committee investigate the complaints if any evidence is uncovered that can be substantiated, adding "but some people make charges and are not willing to testify under oath."

Kilgore said Senators Brewster (Rep-Maine) and Ferguson (Rep-Mich) brought the Bilbo matter before the committee.

Francis D. Flanagan, assistant committee counsel, said on Oct. 31 that the committee had been looking into the relations between Bilbo and a number of war contractors.

Bilbo has made no comment.

STATE MEET IS PLANNED HERE

Life Underwriters To Have Convention; Many Noted Speakers

The Northeast Louisiana Life Underwriters' Association of Monroe will be host to the state convention here this week opening a two-day session November 15. From 250 to 300 delegates and their wives and special guests are expected to attend.

The program is said to be one of the strongest ever presented by the association a number of leading producers being on the program, besides executives of some of the larger companies.

As a special, Sam Jones, former governor of Louisiana, will speak at the banquet on Friday at Hotel Frances. Wade O. Martin Jr., secretary of state and insurance commissioner, will also appear on the program.

The former governor will speak on "The Future Louisiana." Mr. Martin will have for his theme: 'The Proposed New Insurance Code for Louisiana."

W. V. Walker, executive vice-president of the Life and Casualty Company, Nashville, Tenn., will speak on: "The Value of Man."

Frank V. Plaisted, general agent of the Aetna Life Insurance Co., St. Louis, Mo., will discuss, "Planning a Sales Track."

Norman E. Lisk, manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Little Rock, Ark., will discuss "Peace of Mind."

Two other speakers will be Joseph L. McMilln, manager of the Mutual Life of New York," Memphis, Tenn., and A. R. Jaqua, director of the Institute of Insurance of the Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex. Their themes will be respectively: "Tomorrow's Dollars" and "Today's and Tomorrow's Market."

Officer Declares Resistance Movement Has 'Declared All-Out War'

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The colonial office acknowledged today that it was acquainted with reports a Jewish armada was preparing to rush the British blockade of Palestine, and Scotland Yard announced that special guards had been placed at government buildings in London as a precaution against an expanded campaign by Jewish "terrorists."

These developments coincided with incidents in Palestine which a British officer said were significant because they meant the Jewish resistance movement had "declared all-out war."

The incidents included a broadcast from the "Voice of Fighting Zion," secret transmitter of Irgun Zvai Leumi, underground Jewish organization, which accepted the responsibility for the recent bombing of the British embassy in Rome and threatened to "extend our activities" to countries beyond the Holy Land.

Earlier, three British policemen were killed when they walked into a Jerusalem booby trap, the first instance of violence on the Jewish sabbath, and a British officer said this meant "these Jewish terrorists are pulling out all the stops."

The policemen were killed when they answered a mysterious "tip" on a supposed arms cache. They opened a door and there was a heavy explosion which injured another and slightly hurt five Jews sleeping nearby.

A Scotland Yard spokesman said the special precautions of placing extra guards inside and outside some government buildings in Downing and

Over at the Ouachita Parish Courthouse is a complicated mechanical machine, said to be the only one in the state of its kind, which is known as a "Sound Scriber." Its purpose is to record every spoken word in a court trial, the remarks and decisions of the presiding judge, the often cantankerous cross-examinations by attorneys and their other procedure, and the testimony of witnesses in the box are all recorded on a record similar to a phonograph record. Fred O. Browning, court reporter, painstakingly operated and explained the machine the other day when there was no court in session. Says it will be valuable as these records can be filed away and when data and exact testimony is required on some case, perhaps weeks and months hence, it can be reproduced by playing the record. It provides quite an improvement over the difficulties that sometimes are encountered when cold shorthand notes have to be deciphered. Mr. Browning thinks it will be a step forward in progress and that soon all courts may have these machines installed.

VOTE SUNDAY IN FRANCE, COLONIES

Election Primarily Battle Between Communists And M. R. P.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—France and her colonies will vote tomorrow for deputies of the first legislature of the fourth republic in an election primarily a battle between the Communist and M. R. P. parties. Each has promised to exclude the other from the new cabinet if it gains sufficient support.

Despite the M. R. P.'s bid for votes from the followers of Gen. de Gaulle and its pledge to give France a centrist government, French political experts said the balloting is not likely to change the present political balance of power, held jointly by the Communists, M. P. R., and Socialists, and that the new government is likely to continue to be a coalition.

In choosing 618 deputies from among 3,000 candidates for five year terms in the national assembly, the people probably will concentrate 75 percent of their vote on those three major parties which have jointly governed the country for the last two years, the experts said.

Thus, it is unlikely that any important change in French foreign policy or in the domestic program will result from the trek of 20,000,000 voters to the polls in Normandy's war-ravaged villages, or Paris' boulevards, in still tense Indochina and in palm-shaded Tahiti.

Snow fell in Paris on the eve of the election, and if the weather turns bad throughout the provinces it may cut the size of the vote.

President-Premier Georges Bidault's M. R. P. party, the powerful Communists and Leon Blum's Socialist party will be the big winners as in the last two general elections, interior ministry experts and other observers agreed.

But interest will focus primarily on the gains or losses registered by the Communists and the M. R. P., representing in western Europe's largest democracy the opposing interests of the east and west which have colored post-war international politics.

Gen. de Gaulle, save for a statement urging support of parties pledged to a revision of the constitution which created the fourth republic, has remained aloof from the political clashes. The M. R. P., has said it will support him for the presidency if he decides to seek the office.

De Gaulle's statement was interpreted as giving at least partial support to the M. R. P., which also has the tacit backing of many Catholics.

Unofficial negotiations among the parties on the formula for a new cabinet will begin immediately after the election results are known, but the government will not be formed until the middle of January, for the national assembly is but the first house of parliament. Elections will be held Dec. 8 for the second house, the council of the republic.

If, as expected, none of the three major parties has a single-handed majority in the legislature, most observers agree that another three-party coalition government is the only

ATTLEE HITS AT USING U. N. AS DEBATE FORUM

Says United Nations To Fail If 'Ideological Differences' Aired

SAYS KEY TO PEACE LIES IN AGREEING ON GERMANY

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee declared tonight that "obstruction" and "propaganda attacks" have marked the proceedings of the United Nations and predicted that the U. N. would fail if it is used as a forum for "ideological differences."

His sharp criticism of the world peace organization was accompanied by an assertion that the key to European prosperity and peace lies in reaching a settlement on the future of Germany—a subject being considered by the Big Four foreign ministers in New York.

In a speech delivered at the annual lord mayor's banquet which climaxed a day of pomp and pageantry not seen in London for eight years, the prime minister upheld British action in India, Burma and elsewhere to "refute contentions that the British Commonwealth and Empire is animated by imperialism."

He pledged also that Britain would work for "our ideals of peace and to lift the heavy burden of armaments from the people of the world," but added that "I emphasize that disarmament cannot be unilateral."

In apparent reference to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's proposal to the United Nations general assembly for world disarmament, Attlee commented:

"The lesson of the inter-war period was that disarmament must march hand in hand with the establishment of a general system of security."

"I know that we have all felt disappointment in the way in which the organization is being used," said

Only Rents, Rice, Sugar Regulated

Ceilings Off Lumber And Building Supplies And Many Other Items; Law Of Supply And Demand To Operate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Price ceilings on everything except dwellings, sugar and rice were wiped away completely by President Truman tonight in one sweeping order which spelled the speedy end of OPA.

All government controls on wages and salaries, too, were abolished except in cases of government seizure, like the soft coal mines. Thus the wage stabilization board goes out of business.

While the OPA rent ceilings will be continued, Mr. Truman indicated that they may be increased—"it may be that some adjustment of rents will be required," he said. But Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt announced that the sales and rental ceiling on new homes built under the veterans emergency housing program will stay as is.

The presidential order removed price ceilings from clothing, automobiles, building materials, furniture, metals, paper, coal, laundry—everything, in fact, that still remained under ceilings after the avalanche of recent decontrol actions except the scarce items of housing, sugar and rice.

The order was effective as of 11:01 p. m. (central standard time) Sunday, but price law violations before that time still may be prosecuted.

Mr. Truman acted four days after the election which saw Republicans capture control of the Senate and House.

Its principal impact was on these three agencies:

OPA — Price Administrator Paul Porter, now expected to resign shortly, announced that the much criticized agency "is proceeding immediately with liquidation" of its pricing functions. The local boards throughout the nation already are closed. A special liquidation agency probably will be set up to polish off the work.

WLB—Chairman W. Willard Wirtz announced that the wage stabilization board's functions will be wound up and its offices closed as quickly as possible. While it has nothing more to say about wages, it has some 6,700 cases of alleged wage control violations pending and these must be decided. Where violations are found, employers may be denied deductions of the labor expenses on income tax returns.

NHA—The national housing agency apparently faces some complications if construction wages and building material prices rise now that they are decontrolled. Mr. Truman said that "a change in the approach to some of the problems" will be necessary and asked Wyatt for a prompt report. Wyatt said that present priorities, allocations and subsidies will continue, along with the ceiling on new houses—$10,000 on the purchase price and $80 on the monthly rental.

Mr. Truman, in a statement which accompanied his action, declared that "the law of supply and demand operating in the market place will, from now on, serve the people better than would continued regulation of prices by the government."

In restoring the national economy to a control-free basis just four days after the election, Mr. Truman took one more poke at congress which he has blamed repeatedly in the past for difficulties with his stabilization program.

"The real basis of our difficulty is the unworkable price control law which the congress gave us to administer," he declared. "The plain truth is that, under this inadequate law, price control has lost the popular support needed to make it work."

The office of price administration, which has handled ceilings and other controls, will be continued for the time being to supervise sugar rationing and the ceilings on sugar, rice and rent. But price Administrator Paul Porter, who took over last June when Chester Bowles resigned in the midst of the extension battle with

PROBE PLANNED BY REPUBLICANS

Wherry Sets Off G. O. P.'s First Post-Election Investigation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Senator Wherry of Nebraska fired the Republicans' first post-election investigation at the Democrats today with announcement that he will go to Europe to scrutinize food shipments to Russia and other countries.

Wherry told a news conference he intends to find out whether part of 1,100,000,000 pounds of American meat he said was sent to Europe in the first six months of this year had been used to feed Russian and Yugoslav troops.

As he announced his inquiry, first of many the Republican-controlled Congress is expected to launch, there were these other political developments:

1. The White House announced that President Truman will issue a general policy statement at his first post-election news conference Monday morning. Intimates reported he will pledge himself to place the nation's welfare above personal or party interest in working with the Republican Congress and express his hope particularly for continued bi-partisan support on foreign policy.

2. Senator Fulbright, Democrat, Arkansas, amplifying his suggestion that the president name a Republican secretary of state and then resign in his favor, predicted that if Democrats attempt to hold on to power "in the face of obvious disapproval of the people," the party would suffer a "disastrous" defeat in the 1948 presidential race.

3. Signs developed of a possible fight over the Senate majority leadership, paralleling a similar House contest, with Wherry's assertion that Minority Leader White, Republican, Maine, must be considered if he wants the new post. Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, previously has been talked of as the likely choice. But Wherry did not remove himself as a possible candidate.

Wherry left no doubt he thinks the people repudiated at the polls last Tuesday the New Deal philosophy he contends Mr. Truman followed in attempting to carry out the policies of the late President Roosevelt.

"I think the people voted to throw out the New Deal and the radicalism

SOFT COAL MINE CONTROL MAY END

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A government move to end federal control of the soft coal mines appeared likely today as hard coal miners bid for a new wage increase.

The Shenandoah, Pa., general mine board of the United Mine Workers of America (A. F. of L.) called on the union's chief, John L. Lewis, to reopen the anthracite coal contract and demand a pay boost and shorter work week.

More money per hour and fewer working hours are the general demands Lewis is believed to have served on the government for the 400,000 soft coal miners. Pay conditions for the 75,000 hard coal miners usually parallel those agreed upon in the bituminous industry.

Lewis' contract with the anthracite operators permits reopening on 10 days' notice.

Already Lewis has called for reopening his soft coal contract with the government and has had aides conferring with Capt. N. H. Collisson, federal coal mines administrator, on new terms. These talks have been preliminary to a meeting between Lewis and Secretary of the Interior Krug at 10 a. m. (E. S. T.) Monday.

It was indicated that the government, through Krug and Reconversion Director John R. Steelman, may try to work out an agreement between Lewis and the private owners, while at the same time solving Lewis' current demands, to permit the return of the mines.

The government has been operating the soft coal mines since May 22 when they were seized by White House order during a strike which was ended a week later by an agreement between Krug and Lewis.

WILL ARGUE CASE OF WILLIE FRANCIS

ST. MARTINVILLE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—District Attorney L. O. Pecot of St. Martinville said today he will leave soon for Washington to appear on November 18 before the United States supreme court to argue the nationally publicized case of Willie Francis.

Francis, a Negro, is under death sentence for the slaying of Andrew Thomase, white, St. Martinville druggist.

The case was taken to the high court after Francis escaped electrocution when a flaw in the state's portable electric chair kept it from functioning properly last May 3.

The state contends that since no electricity passed through the Negro's body he has not been executed in keeping with the pronouncement of the court.

Bertrand S. LeBlanc, Francis' attorney, has claimed that Francis cannot be again sent to the chair because such a procedure would constitute "cruel and unusual punishment."

Le Blanc has said he will appear in Washington to plead a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment.

INDUSTRIAL AND BUSINESS LEADERS PREDICT DECONTROL WILL PROVIDE IMPETUS REQUIRED FOR FULL PRODUCTION

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Industry and business leaders tonight said wage and price decontrol would provide the impetus needed for full production.

Many foresaw. A confused period of higher prices; early resumption of "normal" competitive levels; the wiping out of black markets; increasing supplies of scarce materials and products; and possibility that the business setback expected in some quarters may be averted.

Lew Hahn, general manager of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, said:

"It now rests with business to prove it can control itself better than any Washington agencies can control it." The natural mechanism of business has been interferred with for four or five years and it may take a little while before it gets reestablished.

"Prices, after years of unnatural interference, doubtless may be expected to react nervously before they settle down to something like a new normal, but the consciousness that business concerns generally are too smart to price themselves out of their great markets gives assurance that prices will not long continue out of hand."

The wiping out of black markets in building materials "within a few months" was foreseen by Lewis H. Brown, chairman of the board of directors and chief executive officer of Johns-Manville Corp., a leading producer of such materials.

George A. Renard, executive secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Purchasing Agents, said "many prices will advance too much, just as meat and hides did when controls were removed. Those who want to buy at the top of the market can rush in, but representatives buyers and sellers will steer clear of that period of temporary maladjustment of prices."

E. W. Tinker, executive vice-president of the American Paper & Pulp Association, said although there probably would be some adjustments, the consumer should feel little change in paper prices as a result of decontrol because it would revive production of low-priced papers which have been "practically out of production."

Tinker said decontrol would have little effect on the price of newsprint.

Statements of some other leaders:

Dr. Claudius T. Murchinson, president of the Cotton Textile Institute: "Decontrol means that production will be determined by consumer demand rather than by government regulation and that shortages will be corrected much sooner than would have been possible had the controls continued."

Charles M. White, Republic Steel president: "The fewer controls we have, the better off we will be and the sooner the country's economy will be straightened out, just as removal of controls on meat has straightened out the meat situation. This is clearly what the American people want."

E. R. Breech, executive vice-president, Ford Motor Company: "We do not contemplate any increase in the prices of Ford motor cars and trucks."

Louis J. Cohen, executive vice-president of Michigan Used Car Dealers' Association, predicted an immediate jump in used car prices.

"But the skyrocketing won't last more than a week, after that prices will come down very rapidly, leveling

BRITISH AND AMERICANS CONSIDER MERGING ZONES

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The groundwork for Big Four talks on a German peace treaty late this month was being prepared tonight as hopes rose that the long deadlocked Trieste dispute might be near a solution.

American military government officials from Germany arrived in Washington this afternoon to begin British-American negotiations on the further merging of their two zones. Secretary of State James F. The British-American negotiations in Washington are aimed at setting the stage for four-power talks here on the German peace problem.

Preliminary attention to the German issue was given as the foreign ministers took a long week-end recess after a week's failure to make any visible headway on peace treaties for Germany's satellites.

Diplomatic sources believed that if the Trieste dispute could be settled within the next 10 days, the four-power ministers would be able to tackle the German peace problem earlier than had been expected.

Clay was expected to give Byrnes a quick fill-in here on the German situation, but sources close to the secretary of state said that Byrnes did not plan to participate in the British-American negotiations in Washington.

However, it was explained that Clay and Murphy would certainly confer with Byrnes when these negotiations

Senator Ball (R-Minn.) told a reporter some of the first Republican bills in the next congress may propose drastic changes in the Wagner labor relations act, cornerstone of many of labor's rights. He said he expects to write one which would hold unions just as responsible as management under the law.

Early enactment of some provisions of the stringent Case bill, killed by a presidential veto, also will be sought by the G. O. P., Ball said.

In a speech for an A. F. L. broadcast over the ABC network, Morse declared, however:

"The great victory of the Republican party at the nation's polls Tuesday, Nov. 5, should be welcomed, and not feared, by organized labor."

He said the victory was won with heavy support from labor, adding:

"I think the leaders of the Republican party should remember that the vote of the people last Tuesday did not take the form of a mandate for any particular pieces of legislation and certainly not for any particular anti-labor legislation such as the Case bill."

Calling Morse "an outstanding rep-

PLANS TO INQUIRE INTO BILBO MONEY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.) said today his war investigating committee will inquire whether Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) received money from a war contractor if committee investigators "uncover any record evidence."

Kilgore also told reporters at the White House "as far as the committee is concerned" its investigation of the Garsson Munitions Companies and Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky.) is closed.

Kilgore said he had no intention of calling May to testify but would hear him if he had anything more to volunteer.

"There is no evidence that May ever got a cent," Kilgore added.

Asked about his committee's plans with respect to the Bilbo matter, he said he had two investigators looking into it in Mississippi. He added he would be willing to have the full committee investigate the complaints if any evidence is uncovered that can be substantiated, adding "but some people make charges and are not willing to testify under oath."

Kilgore said Senators Brewster (Rep-Maine) and Ferguson (Rep-Mich) brought the Bilbo matter before the committee.

Francis D. Flanagan, assistant committee counsel, said on Oct. 31 that the committee had been looking into the relations between Bilbo and a number of war contractors.

Bilbo has made no comment.

STATE MEET IS PLANNED HERE

Life Underwriters To Have Convention; Many Noted Speakers

The Northeast Louisiana Life Underwriters' Association of Monroe will be host to the state convention here this week opening a two-day session November 15. From 250 to 300 delegates and their wives and special guests are expected to attend.

The program is said to be one of the strongest ever presented by the association a number of leading producers being on the program, besides executives of some of the larger companies.

As a special, Sam Jones, former governor of Louisiana, will speak at the banquet on Friday at Hotel Frances. Wade O. Martin Jr., secretary of state and insurance commissioner, will also appear on the program.

The former governor will speak on "The Future Louisiana." Mr. Martin will have for his theme: "The Proposed New Insurance Code for Louisiana."

W. V. Walker, executive vice-president of the Life and Casualty Company, Nashville, Tenn., will speak on: "The Value of Man."

Frank V. Plaisted, general agent of the Aetna Life Insurance Co., St. Louis, Mo., will discuss: "Planning a Sales Track."

Norman E. Lisk, manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Little Rock, Ark., will discuss "Peace of Mind."

Two other speakers will be Joseph L. McMilln, manager of the Mutual Life of New York," Memphis, Tenn., and A. R. Jaqua, director of the Institute of Insurance of the Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex. Their themes will be respectively: "Tomorrow's Dollars" and "Today's and Tomorrow's Market."

Officer Declares Resistance Movement Has 'Declared All-Out War'

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The colonial office acknowledged today that it was acquainted with reports a Jewish armada was preparing to rush the British blockade of Palestine, and Scotland Yard announced that special guards had been placed at government buildings in London as a precaution against an expanded campaign by Jewish "terrorists."

These developments coincided with incidents in Palestine which a British officer said were significant because they meant the Jewish resistance movement had "declared all-out war."

The incidents included a broadcast from the "Voice of Fighting Zion," secret transmitter of Irgun Zvai Leumi, underground Jewish organization, which accepted the responsibility for the recent bombing of the British embassy in Rome and threatened to "extend our activities" to countries beyond the Holy Land.

Earlier, three British policemen were killed when they walked into a Jerusalem booby trap, the first instance of violence on the Jewish sabbath, and a Britsih officer said this meant "these Jewish terrorists are pulling out all the stops."

The policemen were killed when they answered a mysterious "tip" on a supposed arms cache. They opened a door and there was a heavy explosion which injured another and slightly hurt five Jews sleeping nearby.

A Scotland Yard spokesman said the special precautions of placing extra guards inside and outside some government buildings in Downing and

Over at the Ouachita Parish Courthouse is a complicated mechanical machine, said to be the only one in the state of its kind, which is known as a "Sound Scriber." Its purpose its to record every spoken word in a court trial, the remarks and decisions of the presiding judge, the often cantankerous cross-examinations by attorneys and their other procedure, and the testimony of witnesses in the box are all recorded on a record similar to a phonograph record. Fred O. Browning, court reporter, painstakingly operated and explained the machine the other day when there was no court in session. Says it will be valuable as these records can be filed away and when data and exact testimony is required on some case, perhaps weeks and months hence, it can be reproduced by playing the record. It provides quite an improvement over the difficulties that sometimes are encountered when cold shorthand notes have to be deciphered. Mr. Browning thinks it will be a step forward in progress and that soon all courts may have these machines installed.

The Optimist Club had a period of fun when they met at Hotel Frances Friday noon. Immediately following the invocation, the assistant clipper, Harry Hayes, clipped the clipper, Jack Willis, for the sum of a dime for being tardy. Clipper Willis thereupon clipped Lawrence Williams for 30 cents for unduly advertising his business.

VOTE SUNDAY IN FRANCE, COLONIES

Election Primarily Battle Between Communists And M. R. P.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—France and her colonies will vote tomorrow for deputies of the first legislature of the fourth republic in an election primarily a battle between the Communist and M. R. P. parties. Each has promised to exclude the other from the new cabinet if it gains sufficient support.

Despite the M. R. P.'s bid for votes from the followers of Gen. de Gaulle and its pledge to give France a centrist government, French political experts said the balloting is not likely to change the present political balance of power, held jointly by the Communists, M. P. R., and Socialists, and that the new government is likely to continue to be a coalition.

In choosing 618 deputies from among 3,000 candidates for five year terms in the national assembly, the people probably will concentrate 75 percent of their vote on those three major parties which have jointly governed the country for the last two years, the experts said.

Thus, it is unlikely that any important change in French foreign policy or in the domestic program will result from the trek of 20,000,000 voters to the polls in Normandy's war-ravaged villages, or Paris' boulevards, in still tense Indochina and in palm-shaded Tahiti.

Snow fell in Paris on the eve of the election, and if the weather turns bad throughout the provinces it may cut the size of the vote.

President-Premier Georges Bidault's M. R. P. party, the powerful Communists and Leon Blum's Socialist party will be the big winners as in the last two general elections, interior ministry experts and other observers agreed.

But interest will focus primarily on the gains or losses registered by the Communists and the M. R. P., representing in western Europe's largest democracy the opposing interests of the east and west which have colored post-war international politics.

Gen. de Gaulle, save for a statement urging support of parties pledged to a revision of the constitution which created the fourth republic, has remained aloof from the political clashes. The M. R. P., has said it will support him for the presidency if he decides to seek the office.

De Gaulle's statement was interpreted as giving at least partial support to the M. R. P., which also has the tacit backing of many Catholics.

Unofficial negotiations among the parties on the formula for a new cabinet will begin immediately after the election results are known, but the government will not be formed until the middle of January, for the national assembly is but the first house of parliament. Elections will be held Dec. 8 for the second house, the council of the republic.

If, as expected, none of the three major parties has a single-handed majority in the legislature, most observers agree that another three-party coalition government is the only

ATTLEE HITS AT USING U. N. AS DEBATE FORUM

SAYS KEY TO PEACE LIES IN AGREEING ON GERMANY

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee declared tonight that "obstruction" and "propaganda attacks" have marked the proceedings of the United Nations and predicted that the U. N. would fail if it is used as a forum for "ideological differences."

His sharp criticism of the world peace organization was accompanied by an assertion that the key to European prosperity and peace lies in reaching a settlement on the future of Germany—a subject being considered by the Big Four foreign ministers in New York.

In a speech delivered at the annual lord mayor's banquet which climaxed a day of pomp and pageantry not seen in London for eight years, the prime minister upheld British action in India, Burma and elsewhere to "refute contentions that the British Commonwealth and Empire is animated by imperialism."

He pledged also that Britain would work for "our ideals of peace and to lift the heavy burden of armaments from the people of the world," but added that "I emphasize that disarmament cannot be unilateral."

In apparent reference to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's proposal to the United Nations general assembly for world disarmament, Attlee commented:

"The lesson of the inter-war period was that disarmament must march hand in hand with the establishment of a general system of security."

"I know that we have all felt disappointment in the way in which the organization is being used," said

Only Rents, Rice, Sugar Regulated

Ceilings Off Lumber And Building Supplies And Many Other Items; Law Of Supply And Demand To Operate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Price ceilings on everything except dwellings, sugar and rice were wiped away completely by President Truman tonight in one sweeping order which spelled the speedy end of OPA.

All government controls on wages and salaries, too, were abolished except in cases of government seizure, like the soft coal mines. Thus the wage stabilization board goes out of business.

While the OPA rent ceilings will be continued, Mr. Truman indicated that they may be increased—"it may be that some adjustment of rents will be required," he said. But Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt announced that the sales and rental ceiling on new homes built under the veterans emergency housing program will stay as is.

The presidential order removed price ceilings from clothing, automobiles, building materials, furniture, metals, paper, coal, laundry—everything, in fact, that still remained under ceilings after the avalanche of recent decontrol actions except the scarce items of housing, sugar and rice.

The order was effective as of 11:01 p. m. (central standard time) Sunday, but price law violations before that time still may be prosecuted.

Mr. Truman acted four days after the election which saw Republicans capture control of the Senate and House.

Its principal impact was on these three agencies:

OPA — Price Administrator Paul Porter, now expected to resign shortly, announced that the much criticized agency "is proceeding immediately with liquidation" of its pricing functions. The local boards throughout the nation already are closed. A special liquidation agency probably will be set up to polish off the work.

WLB—Chairman W. Willard Wirtz announced that the wage stabilization board's functions will be wound up and its offices closed as quickly as possible. While it has nothing more to say about wages, it has some 6,700 cases of alleged wage control violations pending and these must be decided. Where violations are found, employers may be denied deductions of the labor expenses on income tax returns.

NHA—The national housing agency apparently faces some complications if construction wages and building material prices rise now that they are decontrolled. Mr. Truman said that "a change in the approach to some of the problems" will be necessary and asked Wyatt for a prompt report. Wyatt said that present priorities, allocations and subsidies will continue, along with the ceiling on new houses—$10,000 on the purchase price and $80 on the monthly rental.

Mr. Truman, in a statement which accompanied his action, declared that "the law of supply and demand operating in the market place will, from now on, serve the people better than would continued regulation of prices by the government."

In restoring the national economy to a control-free basis just four days after the election, Mr. Truman took one more poke at congress which he has blamed repeatedly in the past for difficulties with his stabilization program.

"The real basis of our difficulty is the unworkable price control law which the congress gave us to administer," he declared. "The plain truth is that, under this inadequate law, price control has lost the popular support needed to make it work."

The office of price administration, which has handled ceilings and other controls, will be continued for the time being to supervise sugar rationing and the ceilings on sugar, rice and rent. But price Administrator Paul Porter, who took over last June when Chester Bowles resigned in the midst of the extension battle with

Wherry Sets Off G. O. P.'s First Post-Election Investigation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Senator Wherry of Nebraska fired the Republicans' first post-election investigation at the Democrats today with announcement that he will go to Europe to scrutinize food shipments to Russia and other countries.

Wherry told a news conference he intends to find out whether part of 1,100,000,000 pounds of American meat he said was sent to Europe in the first six months of this year had been used to feed Russian and Yugoslav troops.

As he announced his inquiry, first of many the Republican-controlled Congress is expected to launch, there were these other political developments:

1. The White House announced that President Truman will issue a general policy statement at his first post-election news conference Monday morning. Intimates reported he will pledge himself to place the nation's welfare above personal or party interest in working with the Republican Congress and express his hope particularly for continued bi-partisan support on foreign policy.

2. Senator Fulbright, Democrat, Arkansas, amplifying his suggestion that the president name a Republican secretary of state and then resign in his favor, predicted that if Democrats attempt to hold on to power "in the face of obvious disapproval of the people," the party would suffer a "disastrous" defeat in the 1948 presidential race.

3. Signs developed of a possible fight over the Senate majority leadership, paralleling a similar House contest, with Wherry's assertion that Minority Leader White, Republican, Maine, must be considered if he wants the new post. Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, previously has been talked of as the likely choice. But Wherry did not remove himself as a possible candidate.

Wherry left no doubt he thinks the people repudiated at the polls last Tuesday the New Deal philosophy he contends Mr. Truman followed in attempting to carry out the policies of the late President Roosevelt.

"I think the people voted to throw out the New Deal and the radicalism

SOFT COAL MINE CONTROL MAY END

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A government move to end federal control of the soft coal mines appeared likely today as hard coal miners bid for a new wage increase.

The Shenandoah, Pa., general mine board of the United Mine Workers of America (A. F. of L.) called on the union's chief, John L. Lewis, to reopen the anthracite coal contract and demand a pay boost and shorter work week.

More money per hour and fewer working hours are the general demands Lewis is believed to have served on the government for the 400,000 soft coal miners. Pay conditions for the 75,000 hard coal miners usually parallel those agreed upon in the bituminous industry.

Lewis' contract with the anthracite operators permits reopening on 10 days' notice.

Already Lewis has called for reopening his soft coal contract with the government and has had aides conferring with Capt. N. H. Collisson, federal coal mines administrator, on new terms. These talks have been preliminary to a meeting between Lewis and Secretary of the Interior Krug at 10 a. m. (E. S. T.) Monday.

It was indicated that the government, through Krug and Reconversion Director John R. Steelman, may try to work out an agreement between Lewis and the private owners, while at the same time solving Lewis' current demands, to permit the return of the mines.

The government has been operating the soft coal mines since May 22 when they were seized by White House order during a strike which was ended a week later by an agreement between Krug and Lewis.

WILL ARGUE CASE OF WILLIE FRANCIS

ST. MARTINVILLE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—District Attorney L. O. Pecot of St. Martinville said today he will leave soon for Washington to appear on November 18 before the United States supreme court to argue the nationally publicized case of Willie Francis.

Francis, a Negro, is under death sentence for the slaying of Andrew Thomase, white, St. Martinville druggist.

The case was taken to the high court after Francis escaped electrocution when a flaw in the state's portable electric chair kept it from functioning properly last May 3.

The state contends that since no electricity passed through the Negro's body he has not been executed in keeping with the pronouncement of the court.

Bertrand S. LeBlanc, Francis' attorney, has claimed that Francis cannot be again sent to the chair because such a procedure would constitute "cruel and unusual punishment."

Le Blanc has said he will appear in Washington to plead a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment.

INDUSTRIAL AND BUSINESS LEADERS PREDICT DECONTROL WILL PROVIDE IMPETUS REQUIRED FOR FULL PRODUCTION

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Industry and business leaders tonight said wage and price decontrol would provide the impetus needed for full production.

Many foresaw. A confused period of higher prices; early resumption of "normal" competitive levels; the wiping out of black markets; increasing supplies of scarce materials and products; and possibility that the business setback expected in some quarters may be averted.

Lew Hahn, general manager of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, said:

"It now rests with business to prove it can control itself better than any Washington agencies can control it." The natural mechanism of business has been interferred with for four or five years and it may take a little while before it gets reestablished.

"Prices, after years of unnatural interference, doubtless may be expected to react nervously before they settle down to something like a new normal, but the consciousness that business concerns generally are too smart to price themselves out of their great markets gives assurance that prices will not long continue out of hand."

The wiping out of black markets in building materials "within a few months" was foreseen by Lewis H. Brown, chairman of the board of directors and chief executive officer of Johns-Manville Corp., a leading producer of such materials.

George A. Renard, executive secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Purchasing Agents, said "many prices will advance too much, just as meat and hides did when controls were removed. Those who want to buy at the top of the market can rush in, but representatives buyers and sellers will steer clear of that period of temporary maladjustment of prices."

E. W. Tinker, executive vice-president of the American Paper & Pulp Association, said although there probably would be some adjustments, the consumer should feel little change in paper prices as a result of decontrol because it would revive production of low-priced papers which have been "practically out of production."

Tinker said decontrol would have little effect on the price of newsprint.

Statements of some other leaders:

Dr. Claudius T. Murchison, president of the Cotton Textile Institute: "Decontrol means that production will be determined by consumer demand rather than by government regulation and that shortages will be corrected much sooner than would have been possible had the controls continued."

Charles M. White, Republic Steel president: "The fewer controls we have, the better off we will be and the sooner the country's economy will be straightened out, just as removal of controls on meat has straightened out the meat situation. This is clearly what the American people want."

E. R. Breech, executive vice-president, Ford Motor Company: "We do not contemplate any increase in the prices of Ford motor cars and trucks."

Louis J. Cohen, executive vice-president of Michigan Used Car Dealers' Association, predicted an immediate jump in used car prices.

"But the skyrocketing won't last more than a week, after that prices will come down very rapidly, leveling

CEMENT BLOCK MEN IN MEETING

Assemble To Formulate Plans For Association Of Manufacturers

At a dinner served in Room B at the Frances Hotel Friday evening at 7 p. m., the first meeting of the Manufacturers of concrete masonry units of the Twin Cities was held to form an association and formulate plans to acquaint the public through an extensive advertising campaign of the advantages of construction with concrete building blocks.

It was pointed out at the meeting that construction of not only commercial building blocks throughout the country, especially is this true in Florida where Dr. T. A. Brulte of Monroe, who arranged the meeting, spent two weeks this past summer visiting various plants and block machinery manufacturers. He stated approximately 90 per cent of all construction in the areas visited was being done with concrete masonry, the trend extending throughout Alabama, Georgia, and Mississippi as evidenced by Dr. Brulte's observation on the trip.

Concrete building blocks are made with various aggregates mixed with cement vibrated or tamped in a machine and then cured for a period of several days at which time they are then tested by a testing laboratory for compressive strength, absorption percentage, an absorption pounds per cubic foot to meet the requirements of the standards as specified by the "American Society for Testing Materials" (A. S. T. M.). The blocks complying with these specifications are then ready to be placed in the walls and partitions of a building. This work being done by a concrete mason.

Those attending the meeting were Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Brulte, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Day, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Ritchie, H. A. Everritt, R. H Gaddy, Mrs. Mary Lee, Miss Bernice McCoy, C. A. O'Gee, and Tom E. Stanley, G. P. Walker, R. H. Gaddy was elected president of the newly formed association and he set Wednesday night, November 13, as the next meeting date.

NEGRO REPORTS HOLDUP

Morehouse Parish To Hold Special Meeting Monday

BASTROP, La., Nov. 9.—(Special)—According to Mrs. Mildred N. Moore, a long-felt educational need will soon be filled in Morehouse parish as on Monday, November 11, at 4 p.m. the classroom teachers of Morehouse will meet in the Bastrop High School for the purpose of organizing a Morehouse Parish Department of Classroom Teachers.

She stated this week that Morehouse teachers are fortunate in having with them for this organization meeting Miss Mary Titus of Huntington, W. Va. She is president of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Association of the United States.

In explaining an organization of this sort Mrs. Moore said:

"According to the National Classroom Teachers, "The term classroom teacher shall mean any person devoting the majority of his time to classroom teaching or allied work considered as teaching in the local salary schedule provided such person shall have no power of rating other teachers in service.'"

In 1912 the classroom teachers petitioned the N. E. A. for a department. This request was granted in 1913, and the first meeting was held in 1914, but it was not until 1922 that a constitution and bylaws was adopted. Today with over 200,000 classroom teachers members of the National Education Association, the Department of Classroom Teachers has become a power in the national orgmiaztion.

A few of the reasons for organizing are as follows:

(1) To furnish the classroom teachers a workshop in which to make plans and devise methods of implementing their responsibilities to improve the educational services to the child and to adults.

(2) To give classroom teachers an organization in which to study their own problems.

(3) To give classroom teachers a chance to contribute to the benefits of their experience and training to one another, and to help form the policies that govern their school system.

(4) To improve classroom procedures.

(5) To build solidarity among the members of the profession.

(6) To improve the professional, economic, social and civic status of the teacher.

(7) To afford a means for official expression of classroom teacher opinions.

(8) To stimulate teachers to inform themselves on economic, social and political problems so they may prepare pupils for the realities of living in a democracy.

Morehouse teachers will be interested to learn that the principal speaker at their organization meeting, Miss Titus, finished her preparatory education in the public schools of Huntington, W. Va., after which she attended Ward-Belmont in Nashville, Tenn.; received her A. B. degree from Marshall College, Huntington, and her A. M. degree from Columbia University.

WANT THROWING OF EGGS, CHAIRS ENDED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Emanuel Levin and James Jackson, Communist party leaders here, issued a statement today urging the city to prosecute "all perpetrators of violence against public meetings of minority parties."

The statement was issued "in the interest of a peaceful community," Levin and Jackson said.

Six men are being held by city police in connection with an egg and furniture throwing bee which broke up a Communist meeting at New Orleans Thursday night. Jackson was speaker at the meeting and said afterward that a group of uninvited persons threw eggs and chairs at him during his speech.

The six men in custody are charged with "inciting to riot," violation of a state act. More than 100 men were arrested by police, but most of them were released after paying a $2.50 fine for disturbing the peace.

Levin and Jackson said in their statement:

"The extra-legal attack on the Communist meeting was not aimed solely or primarily against the Communist party, but has more far-reaching significance."

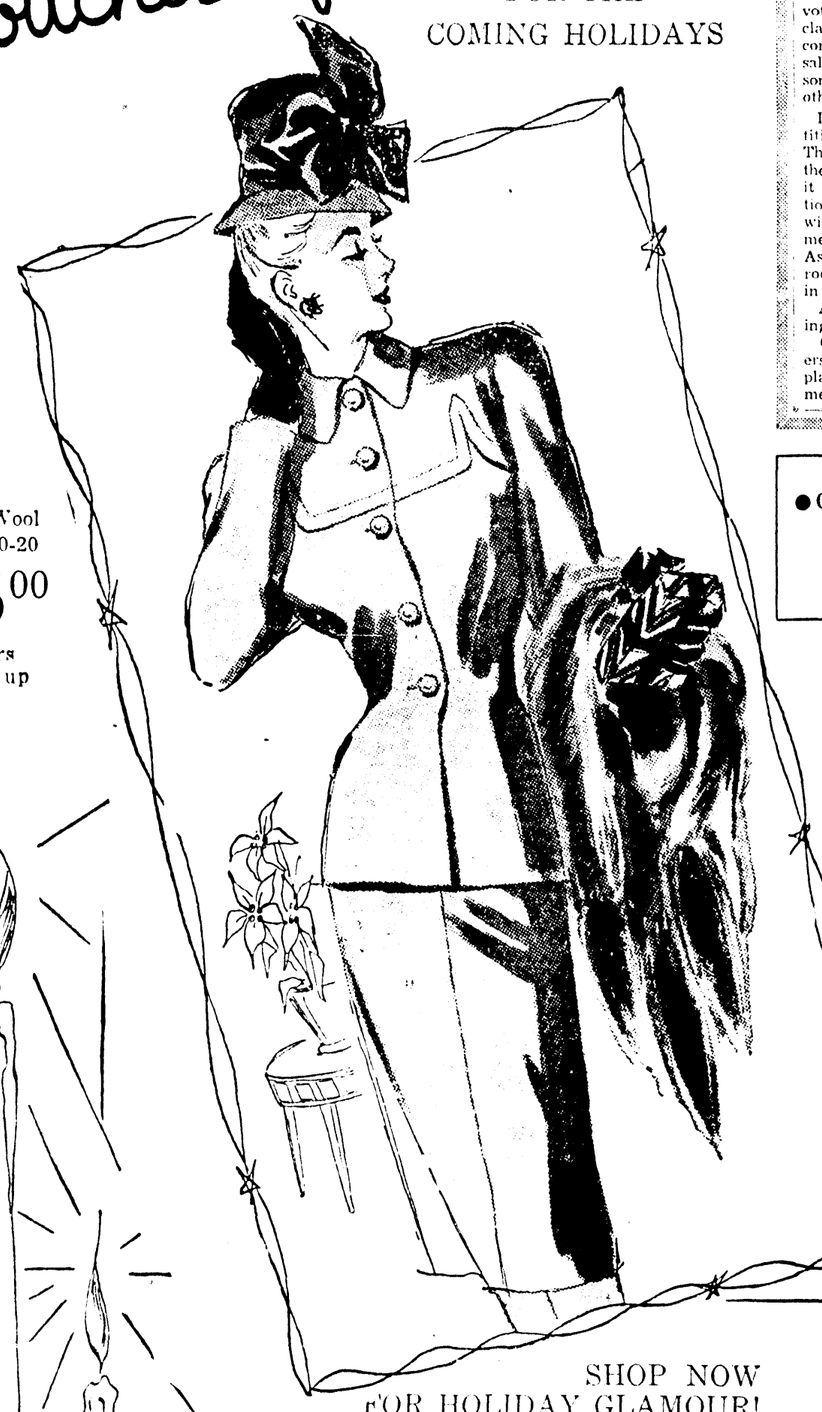

The "Red issue" is being used as a smoke screen for an attack whose most immediate objective is to further the anti-union drive of big business, in which there is increasing suspicion that certain police and other public officials are implicated. Its aims are to prevent the trade unions, the organized working men and women, white and Negro, of this city to unite against the sky-rocketing of prices and to demand higher wages to meet the rising cost of living."

CEMENT BLOCK MEN IN MEETING

Assemble To Formulate Plans For Association Of Manufacturers

At a dinner served in Room B at the Frances Hotel Friday evening at 7 p. m., the first meeting of the Manufacturers of concrete masonry units of the Twin Cities was held to form an association and formulate plans to acquaint the public through an extensive advertising campaign of the advantages of construction with concrete building blocks.

It was pointed out at the meeting that construction of not only commercial building blocks throughout the country, especially is this true in Florida where Dr. T. A. Brulte of Monroe, who arranged the meeting, spent two weeks this past summer visiting various plants and block machinery manufacturers. He stated approximately 90 per cent of all construction in the areas visited was being done with concrete masonry, the trend extending throughout Alabama, Georgia, and Mississippi as evidenced by Dr. Brulte's observation on the trip.

Concrete building blocks are made with various aggregates mixed with cement vibrated or tamped in a machine and then cured for a period of several days at which time they are then tested by a testing laboratory for compressive strength, absorption percentage, an absorption pounds per cubic foot to meet the requirements of the standards as specified by the "American Society for Testing Materials" (A. S. T. M.). The blocks complying with these specifications are then ready to be placed in the walls and partitions of a building. This work being done by a concrete mason.

Those attending the meeting were Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Brulte, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Day, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Ritchie, H. A. Everritt, R. H Gaddy, Mrs. Mary Lee, Miss Bernice McCoy, C. A. O'Gee, and Tom E. Stanley, G. P. Walker, R. H. Gaddy was elected president of the newly formed association and he set Wednesday night, November 13, as the next meeting date.

Morehouse Parish To Hold Special Meeting Monday

BASTROP, La., Nov. 9.—(Special)—According to Mrs. Mildred N. Moore, a long-felt educational need will soon be filled in Morehouse parish as on Monday, November 11, at 4 p.m. the classroom teachers of Morehouse will meet in the Bastrop High School for the purpose of organizing a Morehouse Parish Department of Classroom Teachers.

She stated this week that Morehouse teachers are fortunate in having with them for this organization meeting Miss Mary Titus of Huntington, W. Va. She is president of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Association of the United States.

In explaining an organization of this sort Mrs. Moore said:

"According to the National Classroom Teachers, "The term classroom teacher shall mean any person devoting the majority of his time to classroom teaching or allied work considered as teaching in the local salary schedule provided such person shall have no power of rating other teachers in service.'"

In 1912 the classroom teachers petitioned the N. E. A. for a department. This request was granted in 1913, and the first meeting was held in 1914, but it was not until 1922 that a constitution and bylaws was adopted. Today with over 200,000 classroom teachers members of the National Education Association, the Department of Classroom Teachers has become a power in the national orgamiaztion.

A few of the reasons for organizing are as follows:

(1) To furnish the classroom teachers a workshop in which to make plans and devise methods of implementing their responsibilities to improve the educational services to the child and to adults.

(2) To give classroom teachers an organization in which to study their own problems.

(3) To give classroom teachers a chance to contribute to the benefits of their experience and training to one another, and to help form the policies that govern their school system.

(4) To improve classroom procedures.

(5) To build solidarity among the members of the profession.

(6) To improve the professional, economic, social and civic status of the teacher.

(7) To afford a means for official expression of classroom teacher opinions.

(8) To stimulate teachers to inform themselves on economic, social and political problems so they may prepare pupils for the realities of living in a democracy.

Morehouse teachers will be interested to learn that the principal speaker at their organization meeting, Miss Titus, finished her preparatory education in the public schools of Huntington, W. Va., after which she attended Ward-Belmont in Nashville, Tenn.; received her A. B. degree from Marshall College, Huntington, and her A. M. degree from Columbia University.

WANT THROWING OF EGGS, CHAIRS ENDED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Emanuel Levin and James Jackson, Communist party leaders here, issued a statement today urging the city to prosecute "all perpetrators of violence against public meetings of minority parties."

The statement was issued "in the interest of a peaceful community," Levin and Jackson said.

Six men are being held by city police in connection with an egg and furniture throwing bee which broke up a Communist meeting at New Orleans Thursday night. Jackson was speaker at the meeting and said afterward that a group of uninvited persons threw eggs and chairs at him during his speech.

The six men in custody are charged with "inciting to riot," violation of a state act. More than 100 men were arrested by police, but most of them were released after paying a $2.50 fine for disturbing the peace.

Levin and Jackson said in their statement:

"The extra-legal attack on the Communist meeting was not aimed solely or primarily against the Communist party, but has more far-reaching significance."

The "Red issue" is being used as a smoke screen for an attack whose most immediate objective is to further the anti-union drive of big business, in which there is increasing suspicion that certain police and other public officials are implicated. Its aims are to prevent the trade unions, the organized working men and women, white and Negro, of this city to unite against the sky-rocketing of prices and to demand higher wages to meet the rising cost of living."

HOBBS POST TO DONATE BLOOD

Local V. F. W. Will Sponsor Project To Aid Sufferers

The Rodney J. Hobbs Post No. 1,809, Veterans of Foreign Wars, is starting a blood bank record for the benefit of the community. The record will be turned over to the Ouachita Blood Bank, whereby there will be asked the donation of a pint of blood. All V. F. W. members are urged to fill out cards for the benefit of the blood bank committee and mail to the Rodney J. Hobbs Post, Monroe, as a successful drive is desired.

On the card to be submitted should be name and address, age, blood type color and sex.

The donation of blood is not confined to the V. F. W., as all citizens are asked to lend cooperation. The appeal is made to the V. F. W. because it is an organization of overseas veterans who have seen the use of blood plasma on the combat front, where many lives were saved after being wounded by the enemy.

The clinic will be held in the old postoffice building. The blood bank will be replenished from the backlog of registrants as fast as the blood is depleted.

One can register by calling the Red Cross at 6,780 Friday or any time thereafter.

LEVEE BOARD TO CONVENE TUESDAY

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A special meeting of the Orleans levee board will be held here Tuesday to consider a proposal by the army that a permanent multi-million-dollar post be established here.

The army is seeking the establishment of a permanent post on Lake Pontchartrain to serve as administrative headquarters and a staging area for the port of embarkation.

Colonel Roland P. Shugg, commanding officer of the port, said the first step toward realization of the proposal would be obtaining a 99-year lease from the levee board.

He said the proposed installation would be on the site now occupied by the transportation corps here and would consist of "beautiful permanent buildings which certainly would add to the appearance of the locale."

WATCH, GUN STOLEN

L. Eldridge, 412 North Eighth Street, reported to police Friday that a watch, valued at $37.50 and a single-barrel shotgun with his name carved on its stock had been stolen from his home.

MAIL BOXES ARE NEEDED IN RANSOM

The post office department has authorized the establishment of city delivery service in Ransom addition, West Monroe, by mounted carrier, twice daily. Rural type boxes must be erected at the curb in a position easily accessible to the carrier from his car.

Since regulation type boxes are not available at this time, the post office department has granted permission to provide a suitable box substantial and neat in appearance to use as a mail receptacle until regulation type boxes are available.

Acting Postmaster Leon M. Fife urges that the persons concerned see that boxes are erected so that mail may be delivered at the earliest possible time.

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—(AP)—The Republicans have the plum. They control Congress. Both branches: Senate and House. But—

Because they control Congress There's going to be a Republican scramble. Who gets on what committee?

Being on a good committee is a real prize for a congressman. The committees are the bloodstream of Congress.

They prepare legislation for the whole Congress to vote upon, they have hearings, question witnesses, make investigations.

When a congressman is appointed to a committee, he generally hangs on. He starts at the bottom.

He gets to the top—to the chairmanship—if he lives long enough and is re-elected enough, when all those ahead of him die or quit.

Sometimes it's quite a wait.

But the 80th Congress—the new, Republican-controlled Congress which starts January 3—will have far fewer committees than the 79th.

Each committee is made up of Democrats and Republicans and, sometime an independent.

But the party with a majority of members in either house controls the committees in that house.

Ever since the Democrats went into power with President Roosevelt in 1933 they've had a majority in both houses.

So since then all the committee chairmen have been Democrats and Democrats have held a majority on every committee.

The oldest Republican on each committee—that is, the oldest in service on each committee—has been called the ranking minority member.

Now in the new 80th Congress the Republicans will have a majority in House and Senate. So they'll control the committees in both houses.

They'll appoint Republicans as committee chairmen. And they'll put enough Republicans on each committee to have a majority on each.

(The Republicans who have been ranking minority members will become chairmen and the present Democratic chairmen will step down to the position of ranking minority member since Democrats will be in the minority.)

But—

The 79th—the present Democratic-controlled Congress which went home last summer—reorganized Congress before it quit.

It voted a number of changes to bring Congress up to date. Republicans helped vote the changes.

But the changes the 79th voted were to take place only when the 80th started.

Among other things, the old 79th Congress reduced the number of Senate committees from 33 to 15 and the House committees from 48 to 19.

So at one crack a whole bunch of committees and committee chairmanships were wiped out—to take effect when the 80th Congress starts.

lot of Republicans who have been faithfully hanging around as ranking minority members on committees—hoping to be chairmen some day when the Republicans controlled Congress—will return to find their committees—and all hope of a chairmanship gone.

And just as bad—for many Republicans who yearned to get on some of the best committees—the membership of those committees has been reduced.

For example: The very choice foreign relations committee of the Senate has been reduced from 22 members to 13.

So the question of what Republican gets on what committee is going to be very important, and very troublesome.

If some of the Republicans get peeved about it—and get enough Democrats to help them—they could vote to put committees back just as they were before the 79th Congress whittled them down.

No Time For Cheers Or Tears

We may all hope that the feelings of elation and bitterness aroused by the national election results will be temperate and brief. For there is a job to be done that leaves little time for celebration or sulking. It is a job that requires a united effort which has been lacking in the past year, and which can be even more difficult of attainment in the next two years unless there is a great deal of responsible statesmanship shown on both sides.

In gaining control of the Congress, the Republicans have obviously won a large measure of responsibility along with their victory. The time has now come for G. O. P. legislators to abandon opposition for opposition's sake and put aside generalities. They must justify the faith of their electors with a sensible, specific program calculated to bring about the change and betterment which the election results clearly demand.

The Democrats must bow to the will of the majority, which had kept them in control of Congress for 14 years. The era of Franklin D. Roosevelt, which brought the party unprecedented power and prestige, is at an end. The strong personality that held an assortment of mutually hostile political groups together under one leadership is gone. The party undoubtedly must regroup its ranks and assume, at least partially, the role of a responsible minority.

With a Democratic president and a Republican Congress there will be an even greater temptation than before to play a furious game of partisan politics with an eye on 1948. It is discouragingly easy to foresee what might happen—a running battle of vetoes and overriding votes between the White House and the 80th Congress.

Nothing, of course, could be less desirable. A division of partisan control in the government's legislative and executive branches is an intrinsically uneasy and unproductive arrangement. It will require the greatest responsibility and forebearance by all concerned if the country is to recover from the state of confusion and contradiction in which it went to the polls on Tuesday.

Our economic and industrial machine must be put in order, set on the track and started forward. Recurrent strikes and chronic dissension must be halted somehow. Government can't do the whole job, but at least it can show the way.

All the material necessities for progress and prosperity are at hand. What is lacking is the will to get together and use them. In the past year the bitter strife between management and labor has been reflected in government, and government quarrels have drifted down to widen further the breach between management and labor.

This cannot go on much longer. Democratic politicians and Republican politicians, company bosses and union bosses have got to realize that the protest vote of November 5 was a protest vote against the paralyzing contention for which they all must accept a share of blame.

Mr. Truman and the 80th Congress face a difficult and discouraging task. They must contrive to attack it with the same bipartisan strength that is now being devoted to the equally difficult and discouraging task of foreign relations. To accomplish this will take all the good sense and political conscience that God has given them.

NOVEMBER

November is the afterglow of the year, reluctant to bid farewell to summer, yet possessing many of the attributes of winter. In the midst of dying vegetation, when the leaves and grasses are sere and crisp, the sun often shines as brightly and warmly as in spring.

The moods of November are almost as variable as those of April. One day there is a balmy sweetness in the air, fragrant only of dead leaves and woods that have withered, but fragrant nevertheless. Another day may bring snowflakes driven by a turbulent wind that chills and kills the last surviving plants and flowers.

In November man senses a promise of immortality. While most forms of vegetables, floral and insect life have passed from the scene, the observing eye detects that in each instance preparation has been made for renewed life, to become manifest in the first peep of spring.

A glance at a tree that has thrust off its leaves reveals tiny buds already forming. Moths, butterflies and crickets depart only after they have deposited eggs and cocoons for reproduction.

Soft haze and yellow light, a peculiar ghostly effect with a tinge of sadness, are characteristic of November. Then come short days with brief twilights often suffused with radiant sunsets whose beauty is transcendent in a setting of leafless branches against dark gray hilltops.

A beneficent calm descends upon the land in November after the fields surrender their harvests, culminating in the festival of Thanksgiving like a benediction when among men there is a sustained conviction that nature has done her best.

WASTEFUL DELUSION

A great deal of work is being done on the Missouri River to increase its "navigability." To this all taxpayers contribute, although it may cost many of them money through disadvantageous freight rates. When a city is presumed to be on a "navigable" stream, the cheap water rate influences rail freight rates, placing "non-navigable" competing areas on a disproportionate basis.

A barge has struggled up the precarious Missouri from St. Louis to Omaha, carrying consumer goods upstream and going back down with grain. This is hailed as a test trip, "possibly" to be followed by a regular schedule. If a regular schedule is ever maintained on the Missouri, it will amaze people who have followed the ups and downs of that stream for decades. When there is talk of making a snaggy, sandbar filled stream navigable at great cost to all the taxpayers, something else is afoot.

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9.—Ezio Pinza, one of the few opera stars to win a triple-A rating from the bobby-soxers, has been screen ticketed by 20th Century-Fox. . . . Altar bound: Mary Hatcher, Paramount starlet and stage-actor James Alexander. . . . The New York Frame and Picture Company, which furnishes star photos for the dime store trade, reports that the actress in greatest favor this fall is Olivia de Havilland. Ingrid Bergman is in the No. 2 spot. . . . Wotzis about the American Social Hygiene Association publishing a book concerning the "facts of life," authored by Jinx Falkenburg?

Expect Martha Raye and Nick Condos (1) to formally announce a reconciliation and (2) confirm reports that they're on Dock Stork's list for late spring. . . . Howard Hughes is plotting a round-the-world yachting cruise, accompanied by a party of movie notables. . . . Good news: Susan Peters, whose condition is improving phenomenally, has signed contracts for an early spring p. a. tour. . . . Time out for Victor Moore, bedded by a serious bronchial infection.

I hear that Columbia will star Irene Dunne in a story about the fight against cancer. . . . Frank Sinatra, in collaboration with one of Hollywood's top songsmiths, is working on a series of tunes for moppets . . . Despite the lady's denials, Hollywood insiders will give odds that Marie McDonald will announce her engagement to Harry Karl, the shoe store tycoon, as soon as she divorces Vic Orsatti. . . . Eleanor (Mrs. Glen Ford) Powell plans a comeback try in January, when her son will be two years old and less dependent on her care.

BEST PERFORMANCE: Steven Geray in "So Dark The Night."

News that Clark Gable, who recently "confided" to pals that he planned to retire after completing "The Hucksters," has signed a new MGM contract, giving him every concession he's ever wanted, is not surprising to anyone who has watched his screen career. Gable's been threatening to retire for years—and permitting his plans for a life of leisure to be postponed whenever the studio bosses have come through with exactly what he's wanted. Other stars who have tried the same tactic have failed, as a general rule, to make it pay such dividends, and for an excellent reason. They're not sincere in their threats. Gable is, and his producers know it. Should his demands be refused, he would quit and do it without nursing any regrets.

Since its first publication, some twelve years ago, one of my favorite books of American humor has been "For Authors Only," by Kenneth Roberts. In the future, I'm going to read one of the essays contained therein with even more chuckles than I have in the past. In that particular essay, Roberts, whose first novel, "Arundel," had been published about a year before, gloomily reports his meager returns and proves, to his own satisfaction at least, that writing books doesn't pay financial dividends. Why is it more amusing now than before? Well, one day last week Hollywood trade papers stated that Roberts is currently "considering" an offer of $200,000 for screen rights to his latest tome, "Lydia Bailey," which hasn't yet hit the newsstand!

According to a Hollywood columnist who specializes in romantic news, Artie Shaw and Kathleen Windsor, whose marriage-in-Mexico has been ruled illegal by California authorities, are going to live under separate roofs until their tangled marital affairs are straightened out. It seems to me that that plan, by process of elimination, makes their marriage a bit more likely to succeed. Shaw has already tried living under the same roof with five different wives—and failed on each attempt!

From Mexico comes news that Orson Welles, who's making a picture in those parts, has been severely poisoned by some mysterious nettle that grows in the jungles—poisoned so severely that his face swelled to thrice its normal size. I can't understand an allergy so sudden. Welles has been nettled about one thing or another for so many years that he should be immune by now.

Pitching Horseshoes
By Billy Rose

Billy Rose

One of these days I'm going to catch up on my Shakespeare. I've seen many of his plays, but I haven't read him since P. S. 44. The only playwright whose work I really know is the talented Hungarian, Ferenc Molnar. I've been reading him since I graduated from Nick Carter and the Liberty Boys of '76. A deep thinker recently chided me for liking Molnar's gay comedies. "No social significance," he complained. My rebuttal was simple—"Drop dead."

I first met Molnar in Budapest in 1934. One evening I was walking along the Dirty Brown Danube with a music publisher. As we passed one of the sidewalk cafes he pointed to an aristocratic old boy blowing on his coffee. "That's Molnar," he said, as if he were showing me the Acropolis in Athens. Like a funny-paper American touris I walked righ up to him and boomed, "Good evening. How are you, Mr. Molnar?"

The dramatist put down his coffee, screwed a monocle into his pink face, and said, "I am not a cocotte to be spoken to on the street."

I stammered, "I am a great admirer of your plays. I know them well."

"You mean the successes?" he sneered. "Liliom. The Guardsman—"

"Yes—and the failures too," I said. "Riviera, Olympia, The Miracle in the Mountains."

I guess I must have said the right thing. Every playwright has his favorite fizzles, plays he liked even though the public didn't.

"Sit down," he smiled. "Have a cup of coffee."

We talked until dawn outlined the Royal Palace on the far side of the river. When we said goodbye, I knew I had been listening to one of the world's great conversationalists. I think he tells a story better than any of the word-merchants I've been privileged to listen to—Ben Hecht, Gene Fowler, George M. Cohan, Ludwig Bemmelmans.

We next met up in New York. He had skipped out of Budapest two jumps ahead of the Brownshirts. Eleanor and I threw a little dinner party for him one night. I'm still embarrassed when I recall that the main course was goulash—it was like serving a scoop of vanilla to a retired soda jerk. After the coffee and brandy, he told us some stories about Rothschild, the banker, and the beggers of Europe who were always plotting to nick him for a hand-out.

I like the one about the beggar who came to Rothschild's house and actually got in to see him. The financier referred him to his secretary, who turned him over to the butler, who sent him down to see the porter, who directed him to the gatekeeper, who promptly booted him in the pants and sent him sprawling out on the sidewalk.

"Did you get anything?" asked another beggar, who happened to be passing.

"Not exactly," said the one in the gutter, "but the organization in that establishment is simply magnificent!"

Another beggar was luckier. His hard luck story got him ten marks from Rothschild. When he bragged about this, a comrade-in-alms said, "Bah! I would have gotten fifty."

"No you wouldn't," said the first. "I don't think the House of Rothschild is doing so well these days. When I went by the living room, I saw the Baron's two daughters playing together on one piano."

Then there's the story of the beggar who sad-talked Rothschild out of a few coins. An hour later the Baron saw the beggar eating caviar in a fine restaurant. "You ought to be ashamed of yourself," said Rothschild indignantly. "You beg, and then squander your money on caviar."

The beggar was even more indignant. "When I don't have money, I can't eat caviar. When I do have money, I mustn't eat caviar. Tell me then, when do I eat caviar?"

A couple of sloppy and smelly panhandlers were talking in front of the Baron's house. "Let me go in," said the older rag-bag. "I have more experience in dealing with the rich."

He turned the handle of the door and it slowly swung open. He saw no one inside and started walking up the grand staircase. Suddenly Rothschild himself appeared at the head of the stairs. The bum was petrified with fright. Rothschild got one whiff of him, then reached for his nostrils with one hand and for his pocket with the other. Throwing him a gold crown, he choked, "Take this. Only get out of here!" The beggar picked up the coin and ran. Outside, he proudly displayed the money to his bug-eyed friend. "You see," he said grandly. "You have to know how to talk to these people."

I have room for only one more—the one about Rothschild's funeral. A beggar crashed the funeral procession and started to cry louder than anybody else. One of the family came up to him and said, "Why do you weep so? The Baron was no relative of yours."

"That's why," said the beggar.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sunday School Lesson for Nov. 17
Scripture: Acts 17:1-7; I Thessalonians 1:2-8
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The 17th chapter of Acts tells of Paul's visit to Thessalonica and of the founding of the church there. But the two epistles that Paul wrote, I and II Thessalonians, are necessary to complete the story.

Taken together, the account in the Acts and the two epistles throw a great deal of light upon the nature and method of Paul's ministry, as well as upon the conditions under which the churches that Paul began were founded, the character of their membership, and their duration and problems.

Danger and difficulty beset Paul everywhere that he began to preach and teach. Jews were roused to opposition when he taught that Jesus was the fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy, and this opposition became persecution.

Paul's enemies tried to get him into trouble with the Roman authorities by accusing him of saying that there was a non-Roman king, one Jesus. These enemies were so successful that Paul and Silas had to escape for the time being, and Jason, their host, had to give security to the authorities.

But Paul and Silas must have returned, for in the epistles Paul commends the Thessalonians for what they have done to make Christ known in all the region. Apparently, the city had been made a center from which to carry on missionary activity.

The membership in the church at Thessalonica seems to have consisted chiefly of Greeks, and women (Acts 17:4), and the same was true of the neighboring church at Berea, though men there are specifically mentioned (Acts 17:12). Some Jews also joined the Christian group, but the preponderance of Gentiles may account for some strange problems that arose in the church.

In the new company of Christians were evidently some idlers and loafers, possibly drawn to the Christians by the teaching that one should share with and help his neighbor. These idlers sought to impose upon their more sincere and faithful brethren.

Paul's urging in his First Epistle that everyone should be quietly faithful in business, working with his own hands, was evidently not enough for in his Second Epistle he plainly says that he who won't work shan't eat. Perhaps it is for this reason that Paul stresses the fact that he supported himself while there (I Thessalonians 2:9).

Just how he managed to support himself while carrying on his travels and spiritual ministry is not clear, but Paul was a superman. He evidently counted his self-support a matter of privilege and pride, for Paul believed in a settled ministry (I Thessalonians 5:12-13), and here and elsewhere he asserted the principle that the laborer is worthy of his hire.

OUR CHILDREN

YOUNG PARENTS

People should have their children while they are still young enough to grow up with them happily. I am not saying that sixteen is an ideal age for motherhood, but certainly forty-five is a bit late.

Children are a trial and a discipline for their parents. They demand care at all times of the day and night. Sleep is broken, rest time is interrupted, work is stopped because they need immediate care. Such interruptions are a strain on the nervous system and a drain on strength, a trial to tempers. Young people can stand this much better than older people.

Parents should be able to enjoy their children. That means they must have the ability to adjust themselves to the demands of childhood. They can laugh, they can enjoy fun and frolic, they can enjoy listening to children's talk and not call it foolishness. This attitude is essential to the healthy family life that endows children with trained intelligence and the ability to adjust themselves to life easily. Older people can not stand the wear and tear that children give their minds and bodies.

People who want to adopt children should consider this fact. They should ask themselves how old they will be when the child is between the ages of thirteen and twenty. How will they feel about a lot of noise, some confusion about the house, the coming and going of teen-age children, the rearing of a girl, the upbringing of a healthy boy?

Children have certain rights that we must respect, and the chance to grow up in sound health of body and mind is of the utmost importance. Parents have rights, too, and they must be respected or the home becomes a madhouse. The age of parents is something to be considered thoughtfully.

The mother whose children have married and left home is lonely, but she should give more than a second thought to the situation before adopting a child in her old age.

The newly married young woman should have her children as soon as conditions allow. Usually, the newly wed couple need some time to adjust themselves to living together, to settle down into the scheme of life they have set, before having the first baby. But waiting too long is not too wise. Age does not wait, and youthful maturity is the time to have children, not set maturity.

And let us hope that there will not be an only child in the house. They do better when they have brothers and sisters.

People often smile at an infant's play, but it is no trifling matter. Angelo Patri calls it "Fundamental to a child's growth" in his leaflet, "Infant's Play," P-16.

ENSIGN CONVICTED OF FLYING TOO LOW

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Found guilty of unauthorized low flying over his home town, Ensign Peter S. Anderson, U. S. N. R., of Leesville, La., has been recommended for discontinuance from the naval service, the New Orleans naval air station announced today.

The decision was made by a board of investigation at Glenview, Illinois, headquarters of the naval air reserve training command.

"The navy is continuing its efforts to stamp out illegal low flying by its pilots over civilian areas," said Rear Admiral E. C. Ewen, chief of air reserve training.

Ensign Anderson, member of an organized air reserve unit training on week-ends at the New Orleans air station, is a student at Louisiana State University and a veteran of naval service.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Any appraisal of the political campaign just closed must take into consideration the number of administration moves that had the effect of trying to stave off defeat.

Abandoning meat price controls, to please everybody, suspending draft quotas till after January 1, ditto, opening contract negotiations with John L. Lewis, for whatever good it might do in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Also clamping rent controls on more areas, to keep happy a total of 16 million tenants in 650 areas, removing OPA regulations on cotton textile mill operations to please the south, speeding up the removal of price controls of all kinds, lifting all price controls on shoes, hides and leather to please the shoe manufacturing areas.

The last-mentioned is as good an example as any of the way this thing worked. Reduction of livestock slaughtering in the meat shortage had reduced the supply of hides. Shoe production was thereby cut down. Workers were actually laid off in the shoe towns of New England, New York, Ohio and the St. Louis area from Nashville to Oklahoma.

In all these areas Democratic candidates were having their troubles. Democratic Senator Dave Walsh was being pushed hard by young Henry Cabot Lodge in Massachusetts. Senator Mead and Governor Lehman were having difficulties with Dewey and Ives. Even Democratic Governor Lausche was in danger in Ohio. And the great state of Truman and Hannegan was in the doubtful column.

The pressure was on the White House to get controls off leather and put the shoemakers back to work. The American Shoe Fair met in Chicago, Monday through Wednesday, October 28-30. At luncheon meetings they heard N. A. M. spokesmen and Senator Kenneth Wherry kick OPA all over the lot. But William A. Molster, head of OPA's shoe division, was there and the shoe trade press thought that meant no decontrol was in sight.

That's all they knew about it. That's all Molster knew about it. In Washington the week before, Reconversion Director John R. Steelman had met representatives of the Tanners' Council and the National Shoe Manufacturers' Association. Steelman made the decision to take off the controls. He did it Wednesday, the day the Shoe Fair closed. Molster learned about it when he got back to Washington Thursday.

Because OPA Director Paul Porter had only a short time before made a strong statement against taking controls off shoes, he had to be taken off the hook. So Steelman had to give him a directive and let the White House take the responsibility.

Just how much political good this shoe business, the meat, cotton and other decontrol actions did the Democrats is open to question. Probably not much. Officials of the White House staff in the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, which issued the directives for most of this decontrolling, insist with a straight face that none of these actions had anything to do with politics. Their story is that these things took place before election only by coincidence.

They say further that if these actions had been politically inspired, they might not have the effect of raising prices temporarily. If the Democratic administration had been angling for votes, it would have hung onto controls as long as possible in an effort to keep prices down.

Democratic Chairman Hannegan was said to fear that the high prices resulting from meat decontrol would cost the party many votes. Certainly, actions of the administration in the past month have not been in accord with the hold-the-line policy mapped out solidly last January.

Prices have risen 20 per cent since the old OPA bill died last June 30. Only 60 per cent of the economy has been decontrolled up to election. As controls are taken off the other 40 per cent, a further 10 to 15 per cent increase in the cost of living may be expected.

The real cause of this situation, say the office of reconversion people, is that the present price control law is unworkable, as the president said it would be. And pressure from every side caused the administration to give ground.

If that's the way it is, credit must be given to the industry people and the Republicans, which may be one and the same thing, for forcing the administration's hand. It was smart politics. Whether it was good politics remains to be seen.

New York Day By Day
By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

CHICAGO—Some of the wonders of the diesel locomotive were apparent to me in my inspection of the big General Motors plant, before I went flooie with the flu. I didn't get to ride in the cab of the first specimen of the new model, which is called F3, but I followed it through assembly lines, and, according to my estimates, which were becoming blurred by fever, three states, two townships, and three hells.

Volney Fowler, who was a newspaperman once himself, explained everything, answered all my questions, and it turned out that this little automotive vehicle costs the customer one-half million dollars, more or less, with plenty of fuel oil thrown in to move the vehicle to the buyer's premises.

The difference between a diesel locomotive and a 1946 automobile is that the diesel has no spark plug. Instead of a spark to set off the explosion that drives the car, the diesel engine explodes its fuel by compression. Compress anything too much, and it will burn or explode.

The diesel ordinarily burns a high grade of household heating oil, which is much cheaper than gasoline. But diesel-powered tanks during the war operated on gasoline, peanut oil, and various other fluids, as well as on fuel oil.

But don't be expecting diesel-powered runabouts or pleasure cars during the predictable future, if there is any such thing in these times.

Such things as diesel-powered cars of standard make do exist, but only for experimental purposes. The weight of the engine is considerably more than that of a gasoline engine, and the noise is greater. First cost would be higher than the public would bear, and it would take about ten years of driving to write off that extra cost, so that you could start making money out of the cheap fuel and greater mileage.

BURGLAR GETS CLOTHING

Two suits of clothing, a gray field jacket, a hat and two shirts were taken in the burglarizing of her home at 1010 Breard Street Friday night, Mrs. Irene Bouie reported to police Saturday morning. She said entrance had been gained by unlocking the front door.

BUS DRIVER HELD ON BREAKING COUNT

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Sheriff Earl Morris of Natchitoches parish, said today that E. C. Calhoun, about 35, bus driver who brought a college football team here from Hattiesburg, Miss., Thursday afternoon, had been arrested and charged with breaking and entering in the night time.

Morris said that Calhoun was turned over to him by the city police today, in connection with the alleged theft of $12.45 from a filling station and the breaking of a jewelry store window here.

Calhoun is confined in the parish jail here.

Keep the window open slightly while the gas or kerosene heater is in use.

The Monroe Morning World is an independent newspaper. It prints the news impartially. It supports what it believes to be right. It opposes what it believes to be wrong, without regard to party politics.

No Time For Cheers Or Tears

We may all hope that the feelings of elation and bitterness aroused by the national election results will be temperate and brief. For there is a job to be done that leaves little time for celebration or sulking. It is a job that requires a united effort which has been lacking in the past year, and which can be even more difficult of attainment in the next two years unless there is a great deal of responsible statesmanship shown on both sides.

In gaining control of the Congress, the Republicans have obviously won a large measure of responsibility along with their victory. The time has now come for G. O. P. legislators to abandon opposition for opposition's sake and put aside generalities. They must justify the faith of their electors with a sensible, specific program calculated to bring about the change and betterment which the election results clearly demand.

The Democrats must bow to the will of the majority, which had kept them in control of Congress for 14 years. The era of Franklin D. Roosevelt, which brought the party unprecedented power and prestige, is at an end. The strong personality that held an assortment of mutually hostile political groups together under one leadership is gone. The party undoubtedly must regroup its ranks and assume, at least partially, the role of a responsible minority.

With a Democratic president and a Republican Congress there will be an even greater temptation than before to play a furious game of partisan politics with an eye on 1948. It is discouragingly easy to foresee what might happen—a running battle of vetoes and overriding votes between the White House and the 80th Congress.

Nothing, of course, could be less desirable. A division of partisan control in the government's legislative and executive branches is an intrinsically uneasy and unproductive arrangement. It will require the greatest responsibility and forebearance by all concerned if the country is to recover from the state of confusion and contradiction in which it went to the polls on Tuesday.

Our economic and industrial machine must be put in order, set on the track and started forward. Recurrent strikes and chronic dissension must be halted somehow. Government can't do the whole job, but at least it can show the way.

All the material necessities for progress and prosperity are at hand. What is lacking is the will to get together and use them. In the past year the bitter strife between management and labor has been reflected in government, and government quarrels have drifted down to widen further the breach between management and labor.

This cannot go on much longer. Democratic politicians and Republican politicians, company bosses and union bosses have got to realize that the protest vote of November 5 was a protest vote against the paralyzing contention for which they all must accept a share of blame.

Mr. Truman and the 80th Congress face a difficult and discouraging task. They must contrive to attack it with the same bipartisan strength that is now being devoted to the equally difficult and discouraging task of foreign relations. To accomplish this will take all the good sense and political conscience that God has given them.

NOVEMBER

November is the afterglow of the year, reluctant to bid farewell to summer, yet possessing many of the attributes of winter. In the midst of dying vegetation, when the leaves and grasses are sere and crisp, the sun often shines as brightly and warmly as in spring.

The moods of November are almost as variable as those of April. One day there is a balmy sweetness in the air, fragrant only of dead leaves and woods that have withered, but fragrant nevertheless. Another day may bring snowflakes driven by a turbulent wind that chills and kills the last surviving plants and flowers.

In November man senses a promise of immortality. While most forms of vegetables, floral and insect life have passed from the scene, the observing eye detects that in each instance preparation has been made for renewed life, to become manifest in the first peep of spring.

A glance at a tree that has thrust off its leaves reveals tiny buds already forming. Moths, butterflies and crickets depart only after they have deposited eggs and cocoons for reproduction.

Soft haze and yellow light, a peculiar ghostly effect with a tinge of sadness, are characteristic of November. Then come short days with brief twilights often suffused with radiant sunsets whose beauty is transcendent in a setting of leafless branches against dark gray hilltops.

A beneficent calm descends upon the land in November after the fields surrender their harvests, culminating in the festival of Thanksgiving like a benediction when among men there is a sustained conviction that nature has done her best.

WASTEFUL DELUSION

A great deal of work is being done on the Missouri River to increase its "navigability." To this all taxpayers contribute, although it may cost many of them money through disadvantageous freight rates. When a city is presumed to be on a "navigable" stream, the cheap water rate influences rail freight rates, placing "non-navigable" competing areas on a disproportionate basis.

A barge has struggled up the precarious Missouri from St. Louis to Omaha, carrying consumer goods upstream and going back down with grain. This is hailed as a test trip, "possibly" to be followed by a regular schedule. If a regular schedule is ever maintained on the Missouri, it will amaze people who have followed the ups and downs of that stream for decades. When there is talk of making a snaggy, sandbar filled stream navigable at great cost to all the taxpayers, something else is afoot.

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9.—Ezio Pinza, one of the few opera stars to win a triple-A rating from the bobby-soxers, has been screen ticketed by 20th Century- Fox. . . . Altar bound: Mary Hatcher, Paramount starlet and stage-actor James Alexander. . . . The New York Frame and Picture Company, which furnishes star photos for the dime store trade, reports that the actress in greatest favor this fall is Olivia de Havilland. Ingrid Bergman is in the No. 2 spot. . . . Wotzis about the American Social Hygiene Association publishing a book concerning the "facts of life," authored by Jinx Falkenburg?

Expect Martha Raye and Nick Condos (1) to formally announce a reconciliation and (2) confirm reports that they're on Dock Stork's list for late spring. . . . Howard Hughes is plotting a round-the-world yachting cruise, accompanied by a party of movie notables. . . . Good news: Susan Peters, whose condition is improving phenomenally, has signed contracts for an early spring p. a. tour. . . . Time out for Victor Moore, bedded by a serious bronchial infection.

I hear that Columbia will star Irene Dunne in a story about the fight against cancer. . . . Frank Sinatra, in collaboration with one of Hollywood's top songsmiths, is working on a series of tunes for moppets . . . Despite the lady's denials, Hollywood insiders will give odds that Marie McDonald will announce her engagement to Harry Karl, the shoe store tycoon, as soon as she divorces Vic Orsatti. . . . Eleanor (Mrs. Glen Ford) Powell plans a comeback try in January, when her son will be two years old and less dependent on her care.

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of a subpar week: Republic's "Home In Oklahoma" (Roy Rogers-George "Gabby" Hayes-Dale Evans). A king-size western musical that offers royal entertainment for outdoor fans. . . . GOOD: Columbia's "So Dark The Night" (Steven Geray-Micheline Cheirel). A spine-tingling horrific that needs only better-known players to make it a box-office hit. . . . Republic's "The Plainsman and The Lady" (William Elliott-Vera Ralston-Gail Patrick). Western thrill addicts will find it a best bet. . . . PRC's "Strange Holiday" (Claude Rains-Gloria Holden). Off-the beaten track screen fare, with a message that offers food for serious thought. . . . LOW BRIDGE: PRC's "His Brother's Ghost" (Buster Crabbe-Al St. John). Super-naturally bad! . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Steven Geray in "So Dark The Night."

News that Clark Gable, who recently "confided" to pals that he planned to retire after completing "The Hucksters," has signed a new MGM contract, giving him every concession he's ever wanted, is not surprising to anyone who has watched his screen career. Gable's been threatening to retire for years—and permitting his plans for a life of leisure to be postponed whenever the studio bosses have come through with exactly what he's wanted. Other stars who have tried the same tactic have failed, as a general rule, to make it pay such dividends, and for an excellent reason. They're not sincere in their threats. Gable is, and his producers know it. Should his demands be refused, he would quit and do it without nursing any regrets.

Since its first publication, some twelve years ago, one of my favorite books of American humor has been "For Authors Only," by Kenneth Roberts. In the future, I'm going to read one of the essays contained therein with even more chuckles than I have in the past. In that particular essay, Roberts, whose first novel, "Arundel," had been published about a year before, gloomly reports his meager returns and proves, to his own satisfaction at least, that writing books doesn't pay financial dividends. Why is it more amusing now than before? Well, one day last week Hollywood trade papers stated that Roberts is currently "considering" an offer of $200,000 for screen rights to his latest tome, "Lydia Bailey," which hasn't yet hit the newsstand!

According to a Hollywood columnist who specializes in romantic news, Artie Shaw and Kathleen Windsor, whose marriage-in-Mexico has been ruled illegal by California authorities, are going to live under separate roofs until their tangled marital affairs are straightened out. It seems to me that that plan, by process of elimination, makes their marriage a bit more likely to succeed, Shaw has already tried living under the same roof with five different wives—and failed on each attempt!

From Mexico comes news that Orson Welles, who's making a picture in those parts, has been severely poisoned by some mysterious nettle that grows in the jungles—poisoned so severely that his face swelled to thrice its normal size. I can't understand an allergy so sudden. Welles has been nettled about one thing or another for so many years that he should be immune by now.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sunday School Lesson for Nov. 17
Scripture: Acts 17:1-7; I Thessalonians 1:2-8

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The 17th chapter of Acts tells of Paul's visit to Thessalonica and of the founding of the church there. But the two epistles that Paul wrote, I and II Thessalonians, are necessary to complete the story.

Taken together, the account in the Acts and the two epistles throw a great deal of light upon the nature and method of Paul's ministry, as well as upon the conditions under which the churches that Paul began were founded, the character of their membership, and their duration and problems.

Danger and difficulty beset Paul everywhere that he began to preach and teach. Jews were roused to opposition when he taught that Jesus was the fulfilment of Old Testament prophecy, and this opposition became persecution.

Paul's enemies tried to get him into trouble with the Roman authorities by accusing him of saying that there was a non-Roman king, one Jesus. These enemies were so successful that Paul and Silas had to escape for the time being, and Jason, their host, had to give security to the authorities.

But Paul and Silas must have returned, for in the epistles Paul commends the Thessalonians for what they have done to make Christ known in all the region. Apparently, the city had been made a center from which to carry on missionary activity.

The membership in the church at Thessalonica seems to have consisted chiefly of Greeks, and women (Acts 17:4), and the same was true of the neighboring church at Berea, though men there are specifically mentioned (Acts 17:12). Some Jews also joined the Christian group, but the preponderance of Gentiles may account for some strange problems that arose in the church.

In the new company of Christians were evidently some idlers and loafers, possibly drawn to the Christians by the teaching that one should share with and help his neighbor. These idlers sought to impose upon their more sincere and faithful brethren.

Paul's urging in his First Epistle that everyone should be quietly faithful in business, working with his own hands, was evidently not enough for in his Second Epistle he plainly says that he who won't work shan't eat. Perhaps it is for this reason that Paul stresses the fact that he supported himself while there (I Thessalonians 2:9).

Just how he managed to support himself while carrying on his travels and spiritual ministry is not clear, but Paul was a superman. He evidently counted his self-support a matter of privilege and pride, for Paul believed in a settled ministry (I Thessalonians 5:12-13), and here and elsewhere he asserted the principle that the laborer is worthy of his hire.

OUR CHILDREN

People should have their children while they are still young enough to grow up with them happily. I am not saying that sixteen is an ideal age for motherhood, but certainly forty-five is a bit late.

Children are a trial and a discipline for their parents. They demand care at all times of the day and night. Sleep is broken, rest time is interrupted, work is stopped because they need immediate care. Such interruptions are a strain on the nervous system and a drain on strength, a trial to tempers. Young people can stand this much better than older people.

Parents should be able to enjoy their children. That means they must have the ability to adjust themselves to the demands of childhood. They can laugh, they can enjoy fun and frolic, they can enjoy listening to children's talk and not call it foolishness. This attitude is essential to the healthy family life that endows children with trained intelligence and the ability to adjust themselves to life easily. Older people can not stand the wear and tear that children give their minds and bodies.

People who want to adopt children should consider this fact. They should ask themselves how old they will be when the child is between the ages of thirteen and twenty. How will they feel about a bit of noise, some confusion about the house, the coming and going of teen-age children, the rearing of a girl, the upbringing of a healthy boy?

Children have certain rights that we must respect, and the chance to grow up in sound health of body and mind is of the utmost importance. Parents have rights, too, and they must be respected or the home becomes a madhouse. The age of parents is something to be considered thoughtfully.

The mother whose children have married and left home is lonely, but she should give more than a second thought to the situation before adopting a child in her old age.

The newly married young woman should have her children as soon as conditions allow. Usually, the newly wed couple need some time to adjust themselves to living together, to settle down into the scheme of life they have set, before having the first baby But waiting too long is not too wise. Ages does not wait, and youthful maturity is the time to have children, not set maturity.

And let us hope that there will not be an only child in the house. They do better when they have brothers and sisters.

People often smile at an infant's play, but it is no trifling matter. Angelo Patri calls it "Fundamental to a child's growth" in his leaflet, "Infant's Play," P-16.

ENSIGN CONVICTED OF FLYING TOO LOW

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Found guilty of unauthorized low flying over his home town, Ensign Peter S. Anderson, U. S. N. R., of Leesville, La., has been recommended for disenrollment from the naval service, the New Orleans naval air station announced today.

The decision was made by a board of investigation at Glenview, Illinois, headquarters of the naval air reserve training command.

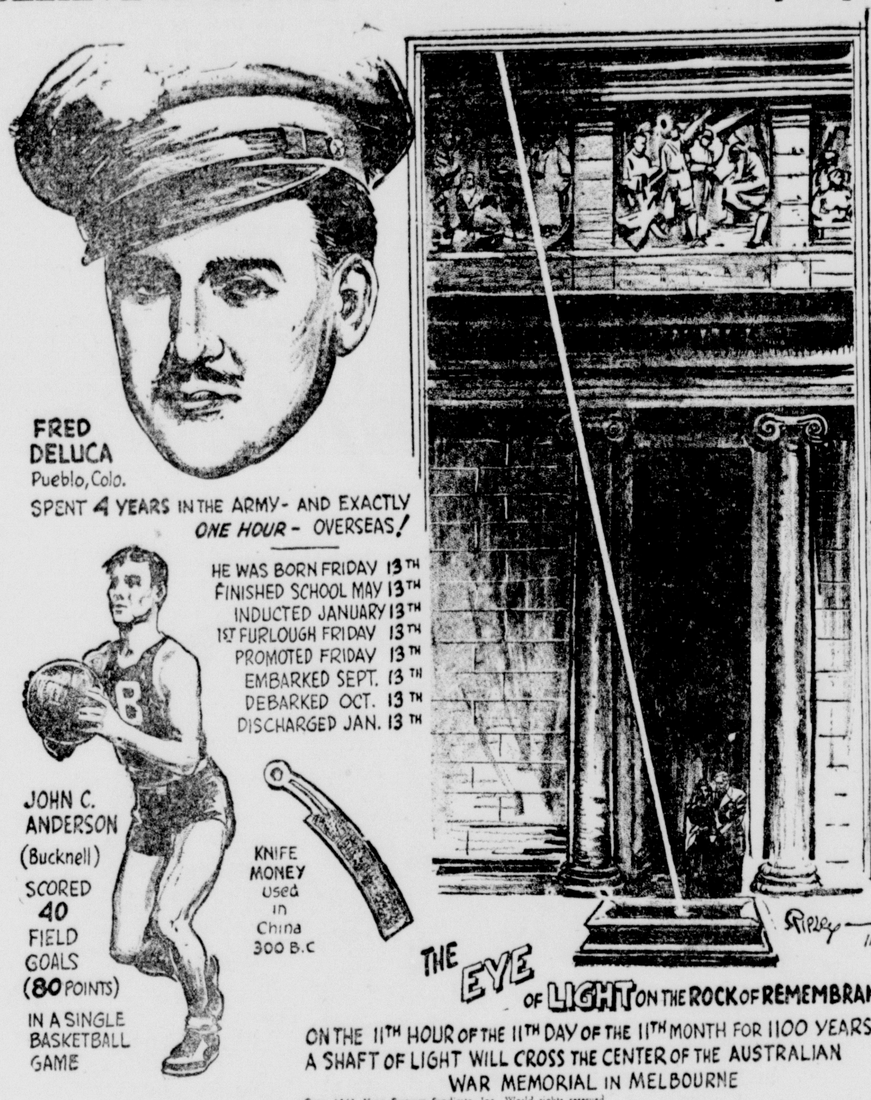

"The navy is continuing its efforts to stamp out illegal low flying by its pilots over civilian areas," said Rear Admiral E. C. Ewen, chief of air reserve training.

Ensign Anderson, member of an organized air reserve unit training on week-ends at the New Orleans air station, is a student at Louisiana State University and a veteran of naval service.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Any appraisal of the political campaign just closed must take into consideration the number of administration moves that had the effect of trying to stave off defeat.

Abandoning meat price controls, to please everybody, suspending draft quotas till after January 1, ditto, opening contract negotiations with John L. Lewis, for whatever good it might do in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Also clamping rent controls on more areas, to keep happy a total of 16 million tenants in 650 areas, removing OPA regulations on cotton textile mill operations to please the south, speeding up the removal of price controls of all kinds, lifting all price controls on shoes, hides and leather to please the shoe manufacturing areas.

The last-mentioned is as good an example as any of the way this thing worked. Reduction of livestock slaughtering in the meat shortage had reduced the supply of hides. Shoe production was thereby cut down. Workers were actually laid off in the shoe towns of New England, New York, Ohio and the St. Louis area from Nashville to Oklahoma.

In all these areas Democratic candidates were having their troubles. Democratic Senator Dave Walsh was being pushed hard by young Henry Cabot Lodge in Massachusetts. Senator Mead and Governor Lehman were having difficulties with Dewey and Ives. Even Democratic Governor Lausche was in danger in Ohio. And the great state of Truman and Hannegan was in the doubtful column.

The pressure was on the White House to get controls off leather and put the shoemakers back to work. The American Shoe Fair met in Chicago, Monday through Wednesday, October 28-30. At luncheon meetings they heard N. A. M. spokesmen and Senator Kenneth Wherry kick OPA all over the lot. But William A. Molster, head of OPA's shoe division, was there and the shoe trade press thought that meant no decontrol was in sight.

That's all they knew about it. That's all Molster knew about it. In Washington the week before, Reconversion Director John R. Steelman had met representatives of the Tanners' Council and the National Shoe Manufacturers' Association. Steelman made the decision to take off the controls. He did it Wednesday, the day the Shoe Fair closed. Molster learned about it when he got back to Washington Thursday.

Because OPA Director Paul Porter had only a short time before made a strong statement against taking controls off shoes, he had to be taken off the hook. So Steelman had to give him a directive and let the White House take the responsibility.

Just how much political good this shoe business, the meat, cotton and other decontrol actions did the Democrats is open to question. Probably not much. Officials of the White House staff in the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, which issued the directives for most of this decontrolling, insist with a straight face that none of these actions had anything to do with politics. Their story is that these things took place before election only by coincidence.

They say further that if these actions had been politically inspired, they might not have the effect of raising prices temporarily. If the Democratic administration had been angling for votes, it would have hung onto controls as long as possible in an effort to keep prices down.

Democratic Chairman Hannegan was said to fear that the high prices resulting from meat decontrol would cost the party many votes. Certainly, actions of the administration in the past month have not been in accord with the hold-the-line policy mapped out solidly last January.

Prices have risen 20 per cent since the old OPA bill died last June 30. Only 60 per cent of the economy has been decontrolled up to election. As controls are taken off the other 40 per cent, a further 10 to 15 per cent increase in the cost of living may be expected.

The real cause of this situation, say the office of reconversion people, is that the present price control law is unworkable, as the president said it would be. And pressure from every side caused the administration to give ground.

If that's the way it is, credit must be given to the industry people and the Republicans, which may be one and the same thing, for forcing the administration's hand. It was smart politics. Whether it was good politics remains to be seen.

New York Day By Day

Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

CHICAGO—Some of the wonders of the diesel locomotive were apparent to me in my inspection of the big General Motors plant, before I went flooie with the flu. I didn't get to ride in the cab of the first specimen of the new model, which is called F3, but I followed it through assembly lines, and, according to my estimates, which were becoming blurred by fever, three states, two townships, and three hells.

Volney Fowler, who was a newspaperman once himself, explained everything, answered all my questions, and it turned out that this little automotive vehicle costs the customer one-half million dollars, more or less, with plenty of fuel oil thrown in to move the vehicle to the buyer's premises.

The difference between a diesel locomotive and a 1946 automobile is that the diesel has no spark plug. Instead of a spark to set off the explosion that drives the car, the diesel engine explodes its fuel by compression. Compress anything too much, and it will burn or explode.

The diesel ordinarily burns a high grade of household heating oil, which is much cheaper than gasoline. But diesel-powered tanks during the war operated on gasoline, peanut oil, and various other fluids, as well as on fuel oil.

But don't be expecting diesel-powered runabouts or pleasure cars during the predictable future, if there is any such thing in these times.

Such things as diesel-powered cars of standard make do exist, but only for experimental purposes. The weight of the engine is considerably more than that of a gasoline engine, and the noise is greater. First cost would be higher than the public would bear, and it would take about ten years of driving to write off that extra cost, so that you could start making money out of the cheap fuel and greater mileage.

BURGLAR GETS CLOTHING

Two suits of clothing, a gray field jacket, a hat and two shirts were taken in the burglarizing of her home at 1010 Breard Street Friday night, Mrs. Irene Bouie reported to police Saturday morning. She said entrance had been gained by unlocking the front door.

Pitching Horseshoes

By Billy Rose

One of these days I'm going to catch up on my Shakespeare. I've seen many of his plays, but I haven't read him since P. S. 44. The only playwright whose work I really know is the talented Hungarian, Ferenc Molnar. I've been reading him since I graduated from Nick Carter and the Liberty Boys of '76. A deep thinker recently chided me for liking Molnar's gay comedies. "No social significance," he complained. My rebuttal was simple—"Drop dead."

Billy Rose

I first met Molnar in Budapest in 1934. One evening I was walking along the Dirty Brown Danube with a music publisher. As we passed one of the sidewalk cafes he pointed to an aristocratic old boy blowing on his coffee. "That's Molnar," he said, as if he were showing me the Acropolis in Athens. Like a funny-paper American touris I walked righ up to him and boomed, "Good evening. How are you, Mr. Molnar?"

The dramatist put down his coffee, screwed a monocle into his pink face, and said, "I am not a cocotte to be spoken to on the street."

I stammered, "I am a great admirer of your plays. I know them well."

"You mean the successes?" he sneered. "Liliom, The Guardsman—"

"Yes—and the failures too," I said. "Riviera, Olympia, The Miracle in the Mountains."

I guess I must have said the right thing. Every playwright has his favorite fizzles, plays he liked even though the public didn't.

"Sit down," he smiled. "Have a cup of coffee."

We talked until dawn outlined the Royal Palace on the far side of the river. When we said goodbye, I knew I had been listening to one of the world's great conversationalists. I think he tells a story better than any of the word-merchants I've been privileged to listen to—Ben Hecht, Gene Fowler, George M. Cohan, Ludwig Bemmelmans.

We next met up in New York. He had skipped out of Budapest two jumps ahead of the Brownshirts, Eleanor and I threw a little dinner party for him one night. I'm still embarrassed when I recall that the main course was goulash—it was like serving a scoop of vanilla to a retired soda jerk. After the coffee and brandy, he told us some stories about Rothschild, the banker, and the beggers of Europe who were always plotting to nick him for a hand-out.

I like the one about the beggar who came to Rothschild's house and actually got in to see him. The financier referred him to his secretary, who turned him over to the butler, who sent him down to see the porter, who directed him to the gatekeeper, who promptly booted him in the pants and sent him sprawling out on the sidewalk.

"Did you get anything?" asked another beggar, who happened to be passing.

"Not exactly," said the one in the gutter, "but the organization in that establishment is simply magnificent!"

Another beggar was luckier. His hard luck story got him ten marks from Rothschild. When he bragged about this, a comrade-in-alms said, "Bah! I would have gotten fifty."

"No you wouldn't," said the first. "I don't think the House of Rothschild is doing so well these days. When I went by the living room, I saw the Baron's two daughters playing together on one piano."

Then there's the story of the beggar who sad-talked Rothschild out of a few coins. An hour later the Baron saw the beggar eating caviar in a fine restaurant. "You ought to be ashamed of yourself," said Rothschild indignantly. "You beg, and then squander your money on caviar."

The beggar was even more indignant. "When I don't have money, I can't eat caviar. When I do have money, I mustn't eat caviar. Tell me then, when do I eat caviar?"

A couple of sloppy and smelly panhandlers were talking in front of the Baron's house. "Let me go in," said the older rag-bag. "I have more experience in dealing with the rich."

He turned the handle of the door and it slowly swung open. He saw no one inside and started walking up the grand staircase. Suddenly Rothschild himself appeared at the head of the stairs. The bum was petrified with fright. Rothschild got one whiff of him, then reached for his nostrils with one hand and for his pocket with the other. Throwing him a gold crown, he choked, "Take this. Only get out of here!" The beggar picked up the coin and ran. Outside, he proudly displayed the money to his bug-eyed friend. "You see," he said grandly. "You have to know how to talk to these people."

I have room for only one more—the one about Rotschild's funeral. A beggar crashed the funeral procession and started to cry louder than anybody else. One of the family came up to him and said, "Why do you weep so? The Baron was no relative of yours."

"That's why," said the beggar.

BUS DRIVER HELD ON BREAKING COUNT

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Sheriff Earl Morris of Natchitoches parish, said today that E. C. Calhoun, about 35, bus driver who brought a college football team here from Hattiesburg, Miss., Thursday afternoon, had been arrested and charged with breaking and entering in the night time.

Morris said that Calhoun was turned over to him by the city police today, in connection with the alleged theft of $12.45 from a filling station and the breaking of a jewelry store window here.

Calhoun is confined in the parish jail here.

BRITISH

Charles streets and in Whitehall had been taken as the result of information received in London concerning the possible activities of "Jewish terrorists." The prime ministers residence is on Downing street.

Reports that the underground were planning to carry their activities "into the heart of Britain" were published in London more than a week ago and a foreign office spokesman said extremists "might try" such measures. Guards already have been strengthened at other British embassies in Europe.

Following the blasting of the embassy in Rome several days ago the London Evening News said the Jewish undreground chiefs intended to use "I. R. A. (Irish Republican Army) tactics" with the "assassination of public men, the blowing up of government buildings, and sabotage of industrial installations and big hotels, communications, postal services and so on."

The Irgun Zvai Leumi broadcast tonight called the Rome bombing an "historic event" and promised others. It said "the fact that we have now completely disrupted Palestine railway schedules is an example of what we can do."

All night-time railway operation has been halted in Palestine following six attacks on railways in less than two weeks.

A colonial office spokesman refused to indicate what counter-measures were being taken to prevent the rumored "invasion" by Jewish refugees who were reported hoping to sift through the British coastal control of Palestine by sheer numbers.

Haifa dispatches earlier this week, however, quoted British naval intelligence officers as saying at least 100 ships, most of them "unseaworthy" chaiques and schooners, had been purchased by Jewish underground organizations, many paid for with American funds, and that these ships were lying in wait in southern European ports, including Genoa, Marseille, Trieste and Piraeus.

The same dispatch said methods of halting the shipment of refugees to Palestine were to be discussed at Malta this week by naval authorities under Adm. Sir Algernon Willis, Mediterranean commander in chief, and Palestine police.

At the same time that the colonial office spokesman discussed reports of a "mass exodus" of Jews from southern European ports, an authoritative government observer commented on reports that Jewish refugees in some UNRRA camps in southeastern Italy were becoming unmanageable.

"There has been a good deal of speculation about UNRRA camps and there have been rumors about the improper use of UNRRA facilities," he said. He added that some of the camps were "strategically situated from the point of view of traffic" to Palestine.

ROME, 142 OTHER CITIES WILL VOTE

ROME, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Rome and 142 other cities pick municipal governments tomorrow at elections in which local issues are largely overshadowed by the question of Trieste and increasingly sharp national differences between Italian leftists and those farther to the right.

With the Communists busily exploting to the full role of Communist Chief Palmiro Togli Moi as the "savior of Trieste" observers agreed the 2,500,000 voters in Reme and the other cities would directly influence the future policies of the central government.

A smashing victory in Rome by the newly solidified bloc of Communists, Socialists and other leftwing splinter groups would embolden them to break up Premier Alcide de Gasperi's precarious middle-of-the-road four-party government and try running the country itself, it was believed.

On the other hand, confirmation of the mandate de Gasperi's centrist Christian Democrats received at the June 2 constituent assembly elections might encourage the premier to tell the left parties to cooperate along the lines of his policies or get out of the government.

Leftist victories were pretty well discounted in industrial Genoa and Turin and even in Italy's "cultural capital," Florence, in the north. The right was believed assured of winning in monarchist Naples and Palermo in the south.

92-TON AIRCRAFT ON MAIDEN FLIGHT

BURBANK, Calif., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The 92-ton Constitution, claimed by Lockheed Aircraft Co., to be the largest transport plane in the world, moved ponderously down a runway at Lockheed air terminal today and rose into the air on its maiden flight.

The 180-passenger air titanic, built by Lockheed to transport men and cargo for the navy, had been under construction since 1942.

Admiral J. W. Reeves, commander of the naval air transport service, was on hand as the craft, driven by four 3,000-horsepower engines, took off in a test flight to Muroc army air base in the California desert. At the controls was Joe Towle, chief test pilot for lockheed.

Lockheed has built two of the planes and the total investment in the work amounts to $27,000,000. The Constitution is 11 tons heavier than the army's C-74 transport and his twin decks, one for passengers and the other for cargo. The craft has a wing span of 189 feet. A crew of five was aboard.

The all-metal plane has a top speed of 300 miles per hour and a range of 6,000 miles.

LEGION QUARTERS WILL REMAIN OPEN

Membership headquarters of the L. B. Faulk Post of the American Legion here will remain open all day tomorrow in the court room of the Monroe city hall as the local post makes its final bid to attain its largest membership quota.

Whether or not the quota is attained, the post is already assured of boasting its largest Armistice Day membership in the history of the organization, it was reported.

Open house at the Legion home, North Fourth street and Forsythe avenue, will be held tomorrow afternoon.

ASTHMA SPASMS
Liberal Supply Free

The development by French chemists of a palliative formula for easing the difficulty in coughing and breathing caused by spasms of Bronchial Asthma brought such striking results that its fame quickly spread over Europe. Now introduced in the United States as Bel-Din. This preparation contains the same active ingredients and aids as a palliative to ease gasping, choking and the feeling of suffocation that oftentimes accompanies Bronchial Asthma. Caution: Use only as directed. The Montrose Sales Co., Inc., Dept. M-44. Montrose, Calif., is anxious that all sufferers from Bronchial Asthma Spasms try this preparation. They will send a liberal supply Free to anyone who writes them. If you wish, you may send 10c to cover mailing and handling. Send for it today. (Adv.)

ASSERTS G. O. P.

resentative of the liberal wing of the Republican party," Robert J. Watt, A. F. L., international representative, said he hopes the G. O. P. will be wise enough to follow the senator's advice "and not let congress be stampeded into enacting anti-labor legislation."

"Otherwise, let me say bluntly," Watt went on, "the victory in 1946 may boomerang in 1948."

Watt said he believes the people voted against various government controls, which now should be junked. Anti-labor legislation, he argued, would be a step toward increasing rather than ending government restrictions.

Ball said that in correcting abuses in the labor laws, one of the hardest tasks of the Republicans will be to see that "we don't interfere with the legitimate rights of labor in collective bargaining." But he held there should be be emphasis also on a person's right to work without joining a union.

As for enacting portions of the Case bill, the senator urged a ban against secondary boycotts, regulation of union welfare funds, and legal liability of unions for violations of contracts.

Industry-wide collective bargaining should be regulated, Ball said, and congress may investigate this field before taking action.

The C. I. O. issued a handbook, "Your Civil Rights," as a "tool to help fight reaction" on the part of employers or local government agencies.

"Reactionary forces in America," it said in a statement, "have clearly indicated their intention to seek the destruction of labor's basic rights in this country."

The C. I. O. said the handbook is intended to give workers "something to show the cop on the beat if he attempts to interfere with their rights." In non-legal language, it tells what various laws and court decisions allow individuals to do in the way of distributing leaflets, picketing, parading and carrying on other union activities.

TARIFF

objectives of the Atlantic Charter • • •

"Their success or failure will largely determine whether the world will move towards a system of liberal international trade, free from arbitrary barriers, excessive tariffs and discriminations, or will pay the heavy cost of narrow economic nationalism," Mr. Truman added.

Clayton emphasized his belief that the United States reciprocal trade program is an all-American policy which the American people want continued unchanged.

He said he does not fear any Republican attempt to interfere with the reciprocal trade act which gives the administration authority to slash tariff duities as much as 50 percent without further consulting Congress.

The act was extended for three years in July of 1945 but many Republican congressmen voted against it.

The undersecretary maintained that many Republicans back the administration's views on tariffs and pointed to statements by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and the late Wendell Willkie.

Under questioning, however, Clayton acknowledged that rank-and-file Republicans do not support the administration's foreign economy policy as strongly as they do the strictly political phase.

In answer to other questions, he noted the Republican-controlled Congress could repeal the trade act, if it desired, or block it by refusing funds to carry it out. But he stressed he believes such action unlikely.

Clayton disclosed the state department had deliberately withheld the tariff announcement until after the elections to avoid making it the target of partisan political attacks.

Make sure that the children's playthings are not small enough to be swallowed.

LOUISIANA COTTON LEAST SINCE 1910

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The U. S. D. A. crop reporting service today said Louisiana had the smallest cotton crop since 1910.

The crop was estimated at 250,000 bales, less than two-thirds of last year's.

"The rainy early season with resultant heavy boll weevil infestation reduced the yield to an estimated 137 pounds per acre, compared to last year's yield of 219 and the ten-year average yield of 271 pounds per acre," the reporting service said.

Conditions were favorable for picking and ginning during the last month, and ginning is nearing a close, the service said.

Add two tablespoons of lemon juice to one quart of boiling water to keep cauliflower, corn, rice and potatoes white.

Poisons like lye, insect sprays and disinfectants should be kept on high shelves where children cannot reach them.

ASTHMA SPASMS
Liberal Supply Free

The development by French chemists of a palliative formula for easing the difficulty in coughing and breathing caused by spasms of Bronchial Asthma brought such striking results that its fame quickly spread over Europe. Now introduced in the United States as Bel-Din. This preparation contains the same active ingredients and aids as a palliative to ease gasping, choking and the feeling of suffocation that oftentimes accompanies Bronchial Asthma. Caution: Use only as directed. The Montrose Sales Co., Inc., Dept. M-44. Montrose, Calif., is anxious that all sufferers from Bronchial Asthma Spasms try this preparation. They will send a liberal supply Free to anyone who writes them. If you wish, you may send 10c to cover mailing and handling. Send for it today. (Adv.)

ASSERTS G. O. P.

resentative of the liberal wing of the Republican party," Robert J. Watt, A. F. L., international representative, said he hopes the G. O. P. will be wise enough to follow the senator's advice "and not let congress be stampeded into enacting anti-labor legislation."

"Otherwise, let me say bluntly," Watt went on, "the victory in 1946 may boomerang in 1948."

Watt said he believes the people voted against various government controls, which now should be junked. Anti-labor legislation, he argued, would be a step toward increasing rather than ending government restrictions.

Ball said that in correcting abuses in the labor laws, one of the hardest tasks of the Republicans will be to see that "we don't interfere with the legitimate rights of labor in collective bargaining." But he held there should be be emphasis also on a person's right to work without joining a union.

As for enacting portions of the Case bill, the senator urged a ban against secondary boycotts, regulation of union welfare funds, and legal liability of unions for violations of contracts.

Industry-wide collective bargaining should be regulated, Ball said, and congress may investigate this field before taking action.

The C. I. O. issued a handbook, "Your Civil Rights," as a "tool to help fight reaction" on the part of employers or local government agencies.

"Reactionary forces in America," it said in a statement, "have clearly indicated their intention to seek the destruction of labor's basic rights in this country."

The C. I. O. said the handbook is intended to give workers "something to show the cop on the beat if he attempts to interfere with their rights." In non-legal language, it tells what various laws and court decisions allow individuals to do in the way of distributing leaflets, picketing, parading and carrying on other union activities.

TARIFF

objectives of the Atlantic Charter * * *

"Their success or failure will largely determine whether the world will move towards a system of liberal international trade, free from arbitrary barriers, excessive tariffs and discriminations, or will pay the heavy cost of narrow economic nationalism," Mr. Truman added.

Clayton emphasized his belief that the United States reciprocal trade program is an all-American policy which the American people want continued unchanged.

He said he does not fear any Republican attempt to interfere with the reciprocal trade act which gives the administration authority to slash tariff duities as much as 50 percent without further consulting Congress.

The act was extended for three years in July of 1945 but many Republican congressmen voted against it.

The undersecretary maintained that many Republicans back the administration's views on tariffs and pointed to statements by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and the late Wendell Willkie.

Under questioning, however, Clayton acknowledged that rank-and-file Republicans do not support the administration's foreign economy policy as strongly as they do the strictly political phase.

In answer to other questions, he noted the Republican-controlled Congress could repeal the trade act, if it desired, or block it by refusing funds to carry it out. But he stressed he believes such action unlikely.

Clayton disclosed the state department had deliberately withheld the tariff announcement until after the elections to avoid making it the target of partisan political attacks.

LOUISIANA COTTON LEAST SINCE 1910

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The U. S. D. A. crop reporting service today said Louisiana had the smallest cotton crop since 1910.

The crop was estimated at 250,000 bales, less than two-thirds of last year's.

"The rainy early season with resultant heavy boll weevil infestation reduced the yield to an estimated 137 pounds per acre, compared to last year's yield of 219 and the ten-year average yield of 271 pounds per acre," the reporting service said.

Conditions were favorable for picking and ginning during the last month, and ginning is nearing a close, the service said.

Add two tablespoons of lemon juice to one quart of boiling water to keep cauliflower, corn, rice and potatoes white.

congress, is expected to step out shortly.

A strong hint that some increase may be granted to landlords seeking higher rents was seen in the president's discussion of the necessity for continued rent ceilings.

"It may be that some adjustments of rents will be required," he said, "but control of rents and control over evictions must be continued."

The price control act under which rents are controlled is scheduled to expire June 30. Mr. Truman has indicated previously that he will ask its continuance, but the attitude of the Republican-controlled 80th congress appeared uncertain.

Mr. Truman also said that the removal of ceilings on lumber and building materials "will obviously necessitate a change in the approach to some of the problems in the housing program." He did not amplify, but he added that he has asked Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt "to report to me promptly in this regard."

Wyatt was reported to have urged that controls be retained on building materials lest the present price ceilings on new homes built under priorities of the veterans emergency housing program prove untenable. But Mr. Truman said that "price control on building materials alone, with no price control on products competing for the same raw materials, would drive these materials away from housing and defeat the objectives of the program."

Wyatt announced that the $10,000 limit on new home prices will remain in effect, along with all other housing controls, despite the removal of price ceilings on building materials.

"No one should minimize the effect of the removal of price controls and the difficulties of the task ahead," Wyatt said in a statement, "if veterans are to get homes and apartments in a volume and at prices even approaching their needs."

The removal of wage controls was foreshadowed by the president when he decontrolled meat Oct. 15. Labor officials had urged the removal of wage controls at that time.

Now any wage increases negotiated by unions with employers may be put into effect without government approval. Previously, manufacturers and producers were requested to gain federal approval for any wage increases which they would use as a basis for seeking higher prices.

The president added that lifting of wage controls would not affect the statutory provisions governing changes in terms and conditions of employment at plants operated by the government under the war labor disputes act.

The president's announcement said he is convinced that the time has come when these controls can serve no useful purpose.

"I am indeed convinced that their further continuance would do the nation's economy more harm than good," the statement said.

"Accordingly, I have directed the immediate abandonment of all control over wages and salaries and all control over prices except that necessary to implement the rationing and allocation programs of sugar and rice.

"Rent control, however, must and will be continued."

The order affects such commodities as coal, rubber, steel and other metals, furniture, building materials, clothing and textiles, automobiles and many other items.

The order automatically lifts wage controls from the industries in which they were imposed.

The President said OPA Administrator Paul Porter had advised him that with so much of the economy freed from price controls, "clinging to the rest would, in his judgment, lead to distortions in production and diversion of goods to an extent far out weighing any benefit that could be achieved."

Porter is reported planning to resign now that his agency is virtually out of business. He took over the OPA job last June on leave from the chairmanship of the federal communications commission, to which he now may return.

Both the A. F. L. and C. I. O. have demanded the end of wage controls, contending wages should be freed because of rising living costs. The A. F. L. also had demanded an end to price control but the C. I. O. held out to the end in favor of continued price ceilings.

The president said the "real basis of our difficulty is the unworkable price control law which the congress gave us to administer. The plain truth is that, under this inadequate law, price control has lost the popular support needed to make it work."

"The lifting of price controls and wage controls," he continued, "results in the return to a free market with free collective bargaining. Industry has sought removal of price controls while labor has pressed for removal of control of wages. Both have insisted that removal of these controls would lead to increased production and fewer work stoppages."

The president said high production removes the hazard of inflation and brings prices within the reach of the mass market.

"Wage rates not justified by labor productivity and prices not justified by manufacturers' costs may bring the illusion of prosperity," he said. "In the long run, good wages, full employment and sound business profits must depend upon the management and workers cooperating to produce the maximum volume of goods at the lowest maximum price."

had been concluded, returning here to be on hand for the four-power German talks.

Byrnes received British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in his suite at the Waldorf-Astoria this morning for almost an hour, but the subject or subjects of their conversation were a closely guarded secret.

Diplomats however, speculated that the two may have discussed the explosive Palestine issue. Byrnes disclosed last week that President Truman had turned this issue over to him for future handling.

In view of developments on the Trieste dispute within the past 24 hours, some conference sources considered it likely that this was also discussed.

Top Western diplomats predicted that the Big Four would readily scrap their whole elaborate plan for internationalizing Trieste if Italy and Yugoslavia could produce a new formula for settling their bitter dispute over that city among themselves.

There were increasing indications that the Italians and Yugoslavs may be attempting to reach a compromise that would be acceptable to the four-power foreign ministers.

Meanwhile, the foreign ministers prepared to resume sessions Monday in their skyscraper chamber council, tackling issues of disagreement in the treaties for Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria. The foreign ministers temporarily passed over the Trieste issue this week when they were unable to reach a solution.

A British naval man discovered that orange and lemon juice were the most effective cures for scurvy, a dietary deficiency disease that plagued sailors.

PROBE

that went with it," the Nebraska senator declared.

He added he expects "cooperation from the loyal opposition"—presumably the Democrats who joined Republicans in opposing some Truman measures in the last Congress—in Republican efforts to balance the budget, make such tax reductions as are possible, overhaul the sale of surplus properties and revise labor legislation.

Wherry, Senate minority whip in the 78th Congress, announced he will leave Thursday on a self-financed, 19-day trip to Europe and report on his return to the Senate appropriations committee of which he is a member.

"No one knows where this meat is going when it is turned over to the Russians and the Yugoslavs," he declared.

"If it is being used to feed armies, that is just as important as if a loan were made. And you remember Secretary of State Byrnes said we aren't going to make any loans to our foes."

Wherry said his inquiry will be aimed at finding out not only what economic commitments had been made by this country but also in broadening his own knowledge of world conditions.

"During the next two years we are going to be called upon to make some serious decisions on foreign policy and I want to get all of the information I can," he said.

He added he will look into occupation policies and attempt to find out how long military leaders believe this country should keep forces in Europe.

Fulbright's statement said his suggestion for a full-blown change in government through a presidential resignation was not intended as any reflection on President Truman.

He argued that the Republicans, if denied this full responsibility for the government in the next two years, would contend in 1948 that if they had had control of the White House "things would have been better, and of course no one can prove the contrary."

"Without any reflection upon the individuals in the administration," he said, "we must accept the fact that as now constituted it is unacceptable to the American people. This being so, is it not only a contribution to the national well-being, but also wise as to political strategy to accede to the wishes of the people as of this time."

Fulbright argued the Democrats ought to review their policies and revitalize their organization to bring "more vigorous leadership" to the top.

"It would seem to me clear that if the Democrats follow the conventional line of least resistance and hold onto the last vestiges of power up to the last minute in the face of obvious disapproval of the people, we shall certainly suffer as disastrous a defeat in 1948 as the Republicans did in 1932," he said.

REFUSES TO WEAR FIG-LEAF ATTIRE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Blondie Kaye Horan, 19-year-old Radcliffe College junior, has refused to wear only a fig leaf for the Harvard club's production of "The Creation of Adam," but will appear in a garb that has somewhat the appearance of a sarong.

Producers of the show told today of how Kaye, who will play "Eve" in the play, bluntly balked at the more revealing fig leaf and, at first, insisted on wearing a flowing robe.

However, after a huddle with all concerned, Kaye, daughter of U. S. Rep. Walt Horan, Republican, of Wenatchee, Wash., compromised with the near-sarong.

The play will be presented from November 12 through November 16.

Chinese Newspaper Takes Hard Rap At Treaty With U. S.

Interpretation By

James D White

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Right away this week it became plain that many Chinese do not like the new treaty their government has signed with the United States.

This is news because the treaty follows the principle of reciprocity, making Americans in China fully subject to Chinese laws. It remains to be ratified by both governments, but has long-range importance because of the announcement that it is likely to serve as a model for future treaties—because of the "most-favored nation" principle—which both countries may sign with other powers.

No official Chinese criticism of this treaty has been reported, and little unofficial criticism in public. But the independent Ta Kung Pao, probably the most respected newspaper in China and representative of a large section of influential opinion, swings hard at the new treaty by calling it no better than the "unequal treaties" of the past century.

It makes a rather startling attack upon the reciprocal nature of the treaty itself, claiming that its supposedly mutually beneficial terms will benefit America only. Why? Because China has no manufactured goods to send to this country, and no ships to send them in. Hence, it argues, American trade will benefit at the expense of Chinese business.

As an example, a Chinese in San Francisco points out that an American company can put up a factory in Shanghai, use cheap (?) Chinese labor, and with American machines and techniques produce more cheaply in China than the Chinese themselves.

The Ta Kung Pao says that if this pattern is followed for other treaties, then "China, dominated and suffering from unequal treaties for the past hundred years, will again be dominated for the next hundred."

Logically, this is a complaint about conditions in China and not about the treaty, although it does raise the probability that reciprocity at this time can hurt Chinese interests.

The question is, what Chinese interests? The Ta Kung Pao provides a clue by charging that the Chinese government, in signing the treaty, "has given no thought to the future and fate of China's industry at a time when it should be protecting the livelihood of the Chinese people."

This reflects an internal Chinese struggle, which is not the government's fight with the Communists (although nothing can be entirely unrelated to that) but is a struggle which the government has been waging and winning for the control of big Chinese industry and business.

A group of government officials, generally regarded as led by Premier T. V. Soong, for some time has faced charges by private business interests—both Chinese and foreign—that it has been moving far into what they regard as their legitimate fields.

Most open criticism thus far has come from foreigners, but there has been muted resistance by Chinese business interests. These interests apparently fear two things:

1. That the new treaty will let American business into China under conditions where only the strongest Chinese corporations can compete.

2. That the only Chinese corporations with that much strength left will be government corporations.

workable formula that can be evolved. The only question is which party will head it.

Even if there is a clear-cut majority for the M. R. P. the Communists may have to be given some say in the government, because with their control over labor they could paralyze the country with strikes, observers said.

After election of the second house the government will still be far from formed. The two houses must meet jointly to elect a president, who in turn will nominate a premier. The national assembly's endorsement of a premier is necessary before he can form his cabinet.

Neither de Gaulle nor Blum is a candidate in the election, but other names, long familiar in French politics, will be on the lists. These include Bidault, Radical-Socialist Leader Edouard Herriot, Socialist Vincent Auriol, who was president of the last interim legislature, and Rightist Paul Reynaud.

The elector has no choice but to vote a straight ticket. He is handed lists of each party's candidates when he enters the polls and in the voting booth picks the list he wants and drop it into the ballot box.

ATTLEE

Attlee of the U. N. "Instead of its proceedings being objective and businesslike there are propaganada attacks and flimsy pretexts and a variety of episodes which have tended to bring the organization into disrepute instead of building up the confidence we so much desire.

"It is clear that if the United Nations organization is to be used as a forum for debating ideological differences, it will fail."

He added that the U. N. could succeed only if it is to be used "to secure to all nations the freedom to preserve their own ways of life while contributing to the common good of the world." He cautioned, however, against impatience with U. N., saying "this organization cannot be built in a moment."

Attlee said that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin "has exercised the greatest restraint in not indulging in polemics in reply to attacks made upon this country in speeches made at the United Nations and in sections of the foreign press and broadcasts.

"It is better to answer by deeds, not words. Our action in India, in Burma, in the colonial empire and elsewhere refute the contentions that the British Commonwealth and Empire is animated by imperialism."

In reference to the vanquished enemy, the prime minister said:

"In Europe the key to prosperity, peace and tranquility will be the settlement of Germany.

"Surely if ever there was a problem that merits the wise cooperation of allied statesmen without bickering, without ideological considerations, excepting that we all agree Germany must be democratic, this is the one."

He urged that the German people be permitted to use their great industrial activity but cautioned that "these industries must not again be allowed to become an arsenal to be used by a new Germany to attack their neighbors, or to promote another war."

In the field of international commerce, Attlee said, one of the greatest British problems is the balance of trade:

"This will be a continuous source of concern to this country for many years ahead, until we have completed the adjustment of our international trade to the sacrifice of overseas income which we made in the war.

"We have started well, for our exports have topped the prewar level, and I believe that the vigor with which the nation is pressing the export drive is impressing on our friends abroad the determination with which we are tackling the problem of regaining our external economic stability."

He added that "we are, of course, greatly helped by the breathing space afforded by the Canadian and United States lines of credit. But I must remind you again they provide only for a breathing space * * * this problem of the balance of payments is not one which we shall solve quickly or easily."

Attlee said that both manpower and material shortages were handicaping Britain with manpower "necessarily reduced by the burden which we have to carry in the military sphere in playing our part in dealing with the problems in settling down after a long war. These obligations both now and in the future we must fulfill."

A three-hour parade, two miles in length, marked the traditional celebration of the annual lord mayor's show. The theme of the precession was "work and play," and traveling tableaux showed the British navy, army and air force on duty and at play.

BIENVILLE HOTEL ON AUCTION BLOCK

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Bienville Hotel in New Orleans went on the auction block at Louisiana State University today and stayed there—there were no bids.

The university supervisors in announcing sale of the hotel said no bids for less than $750,000 would be considered. Once before bids for the property, formerly used as a nurses' home in connection with Charity Hospital, were rejected as too low.

Only spectators at the auction today were representatives of the Logan Management Company, now operating the hotel under lease.

SAYS HE'S MASTER AT LOADING DICE

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Julian E. Tierney, an ex-G. I. who describes himself as a "master craftsman" has filed suit against his prewar employer because he allegedly wasn't offered his old job back. His "craft" is the manufacture of crooked dice.

Tierney, who says he is a specialist in the field of adulterated dice, is seeking $75 a week for the period from last July 5 to Sept. 30, plus one per cent of the profits of the Jack Todd Club Room Accessories firm, Kansas City manufacturers.

The suit was filed in federal court by Assistant U. S. District Attorney Harry F. Murphy under the G. I. law guaranteeing veterans their old jobs.

Loading dice—to make the celluloid cubes roll seven when the player is straining for Little Joe of Big Ten—comes under the classification of "precision" work, says Tierney, an ex-master sergeant at Camp Hood, Tex.

It's no cinch to load the galloping dominoes with particles of gold, lead, mercury or platinum, according to Tierney, who declared:

"It's delicate work—just like a dentist drilling into a tooth."

He added that he spent long and tedious training learning his profession.

Todd, his ex-employer, said he was surprised by the court action because he had believed Tierney didn't want his old job back. He added that crooked dice represent only a small per cent of his company's output.

They are made, he said, only "for expose purposes and non-gambling tricks."

off to normal by the first of the year," he added.

W. Ray Bell, president of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York, said removal of price controls over cotton textiles "means a return to normal conditions of marketing of these products and the elimination of those factors which long have been a barrier to the meeting of the full textile requirements of the country."

DECONTROL APPROVAL VOICED BY OVERTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Senator John H. Overton at his home in Alexandria, La., expressing approval of the president's action, said money saved by the government in reducing wage and price control administration should be enough "to restore the full rivers and harbors and flood control appropriations."

"I think the president's action is very good," he said. "I think the alien Congress would have done the same thing and I'm happy the president beat them to the gun."

Overton was chairman of the flood control conference held in New Orleans last September. He was outspoken against an administration order to reduce flood control expenditures from $500,000,000 to $185,000,000, and later referred to a restoration of $35,000,000 as a "mere pittance."

Mackenzie's Column

The nationalist "cease fire" order in China is obviously a victory for General George C. Marshall in his efforts to get Chiang Kai-Shek to go half way in seeking an agreement with the Communists. It also is a very shrewd move from Chiang's own standpoint. But it really goes farther than that.

America has hoped all along, of course, to work out the factional differences in China and thereby diminish the chances that north China and Manchuria would come under the Soviet sway as has outer Mongolia.

The nationalists, however, have also been hoping to conquer the Communists first so that the latter would have less on which to trade in the reorganized government.

This sounds simple, but there are numerous important undertones. It is not as though the U. S. had been merely supporting the established government of an ally in settling a post-war problem. Despite all the talk about the great battle for democracy put up by Chiang's forces during the war, the nationalist government has been accepted by the United States only, as Roosevelt himself put it, because he saw no alternative. Throughout the war American officers and emmissaries actually were constantly trying to "get China to fight" the Japanese, while Chiang's men seemed as much or more interested in checkmating the Communists and consolidating for the post-war struggle. Chiang's political methods, frequently remindful of European practices which we were fighting to eliminate, often were embarrassing—to put it mildly. Post-war revelations indicate that Roosevelt was probably less worried about Russia than he was about China. To put it bluntly some of Chiang's methods smacked of fascism. Many of his critics challenged his claim that they were intended only for China's emergency years, and that true democracy would be evolved. The complete story of the book he wrote in 1943, which was removed from sale and placed under the strictest censorship almost immediately after allied governments received their copies, has never been told. But the uneasiness caused by his statement that, in the post-war period, every Chinese boy must become a soldier or an airman, has never been forgotten.

That's why a part of the American job has been to get Chiang to clear his own skirts. The cease fire order is one result of that.

But it also may prove to be the point of showdown as to actual motives on the Communist side.

As dispatches from Nanking report, it is a shrewd move to force the Communists to enter the government or accept responsibility for continued civil war. The question of whether the Communists are acting entirely on their own, or have come to be an implement of Russian policy, is at stake. There have been doubts that they ever intended to come to terms regardless of nationalist concessions. There have been fears that they intended to perpetuate the cleavage while working toward an autonomous government; and that such a government would inevitably fall within the Russian sphere.

The Communists have maintained that it was impossible to conduct real peace negotiations while Chiang's armies pressed an invasion of Communist-held territory. Now that barrier has been removed. If the Communists improvise some other barrier now, the portents for China, and for the rest of the world, will look grim indeed.

Charles W. Oseland, of the Missouri Pacific Railroad staff, came to the News-Star—World office with the unusual complaint that he objected to the type used in classified "ads." Sometimes he said a "three" and a "nine" become confused. This gives rise to his receiving in his postoffice mail box mail intended for another. As this extraneous mail matter became daily heavier and heavier it almost crowded out his own personal mail, he averred. And the nature of the mail, not his own, was for something he did not care to make known publicly. But he ultimately got it all straightened out and he's happy again. "Guess lots of folks stand in need of glasses," was his comment.

An enterprising cafe here plans to have printed a brief description of Monroe's past history on the reverse side of its menu. Seems like a good idea, for few places have had a more colorful past than has Monroe. By the way, J. S. Daniel, Jr., at the postoffice is authority for the statement that he once read that Monroe was the 17th community in the entire United States to be originally inhabited. We have always known that St. Augustine, Fla., claims to be the oldest city in the country, but we never heard of this new claim for Monroe. Will someone tell us which are the next 15 oldest cities and towns which according to this authority have Monroe ante-dated?

From a Monroe chap, former service man, too modest to have his name publicized, comes the answer to how Monroe was once termed "The Parlor City." This fellow when in the recent war assigned in England met up with an English buddy who by chance had been to Monroe during the war. The latter stated that he was told when here that Monroe was "The Parlor City" because it was as flat as a parlor floor, being minus of any towering elevations inside the city limits. Sounds rather off color but here's this explanation and who has a better one?

Life within the sordid four walls of the West Monroe bastile was enlivened one day last week when a full-fledged "dope party" was staged. A short time before a seemingly ordinary drunk was incarcerated in the place which contained five white prisoners. The newcomer in some unexplained manner had retained the highly potent capsules and he generously "threw a party" for himself and his companions. When the morning light broke, they completed a night of delight but now they are confronted with an extension of time in durance vile. Like the unsolved mystery of how Hitler's A-1 man got hold of his suicide draught in the death cell, is the perplexing problem of how the makings for a "dope party" invaded the holy of holies of the West Monroe jail.

congress, is expected to step out shortly.

A strong hint that some increase may be granted to landlords seeking higher rents was seen in the president's discussion of the necessity for continued rent ceilings.

"It may be that some adjustments of rents will be required," he said, "but cnotrol of rents and control over evictions must be continued."

The price control act under which rents are controlled is scheduled to expire June 30. Mr. Truman has indicated previously that he will ask its continuance, but the attitude of the Republican-controlled 80th congress appeared uncertain.

Mr. Truman also said that the removal of ceilings on lumber and building materials "will obviously necessitate a change in the approach to some of the problems in the housing program." He did not amplify, but he added that he has asked Housing Expeditor Wilson Wyatt "to report to me promptly in this regard."

Wyatt was reported to have urged that controls be retained on building materials lest the present price ceilings on new homes built under priorities of the veterans emergency housing program prove untenable. But Mr. Truman said that "price control on building materials alone, with no price control on products competing for the same raw materials, would drive these materials away from housing and defeat the objectives of the program."

Wyatt announced that the $10,000 limit on new home prices will remain in effect, along with all other housing controls, despite the removal of price ceilings on building materials.

"No one should minimize the effect of the removal of price controls and the difficulties of the task ahead," Wyatt said in a statement, "if veterans are to get homes and apartments in a volume and at prices even approaching their needs."

The removal of wage controls was foreshadowed by the president when he decontrolled meat Oct. 15. Labor officials had urged the removal of wage controls at that time.

Now any wage increases negotiated by unions with employers may be put into effect without government approval. Previously, manufacturers and producers were requested to gain federal approval for any wage increases which they would use as a basis for seeking higher prices.

The president added that lifting of wage controls would not affect the statutory provisions governing changes in terms and conditions of employment at plants operated by the government under the war labor disputes act.

The president's announcement said he is convinced that the time has come when these controls can serve no useful purpose.

"I am indeed convinced that their further continuance would do the nation's economy more harm than good," the statement said.

"Accordingly, I have directed the immediate abandonment of all control over wages and salaries and all control over prices except that necessary to implement the rationing and allocation programs of sugar and rice.

"Rent control, however, must and will be continued."

The order affects such commodities as coal, rubber, steel and other metals, furniture, building materials, clothing and textiles, automobiles and many other items.

The order automatically lifts wage controls from the industries in which they were imposed.

The President said OPA Administrator Paul Porter had advised him that with so much of the economy freed from price controls, "clinging to the rest would, in his judgment, lead to distortions in production and diversion of goods to an extent far out weighing any benefit that could be achieved."

Porter is reported planning to resign now that his agency is virtually out of business. He took over the OPA job last June on leave from the chairmanship of the federal communications commission, to which he now may return.

Both the A. F. L. and C. I. O. have demanded the end of wage controls, contending wages should be freed because of rising living costs. The A. F. L. also had demanded an end to price control but the C. I. O. held out to the end in favor of continued price ceilings.

The president said the "real basis of our difficulty is the unworkable price control law which the congress gave us to administer. The plain truth is that, under this inadequate law, price control has lost the popular support needed to make it work."

"The lifting of price controls and wage controls," he continued, "results in the return to a free market with free collective bargaining. Industry has sought removal of price controls while labor has pressed for removal of control of wages. Both have insisted that removal of these controls would lead to increased production and fewer work stoppages."

The president said high production removes the hazard of inflation and brings prices within the reach of the mass market.

"Wage rates not justified by labor productivity and prices not justified by manufacturers' costs may bring the illusion of prosperity," he said. "In the long run, good wages, full employment and sound business profits must depend upon the management and workers cooperating to produce the maximum volume of goods at the lowest maximum price."

had been concluded, returning here to be on hand for the four-power German talks.

Byrnes received British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in his suite at the Waldorf-Astoria this morning for almost an hour, but the subject or subjects of their conversation were a closely guarded secret.

Diplomats however, speculated that the two may have discussed the explosive Palestine issue. Byrnes disclosed last week that President Truman had turned this issue over to him for future handling.

In view of developments on the Trieste dispute within the past 24 hours, some conference sources considered it likely that this was also discussed.

Top Western diplomats predicted that the Big Four would readily scrap their whole elaborate plan for internationalizing Trieste if Italy and Yugoslavia could produce a new formula for settling their bitter dispute over that city among themselves.

There were increasing indications that the Italians and Yugoslavs may be attempting to reach a compromise that would be acceptable to the four-power foreign ministers.

Meanwhile, the foreign ministers prepared to resume sessions Monday in their skyscraper chamber council, tackling issues of disagreement in the treaties for Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria. The foreign ministers temporarily passed over the Trieste issue this week when they were unable to reach a solution.

A British naval man discovered that orange and lemon juice were the most effective cures for scurvy, a dietary deficiency disease that plagued sailors.

that went with it," the Nebraska senator declared.

He added he expects "cooperation from the loyal opposition"—presumably the Democrats who joined Republicans in opposing some Truman measures in the last Congress—in Republican efforts to balance the budget, make such tax reductions as are possible, overhaul the sale of surplus properties and revise labor legislation.

Wherry, Senate minority whip in the 78th Congress, announced he will leave Thursday on a self-financed, 19-day trip to Europe and report on his return to the Senate appropriations committee of which he is a member.

"No one knows where this meat is going when it is turned over to the Russians and the Yugoslavs," he declared.

"If it is being used to feed armies, that is just as important as if a loan were made. And you remember Secretary of State Byrnes said we aren't going to make any loans to our foes."

Wherry said his inquiry will be aimed at finding out not only what economic commitments had been made by this country but also in broadening his own knowledge of world conditions.

"During the next two years we are going to be called upon to make some serious decisions on foreign policy and I want to get all of the information I can," he said.

He added he will look into occupation policies and attempt to find out how long military leaders believe this country should keep forces in Europe.

Fulbright's statement said his suggestion for a full-blown change in government through a presidential resignation was not intended as any reflection on President Truman.

He argued that the Republicans, if denied this full responsibility for the government in the next two years, would contend in 1948 that if they had had control of the White House "things would have been better, and of course no one can prove the contrary."

"Without any reflection upon the individuals in the administration," he said, "we must accept the fact that as now constituted it is unacceptable to the American people. This being so, is it not only a contribution to the national well-being, but also wise as to political strategy to accede to the wishes of the people as of this time."

Fulbright argued the Democrats ought to review their policies and revitalize their organization to bring "more vigorous leadership" to the top.

"It would seem to me clear that if the Democrats follow the conventional line of least resistance and hold onto the last vestiges of power up to the last minute in the face of obvious disapproval of the people, we shall certainly suffer as disastrous a defeat in 1948 as the Republicans did in 1932," he said.

REFUSES TO WEAR FIG-LEAF ATTIRE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Blonde Kaye Horan, 19-year-old Radcliffe College junior, has refused to wear only a fig leaf for the Harvard club's production of "The Creation of Adam," but will appear in a garb that has somewhat the appearance of a sarong.

Producers of the show told today of how Kaye, who will play "Eve" in the play, bluntly balked at the more revealing fig leaf and, at first, insisted on wearing a flowing robe.

However, after a huddle with all concerned, Kaye, daughter of U. S. Rep. Walt Horan, Republican, of Wenatchee, Wash., compromised with the near-sarong.

The play will be presented from November 12 through November 16.

Chinese Newspaper Takes Hard Rap At Treaty With U. S.

Interpretation By

James D White

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Right away this week it became plain that many Chinese do not like the new treaty their government has signed with the United States.

This is news because the treaty follows the principle of reciprocity, making Americans in China fully subject to Chinese laws. It remains to be ratified by both governments, but has long-range importance because of the announcement that it is likely to serve as a model for future treaties—because of the "most-favored nation" principle—which both countries may sign with other powers.

No official Chinese criticism of this treaty has been reported, and little unofficial criticism in public. But the independent Ta Kung Pao, probably the most respected newspaper in China and representative of a large section of influential opinion, swings hard at the new treaty by calling it no better than the "unequal treaties" of the past century.

It makes a rather startling attack upon the reciprocal nature of the treaty itself, claiming that its supposedly mutually beneficial terms will benefit America only. Why? Because China has no manufactured goods to send to this country, and no ships to send them in. Hence, it argues, American trade will benefit at the expense of Chinese business.

As an example, a Chinese in San Francisco points out that an American company can put up a factory in Shanghai, use cheap (?) Chinese labor, and with American machines and techniques produce more cheaply in China than the Chinese themselves.

The Ta Kung Pao says that if this pattern is followed for other treaties, then "China, dominated and suffering from unequal treaties for the past hundred years, will again be dominated for the next hundred."

Logically, this is a complaint about conditions in China and not about the treaty, although it does raise the probability that reciprocity at this time can hurt Chinese interests.

The question is, what Chinese interests? The Ta Kung Pao provides a clue by charging that the Chinese government, in signing the treaty, "has given no thought to the future and fate of China's industry at a time when it should be protecting the livelihood of the Chinese people."

This reflects an internal Chinese struggle, which is not the government's fight with the Communists (although nothing can be entirely unrelated to that) but is a struggle which the government has been waging and winning for the control of big Chinese industry and business.

A group of government officials, generally regarded as led by Premier T. V. Soong, for some time has faced charges by private business interests --both Chinese and foreign—that it has been moving far into what they regard as their legitimate fields.

Most open criticism thus far has come from foreigners, but there has been muted resistance by Chinese business interests. These interests apparently fear two things:

1. That the new treaty will let American business into China under conditions where only the strongest Chinese corporations can compete.

2. That the only Chinese corporations with that much strength left will be government corporations.

workable formula that can be evolved. The only question is which party will head it.

Even if there is a clear-cut majority for the M. R. P. the Communists may have to be given some say in the government, because with their control over labor they could paralyze the country with strikes, observers said.

After election of the second house the government will still be far from formed. The two houses must meet jointly to elect a president, who in turn will nominate a premier. The national assembly's endorsement of a premier is necessary before he can form his cabinet.

Neither de Gaulle nor Blum is a candidate in the election, but other names, long familiar in French politics, will be on the lists. These include Bidault, Radical-Socialist Leader Edouard Herriot, Socialist Vincent Auriol, who was president of the last interim legislature, and Rightist Paul Reynaud.

The elector has no choice but to vote a straight ticket. He is handed lists of each party's candidates when he enters the polls and in the voting booth picks the list he wants and drop it into the ballot box.

Attlee of the U. N. "Instead of its proceedings being objective and businesslike there are propaganada attacks and flimsy pretexts and a variety of episodes which have tended to bring the organization into disrepute instead of building up the confidence we so much desire.

"It is clear that if the United Nations organization is to be used as a forum for debating ideological differences, it will fail."

He added that the U. N. could succeed only if it is to be used "to secure to all nations the freedom to preserve their own ways of life while contributing to the common good of the world." He cautioned, however, against impatience with U. N., saying "this organization cannot be built in a moment."

Attlee said that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin "has exercised the greatest restraint in not indulging in polemics in reply to attacks made upon this country in speeches made at the United Nations and in sections of the foreign press and broadcasts.

"It is better to answer by deeds, not words. Our action in India, in Burma, in the colonial empire and elsewhere refute the contentions that the British Commonwealth and Empire is animated by imperialism."

In reference to the vanquished enemy, the prime minister said:

"In Europe the key to prosperity, peace and tranquility will be the settlement of Germany.

"Surely if ever there was a problem that merits the wise cooperation of allied statesmen without bickering, without ideological considerations, excepting that we all agree Germany must be democratic, this is the one."

He urged that the German people be permitted to use their great industrial activity but cautioned that "these industries must not again be allowed to become an arsenal to be used by a new Germany to attack their neighbors, or to promote another war."

In the field of international commerce, Attlee said, one of the greatest British problems is the balance of trade:

"This will be a continuous source of concern to this country for many years ahead, until we have completed the adjustment of our international trade to the sacrifice of overseas income which we made in the war.

"We have started well, for our exports have topped the prewar level, and I believe that the vigor with which the nation is pressing the export drive is impressing on our friends abroad the determination with which we are tackling the problem of regaining our external economic stability."

He added that "we are, of course, greatly helped by the breathing space afforded by the Canadian and United States lines of credit. But I must remind you again they provide only for a breathing space * * * this problem of the balance of payments is not one which we shall solve quickly or easily."

Attlee said that both manpower and material shortages were handicaping Britain with manpower "necessarily reduced by the burden which we have to carry in the military sphere in playing our part in dealing with the problems in settling down after a long war. These obligations both now and in the future we must fulfill."

A three-hour parade, two miles in length, marked the traditional celebration of the annual lord mayor's show. The theme of the precession was "work and play," and traveling tableaux showed the British navy, army and air force on duty and at play.

BIENVILLE HOTEL ON AUCTION BLOCK

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Bienville Hotel in New Orleans went on the auction block at Louisiana State University today and stayed there—there were no bids.

The university supervisors in announcing sale of the hotel said no bids for less than $750,000 would be considered. Once before bids for the property, formerly used as a nurses' home in connection with Charity Hospital, were rejected as too low.

Only spectators at the auction today were representatives of the Logan Management Company, now operating the hotel under lease.

SAYS HE'S MASTER AT LOADING DICE

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Julian E. Tierney, an ex-G. I. who describes himself as a "master craftsman" has filed suit against his prewar employer because he allegedly wasn't offered his old job back. His "craft" is the manufacture of crooked dice.

Tierney, who says he is a specialist in the field of adulterated dice, is seeking $75 a week for the period from last July 5 to Sept. 30, plus one per cent of the profits of the Jack Todd Club Room Accessories firm, Kansas City manufacturers.

The suit was filed in federal court by Assistant U. S. District Attorney Harry F. Murphy under the G. I. law guaranteeing veterans their old jobs.

Loading dice—to make the celluloid cubes roll seven when the player is straining for Little Joe of Big Ten—comes under the classification of "precision" work, says Tierney, an ex-master sergeant at Camp Hood, Tex.

It's no cinch to load the galloping dominoes with particles of gold, lead, mercury or platinum, according to Tierney, who declared:

"It's delicate work—just like a dentist drilling into a tooth."

He added that he spent long and tedious training learning his profession.

Todd, his ex-employer, said he was surprised by the court action because he had believed Tierney didn't want his old job back. He added that crooked dice represent only a small per cent of his company's output.

They are made, he said, only "for expose purposes and non-gambling tricks."

W. Ray Bell, president of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York, said removal of price controls over cotton textiles "means a return to normal conditions of marketing of these products and the elimination of those factors which long have been a barrier to the meeting of the full textile requirements of the country."

DECONTROL APPROVAL VOICED BY OVERTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Senator John H. Overton at his home in Alexandria, La., expressing approval of the president's action, said money saved by the government in reducing wage and price control administration should be enough "to restore the full rivers and harbors and flood control appropriations."

"I think the president's action is very good," he said. "I think the alien Congress would have done the same thing and I'm happy the president beat them to the gun."

Overton was chairman of the flood control conference held in New Orleans last September. He was outspoken against an administration order to reduce flood control expenditures from $500,000,000 to $185,000,000, and later referred to a restoration of $35,000,000 as a "mere pittance."

The nationalist "cease fire" order in China is obviously a victory for General George C. Marshall in his efforts to get Chiang Kai-Shek to go half way in seeking an agreement with the Communists. It also is a very shrewd move from Chiang's own standpoint. But it really goes farther than that.

America has hoped all along, of course, to work out the factional differences in China and thereby diminish the chances that north China and Manchuria would come under the Soviet sway as has outer Mongolia.

The nationalists, however, have also been hoping to conquer the Communists first so that the latter would have less on which to trade in the reorganized government.

This sounds simple, but there are numerous important undertones. It is not as though the U. S. had been merely supporting the established government of an ally in settling a post-war problem. Despite all the talk about the great battle for democracy put up by Chiang's forces during the war, the nationalist government has been accepted by the United States only, as Roosevelt himself put it, because he saw no alternative. Throughout the war American officers and emmissaries actually were constantly trying to "get China to fight" the Japanese, while Chiang's men seemed as much or more interested in checkmating the Communists and consolidating for the post-war struggle. Chiang's political methods, frequently remindful of European practices which we were fighting to eliminate, often were embarrassing—to put it mildly. Post-war revelations indicate that Roosevelt was probably less worried about Russia than he was about China. To put it bluntly some of Chiang's methods smacked of fascism. Many of his critics challenged his claim that they were intended only for China's emergency years, and that true democracy would be evolved. The complete story of the book he wrote in 1943, which was removed from sale and placed under the strictest censorship almost immediately after allied governments received their copies, has never been told. But the uneasiness caused by his statement that, in the post-war period, every Chinese boy must become a soldier or an airman, has never been forgotten.

That's why a part of the American job has been to get Chiang to clear his own skirts. The cease fire order is one result of that.

But it also may prove to be the point of showdown as to actual motives on the Communist side.

As dispatches from Nanking report, it is a shrewd move to force the Communists to enter the government or accept responsibility for continued civil war. The question of whether the Communists are acting entirely on their own, or have come to be an implement of Russian policy, is at stake. There have been doubts that they ever intended to come to terms regardless of nationalist concessions. There have been fears that they intended to perpetuate the cleavage while working toward an autonomous government; and that such a government would inevitably fall within the Russian sphere.

The Communists have maintained that it was impossible to conduct real peace negotiations while Chiang's armies pressed an invasion of Communist-held territory. Now that barrier has been removed. If the Communists improvise some other barrier now, the portents for China, and for the rest of the world, will look grim indeed.

But more fun burst loose when Jack Howard, of the Howard Jewelry Company, was assessed a dime and found that he had come to the luncheon without a red cent of money on his person. Those ever-ready scissors were quickly applied to his many-colored necktie to his confusion and dismay.

Charles W. Oseland, of the Missouri Pacific Railroad staff, came to the News-Star—World office with the unusual complaint that he objected to the type used in classified "ads." Sometimes he said a "three" and a "nine" become confused. This gives rise to his receiving in his postoffice mail box mail intended for another. As this extraneous mail matter became daily heavier and heavier it almost crowded out his own personal mail, he averred. And the nature of the mail, not his own, was for something he did not care to make known publicly. But he ultimately got it all straightened out and he's happy again. "Guess lots of folks stand in need of glasses," was his comment.

An enterprising cafe here plans to have printed a brief description of Monroe's past history on the reverse side of its menu. Seems like a good idea, for few places have had a more colorful past than has Monroe. By the way, J. S. Daniel, Jr., at the postoffice is authority for the statement that he once read that Monroe was the 17th community in the entire United States to be originally inhabited. We have always known that St. Augustine, Fla., claims to be the oldest city in the country, but we never heard of this new claim for Monroe. Will someone tell us which are the next 15 oldest cities and towns which according to this authority have Monroe ante-dated?

From a Monroe chap, former service man, too modest to have his name publicized, comes the answer to how Monroe was once termed "The Parlor City." This fellow when in the recent war assigned in England met up with an English buddy who by chance had been to Monroe during the war. The latter stated that he was told when here that Monroe was "The Parlor City" because it was as flat as a parlor floor, being minus of any towering elevations inside the city limits. Sounds rather off color but here's this explanation and who has a better one?

Life within the sordid four walls of the West Monroe bastile was enlivened one day last week when a full-fledged "dope party" was staged. A short time before a seemingly ordinary drunk was incarcerated in the place which contained five white prisoners. The newcomer in some unexplained manner had retained the highly potent capsules and he generously "threw a party" for himself and his companions. When the morning light broke, they completed a night of delight but now they are confronted with an extension of time in durance vile. Like the unsolved mystery of how Hitler's A-1 man got hold of his suicide draught in the death cell, is the perplexing problem of how the makings for a "dope party" invaded the holy of holies of the West Monroe jail.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Two mighty football elevens ripped and slashed and tore at each other for 60 action-crammed minutes on the turf of Yankee Stadium today, and when it was over the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame were forced to settle for a scoreless tie and the distinction of having shattered Army's 25-game winning streak.

The first great post-war college classic, played before a capacity throng of more than 74,000 in perfect football weather, saw the redoubtable Black Knights from West Point threaten repeatedly after recovering Notre Dame fumbles and intercepting wayward Irish passes, but they could not score.

Touted as one of the most terrific teams ever to come out of South Bend, the burly Irish powered 84 yards down to Army's three-yard stripe in the second quarter in their only real offensive gesture. Only the one time did they carry the ball past midfield, though twice in the second half they fell upon Army fumbles in Cadet territory and could do nothing with the opportunity.

Army's all-conquering team, facing it's first major test from a team filled with thoughts of revenge for beatings absorbed the past two years, muffed it's best scoring chance in the opening period, when it was held for downs on the Notre Dame 15 after Goble Bryant, right tackle, had recovered an Irish fumble on the 24.

It was a bruising, breathless struggle. Only two Army players, Felix (Doc) Blanchard and Glenn Davis, the two-time All-American backfield brilliants, went the route for the Cadets. The Irish, with a wealth of warning, prevented either from breaking away on one of the long, touchdown runs for which they have become famous.

Blanchard in 20 smashes at the Notre Dame defenses had a net gain of 60 yards to show for a strenuous afternoon. His usually elusive little running mate, Davis, showed a net of 33 yards for the 15 times he lugged the leather. The best either wrote into the records was a 21-yard sweep around his left end by Blanchard in the third period.

Notre Dame's big forwards threw up an almost airtight defense against Army's vaunted running attack, and seldom could Arnold Tucker, the Cadets' noted passer, pierce the Irish secondary with his bullet pegs. Army, though thin in reserve strength, was equally successful in fighting off the Notre Dame steamroller when it was necessary to dig in.

The statistics if anything, gave Notre Dame a little the better of it, though the Irish scoring threats were fewer and it was Army which, time

HARTY CALLS MEETING TO REORGANIZE COTTON STATES BASEBALL LOOP

GREENVILLE, Miss., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Judge Emmet Harty today called a meeting for re-organization for next season of the Class C Cotton States Baseball League at Hotel Greenville at 10 a. m., Sunday, Nov. 17.

Judge Harty, who headed the circuit when it closed down for the war after the 1941 season, said nine cities are expected to send representatives to the meeting. The cities listed as prospective members include Clarksdale, Greenwood and Greenville, Miss., Helena, El Dorado, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, and Camden, Ark., and Monroe, La.

Simultaneously with the call of the Cotton States League meeting Jake Stein, chairman of the Greenville citizens' committee, voiced belief Saturday Greenville will be in the league with a team next season.

The city council Friday night voted to replace floodlights and lease to the baseball association a 10-acre section of the Isenberg tract and turn over $4,800 in a recreation fund to the association.

Chairman Stein said a report will be heard Monday night from the finance committee which is soliciting funds for baseball. The construction committee is also studying plans for a ball park.

Delegation from the city of Greenville was expected to go to Texarkana, Ark., Sunday to inspect a ball park grandstand under construction there.

RIFLE MATCHES SCHEDULED HERE

North Louisiana Championship Event At Selman Range Today

The North Louisiana Rifle Championship matches, attracting 30 or 40 shooters from four states, will be held here today under the sponsorship of the Ouachita Rifle and Pistol Club, it was announced last night by John Zufall, official of the local club. The event will be held on the club's Selman Field range.

A large delegation of riflemen from New Orleans, headed by J. A. Badeaux, president of the Louisiana State Rifle and Pistol Association and also a member of the board of directors of the National Rifle Association, arrived here yesterday evening. Advance reservations have also been made here for a big delegation from Fort Worth Tex., and other shooters are expected from Oklahoma, Mississippi and Texas as well as over Louisiana.

On the firing line today will be three former state champions, Spencer E. Pipes and W. H. Womack, Shreveport, and Zufall, Monroe.

The championship firing will begin at 9 a. m. today and continue through the evening, and the public is invited to attend the show.

A demonstration of quick-draw and hip-shooting with pistols will be put on between noon and 1 p. m. by members of the Monroe police department, Zufall said.

STEERS DUMP BEARS

WACO, Tex., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The University of Texas Longhorns kicked a field goal in the third period and blocked two punts in the fourth period to score two quick touchdowns and defeat the Baylor Bears 22 to 7 here today. In the first two periods the bears outplayed the Longhorns to hold a 7-0 lead at halftime.

BULLDOGS COME FROM BEHIND TO DEFEAT FLORIDA

Bowl-Minded Georgia Thumps Alligators By Score Of 33 To 14

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Georgia's bowl - minded Bulldogs marched on toward an undefeated and untied football season today with a 33 to 14 triumph over Florida but they had to come from behind in the last half to do it.

Florida's outmanned freshmen completely dominated pley in the first half to mark up a half time lead of 7 to 6.

The one point deficit loomed large as George Jernigan, the "Springfield rifle," missed the extra point placekick for only the second time this season. Then Georgia came back in the last half with power that left no doubt of the Bulldogs mastery.

The Bulldog's great All-America candidate, Charlie Trippi, completely bottled up by the Florida defense for the first two periods, scored two touchdowns in the second half and passed to John Donaldson for another.

Belden's target on five of the 11 passes completed was Broughton (Brute) Williams, the nation's leading pass receiver.

Georgia scored first in the second quarter. Herb St. John picked up Bill Gilmartin's blocked punt to give the Bulldogs the ball on the Florida seven. Trippi took Johnny Rauch's pass in the flat for the touchdown.

The 'Gators romped back a few moments later as Belden connected on three consecutive passes to reach the Georgia 15. Fullback Gaspar Vaccaro score on his fourth try through the lines.

Donaldson intercepted one of the Belden's tosses on his own 17 to inaugurate a Bulldog touchdown drive early in the third period. Donaldson took it across the last few yards.

Another Georgia pass interception, this time by Clayton Deavers, gave the Bulldogs the ball on their own 44. Then Trippi began connecting with his heaves, Donaldson catching the last one for the score.

Georgia's other two touchdowns came after long marches, Trippi and Rauch doing most of the pushing. Geri climaxed one drive, going over from the two, and Trippi bucked over the other.

Florida's second marker came in the final quarter as Hal Griffin and Vaccaro broke loose for successive long runs. Vaccaro took it over.

The lineups:

Georgia	Pos.	Florida
Edwards	LE	Turner
Bush	LT	Mortellare
Hobbs	LG	Fields
Cooley	C	Hobbs
Johnson	RG	Raborn
Williams	RT	Dempsey

Score by quarters:

Georgia	0	6	13	14	—33
Florida	0	7	0	7	—14

Georgia scoring—touchdowns, Donaldson 2, Trippi 2, Geri; points after touchdown, Jernigan 3 (placements).

ASSAULT HOME FIRST IN WESTCHESTER HANDICAP

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Robert Kleberg's Assault won the mile-and-three-sixteenths Westchester Handicap in 1:56 2/5 at Jamaica racetarck today and picked up $38,600 for his owner. Backers received $5.30 for $2.

Jockey Eddie Arcado was astride the winner. Second money went to G. D. Widener's Lucky Draw, who finished three lengths behind Assault and paid $2.70 for place. Five lengths behind Lucky Draw came Can Chappell's Let's Dance, who paid $4.40 to show.

LONG RUN SAVES TECH

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 9.—(AP)—George Mathews, Georgia Tech co-captain, snatched one out of the fire today with a 95-yard gallop after a fumble-interception, with less than three minutes to play, after which the Jackets scored again to sink the Navy, 28-20.

TULANE'S GREENIES EASILY ROUT CLEMSON TIGERS, 54-13

Wave Scores Almost At Will Against Lighter Bengals Before 25,000

Total yards all kicks returned	186	106
Opponents fumbles recovered	1	1
Yards lost by penalties	30	71

By Kris Keeger

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Tulane's improved Green Wave thoroughly outclassed the lighter Clemson Tigers here today, winning 54 to 13 before 25,000 spectators, the local season's smallest crowd.

Clemson, which has played some of its best football here in past years, seemed impotent throughout most of the game. The Tulanians scored often as though running through signal drills.

The Tigers flashed a passing attack which led to their two touchdowns, and kept the ball away from Tulane for a good fraction of the game. But it netted little, as pass interceptions gave Tulane two touchdowns and started a drive to another.

The Greenies mixed long runs and passes and a couple of sustained drives for their other touchdowns.

Tulane, fielding a revised lineup, scored after three minutes of play. Jim Keeton shot a flat pass to Johnny Campora who ran 50 yards down the left side line into pay dirt. Midway of the period Ed Price, a fullback who runs like a tailback, broke through left tackle and dashed 58 yards for another Wave touchdown.

Sub Halfback Marvin McCain bulled 32 yards for Tulane's next score, climaxing a 73 yard drive.

Gerald Leverman, Clemson's ace passer, took command in the second period. His tosses engineered one futile drive which carried to the Tulane eight, and another which went 52 yards to a score. Billy Rogers hit right guard for the last yard.

The Wave surged to four touchdowns in the third. Price scored the first from the seven after a 45-yard drive started with an intercepted Leverman pass. Then Cliff Van Meter passed 39 yards to Sammy Edwards, who charged ten yards to score with a tackler hanging onto him.

Dick Hoot ran 42 yards for a touchdown with another interception from Leverman, and Van Meter ran and passed the Wave 49 yards for another. He hit left guard for the final yard.

Don Fortier intercepted a pass from Hendley and ran 20 yards to the last touchdown.

Ed Heider booted six extra points for Tulane, and made another which was nullified by a penalty. Mavis Cagle made one out of two for Clemson.

The lineups:

Clemson	Pos.	Tulane

Cagers Organizing For Play In Several Loops Here This Winter

Five basketball teams have filed for membership in basketball league to be sponsored here this winter by the Monroe Recreation department for boys of high school age, it was announced last night by Director Jack Hesketh.

Already lined up for action are Red Shield Club, First Baptist of West Monroe, Louisiana Training Institute, Ouachita Cubs and Spatafora's Pharmacy.

League play begins December 2 with games to be played each Monday and Thursday night through the season at Ouachita Parish High School gymnasium.

There is a possibility of the league becoming an eight-team circuit, Director Hesketh said, and any other teams desiring to participate are urged to apply to Director Hesketh at the Monroe Recreation Center. There is an age limit of 17 years on boys participating in the league.

So far the proposed midget league has drawn only two teams. The circuit, for boys 14 years old and under, has Spatafora's Pharmacy and L. T. I. ready to enter quintets. Play in this league is slated to start December 3 with all games to be played in the L. T. I. gym.

The City League, for unlimited ages, has five teams preparing to play but so far a playing gym and starting date have not been determined on. A sixth team is also being sought.

The girls' City League has three teams ready but also is undetermined on a gymnasium and starting time.

Keep electric cords in good repair. throwing away those that cannot be fixed.

Yards lost by penalties	30	35

By Leroy Simms

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Mississippi State's power-laden line and fleet back-field completely outclassed the Auburn Tigers today in a 33-0 Southeastern Conference victory. About 25,000 fans attended.

The Maroons scored in every period, and effectively throttled Auburn's star freshman, Travis Tidwell, when the chips were down.

Tidwell completed 8 of 12 passes for 87 yards, caught one pass himself good for six more, intercepted one state toss and picked up 37 yards rushing in 12 attempts.

Harper Davis, 170-pound sophomore from Clarksdale, Miss., was the kingpin of the Maroon attack. He caught passes, outwitted the outcharged Auburn forward on numerous reverses and generally was the most effective of a fine lot of backs wearing the Maroon colors. State, beaten only by Louisiana State, remained very much in the Bowl picture. Its remaining games are with Mississippi and Alabama.

Davis took a pass from Billy Murphy for the opening Maroon score, just seven minutes after the opening kickoff. Davis had set it up with a 34-yard streak down the sidelines with one of Tidwell's punts.

Wally Matulich made the next touchdown, culminating a 38-yard drive, early in the second period, driving across from the Tiger four. A third touchdown, just 10 seconds before the end of the first half, came

MONROE BULLDOGS PLAY BERNICE BEARS MONDAY

The Bulldogs of Monroe Colored High School will play the Bernice Bears in a football game here tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at Neville High School Stadium, it was announced yesterday.

Both Negro elevens are undefeated, and the local Bulldogs will be going into action with their goal line uncrossed this season.

The game was scheduled for Casino Park last Friday night, but the lights went out just as the game was supposed to get underway. All ticket holders at Casino Park Friday will be admitted to Neville Stadium upon presentation of their tickets.

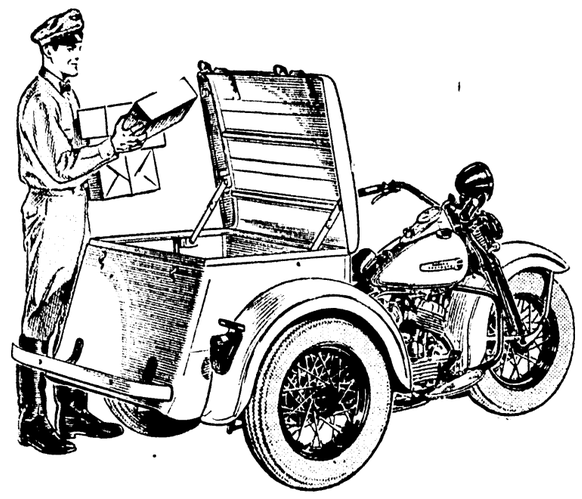

The Bulldogs, after defeating C. C. High of Shreveport at the state fair recently, have trained hard for the Bernice game and expect to strengthen their state championship hopes by downing the Bears tomorrow.

RAZORBACKS MOVE AHEAD IN SOUTHWESTERN RACE

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Arkansas' Razorbacks spilled the Rice Owls, 7-0, before a capacity turnout of 17,000 here today to take over first place in the Southwest Conference football title race.

The Razorbacks scored in the fourth quarter as reserve fullback John Hoffman intercepted on Owl pass and sprinted 32 yards to a touchdown.

Fink the Tailor, Inc.
Monroe, Louisiana

Gentlemen:

Last November your house tailored a double-breasted business suit for me. The label carries the following date and number: November 1, 1945 --No. 67128

At the present time I am in Germany as a civilian employee of the War Department. As you know, there is no way for me to procure civilian clothing over here -- and I'm getting almost threadbare.

If you still have my measurements on file, would you please tailor another suit for me? The same double-breasted style in a dark blue or oxford grey winter fabric would suit me perfectly, although I leave you completely free to exercise your own judgment as to pattern, fabric, and price.

If you can comply with my request, please let me know the price and I shall forward you a money order immediately.

Kindest personal regards to you all,

Very truly yours,

The cities listed as prospective members include Clarksdale, Greenwood and Greenville, Miss., Helena, El Dorado, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, and Camden, Ark., and Monroe, La.

Simultaneously with the call of the Cotton States League meeting Jake Stein, chairman of the Greenville citizens' committee, voiced belief Saturday Greenville will be in the league with a team next season.

The city council Friday night voted to replace floodlights and lease to the baseball association a 10-acre section of the Isenberg tract and turn over $4,800 in a recreation fund to the association.

Chairman Stein said a report will be heard Monday night from the finance committee which is soliciting funds for baseball. The construction committee is also studying plans for a ball park.

Delegation from the city of Greenville was expected to go to Texarkana, Ark., Sunday to inspect a ball park grandstand under construction there.

RIFLE MATCHES SCHEDULED HERE

North Louisiana Championship Event At Selman Range Today

The North Louisiana Rifle Championship matches, attracting 30 or 40 shooters from four states, will be held here today under the sponsorship of the Ouachita Rifle and Pistol Club, it was announced last night by John Zufall, official of the local club. The event will be held on the club's Selman Field range.

A large delegation of riflemen from New Orleans, headed by J. A. Badeaux, president of the Louisiana State Rifle and Pistol Association and also a member of the board of directors of the National Rifle Association, arrived here yesterday evening. Advance reservations have also been made here for a big delegation from Fort Worth, Tex., and other shooters are expected from Oklahoma, Mississippi and Texas as well as over Louisiana.

On the firing line today will be three former state champions, Spencer E. Pipes and W. H. Womack, Shreveport, and Zufall, Monroe.

The championship firing will begin at 9 a. m. today and continue through the evening, and the public is invited to attend the show.

A demonstration of quick-draw and hip-shooting with pistols will be put on between noon and 1 p. m. by members of the Monroe police department, Zufall said.

STEERS DUMP BEARS

WACO, Tex., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The University of Texas Longhorns kicked a field goal in the third period and blocked two punts in the fourth period to score two quick touchdowns and defeat the Baylor Bears 22 to 7 here today. In the first two periods the bears outplayed the Longhorns to hold a 7-0 lead at halftime.

BULLDOGS COME FROM BEHIND TO DEFEAT FLORIDA

Bowl-Minded Georgia Thumps Alligators By Score Of 33 To 14

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Georgia's bowl - minded Bulldogs marched on toward an undefeated and untied football season today with a 33 to 14 triumph over Florida but they had to come from behind in the last half to do it.

Florida's outmanned freshmen completely dominated play in the first half to mark up a half time lead of 7 to 6.

The one point deficit loomed large as George Jernigan, the "Springfield rifle," missed the extra point placekick for only the second time this season. Then Georgia came back in the last half with power that left no doubt of the Bulldogs mastery.

The Bulldog's great All-America candidate, Charlie Trippi, completely bottled up by the Florida defense for the first two periods, scored two touchdowns in the second half and passed to John Donaldson for another.

Belden's target on five of the 11 passes completed was Broughton (Brute) Williams, the nation's leading pass receiver.

Georgia scored first in the second quarter. Herb St. John picked up Bill Gilmartin's blocked punt to give the Bulldogs the ball on the Florida seven. Trippi took Johnny Rauch's pass in the flat for the touchdown.

The 'Gators romped back a few moments later as Belden connected on three consecutive passes to reach the Georgia 15. Fullback Gaspar Vaccaro score on his fourth try through the lines.

Donaldson intercepted one of the Belden's tosses on his own 17 to inaugurate a Bulldog touchdown drive early in the third period. Donaldson took it across the last few yards.

Another Georgia pass interception, this time by Clayton Deavers, gave the Bulldogs the ball on their own 44. Then Trippi began connecting with his heaves, Donaldson catching the last one for the score.

Georgia's other two touchdowns came after long marches, Trippi and Rauch doing most of the pushing. Geri climaxed one drive, going over from the two, and Trippi bucked over the other.

Florida's second marker came in the final quarter as Hal Griffin and Vaccaro broke loose for successive long runs. Vaccaro took it over.

The lineups:

ASSAULT HOME FIRST IN WESTCHESTER HANDICAP

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Robert Kleberg's Assault won the mile-and-three-sixteenths Westchester Handicap in 1:56 2/5 at Jamaica racetarck today and picked up $38,600 for his owner. Backers received $5.30 for $2.

Jockey Eddie Arcado was astride the winner. Second money went to G. D. Widener's Lucky Draw, who finished three lengths behind Assault and paid $2.70 for place. Five lengths behind Lucky Draw came Can Chappell's Let's Dance, who paid $4.40 to show.

LONG RUN SAVES TECH

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 9.—(AP)—George Mathews, Georgia Tech co-captain, snatched one out of the fire today with a 95-yard gallop after a fumble-interception, with less than three minutes to play, after which the Jackets scored again to sink the Navy, 28-20.

TULANE'S GREENIES EASILY ROUT CLEMSON TIGERS, 54-13

Wave Scores Almost At Will Against Lighter Bengals Before 25,000

By Kris Keeger

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Tulane's improved Green Wave thoroughly outclassed the lighter Clemson Tigers here today, winning 54 to 13 before 25,000 spectators, the local season's smallest crowd.

Clemson, which has played some of its best football here in past years, seemed impotent throughout most of the game. The Tulanians scored often as though running through signal drills.

The Tigers flashed a passing attack which led to their two touchdowns, and kept the ball away from Tulane for a good fraction of the game. But it netted little, as pass interceptions gave Tulane two touchdowns and started a drive to another.

The Greenies mixed long runs and passes and a couple of sustained drives for their other touchdowns.

Tulane, fielding a revised lineup, scored after three minutes of play. Jim Keeton shot a flat pass to Johnny Campora who ran 50 yards down the left side line into pay dirt. Midway of the period Ed Price, a fullback who runs like a tailback, broke through left tackle and dashed 58 yards for another Wave touchdown.

Sub Halfback Marvin McCain bulled 32 yards for Tulane's next score, climaxing a 73 yard drive.

Gerald Leverman, Clemson's ace passer, took command in the second period. His tosses engineered one futile drive which carried to the Tulane eight, and another which went 52 yards to a score. Billy Rogers hit right guard for the last yard.

The Wave surged to four touchdowns in the third. Price scored the first from the seven after a 45-yard drive started with an intercepted Leverman pass. Then Cliff Van Meter passed 39 yards to Sammy Edwards, who charged ten yards to score with a tackler hanging onto him.

Dick Hoot ran 42 yards for a touchdown with another interception from Leverman, and Van Meter ran and passed the Wave 49 yards for another. He hit left guard for the final yard.

Don Fortier intercepted a pass from Hendley and ran 20 yards to the last touchdown.

Ed Heider booted six extra points for Tulane, and made another which was nullified by a penalty. Mavis Cagle made one out of two for Clemson.

Cagers Organizing For Play In Several Loops Here This Winter

Five basketball teams have filed for membership in basketball league to be sponsored here this winter by the Monroe Recreation department for boys of high school age, it was announced last night by Director Jack Hesketh.

Already lined up for action are Red Shield Club, First Baptist of West Monroe, Louisiana Training Institute, Ouachita Cubs and Spatafora's Pharmacy.

League play begins December 2 with games to be played each Monday and Thursday night through the season at Ouachita Parish High School gymnasium.

There is a possibility of the league becoming an eight-team circuit, Director Hesketh said, and any other teams desiring to participate are urged to apply to Director Hesketh at the Monroe Recreation Center. There is an age limit of 17 years on boys participating in the league.

So far the proposed midget league has drawn only two teams. The circuit, for boys 14 years old and under, has Spatafora's Pharmacy and L. T. I. ready to enter quintets. Play in this league is slated to start December 3 with all games to be played in the L. T. I. gym.

The City League, for unlimited ages, has five teams preparing to play but so far a playing gym and starting date have not been determined on. A sixth team is also being sought.

The girls' City League has three teams ready but also is undetermined on a gymnasium and starting time.

Keep electric cords in good repair, throwing away those that cannot be fixed.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Mississippi State's power-laden line and fleet back-field completely outclassed the Auburn Tigers today in a 33-0 Southeastern Conference victory. About 25,000 fans attended.

The Maroons scored in every period, and effectively throttled Auburn's star freshman, Travis Tidwell, when the chips were down.

Tidwell completed 8 of 12 passes for 87 yards, caught one pass himself good for six more, intercepted one state toss and picked up 37 yards rushing in 12 attempts.

Harper Davis, 170-pound sophomore from Clarksdale, Miss., was the kingpin of the Maroon attack. He caught passes, outwitted the outcharged Auburn forward on numerous reverses and generally was the most effective of a fine lot of backs wearing the Maroon colors. State, beaten only by Louisiana State, remained very much in the Bowl picture. Its remaining games are with Mississippi and Alabama.

Davis took a pass from Billy Murphy for the opening Maroon score, just seven minutes after the opening kickoff. Davis had set it up with a 34-yard streak down the sidelines with one of Tidwell's punts.

Wally Matulich made the next touchdown, culminating a 38-yard drive, early in the second period, driving across from the Tiger four. A third touchdown, just 10 seconds before the end of the first half, came

MONROE BULLDOGS PLAY BERNICE BEARS MONDAY

The Bulldogs of Monroe Colored High School will play the Bernice Bears in a football game here tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at Neville High School Stadium, it was announced yesterday.

Both Negro elevens are undefeated, and the local Bulldogs will be going into action with their goal line uncrossed this season.

The game was scheduled for Casino Park last Friday night, but the lights went out just as the game was supposed to get underway. All ticket holders at Casino Park Friday will be admitted to Neville Stadium upon presentation of their tickets.

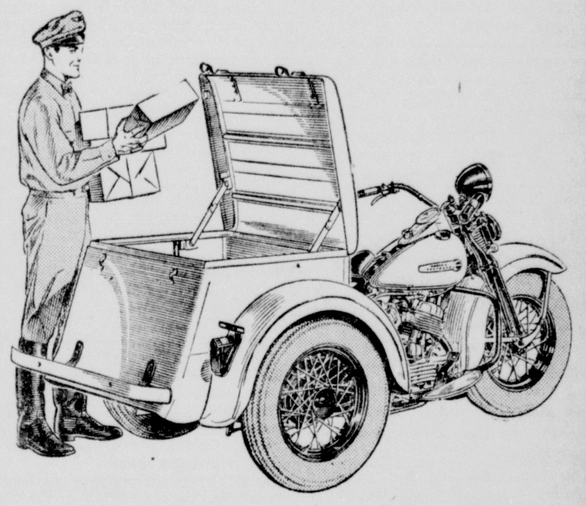

The Bulldogs, after defeating C. C. High of Shreveport at the state fair recently, have trained hard for the Bernice game and expect to strengthen their state championship hopes by downing the Bears tomorrow.

RAZORBACKS MOVE AHEAD IN SOUTHWESTERN RACE

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Arkansas' Razorbacks spilled the Rice Owls, 7-0, before a capacity turnout of 17,000 here today to take over first place in the Southwest Conference football title race.

The Razorbacks scored in the fourth quarter as reserve fullback John Hoffman intercepted on Owl pass and sprinted 32 yards to a touchdown.

reputation for Correctly TAILORED CLOTHING has followed us all the way to Frankfurt Germany

Frankfurt, Germany

Fink the Tailor, Inc.
Monroe, Louisiana

Gentlemen,

Last November your house tailored a double-breasted business suit for me. The label carries the following date and number: November 1, 1945 --No. 67128

At the present time I am in Germany as a civilian employee of the War Department. As you know, there is no way for me to procure civilian clothing over here -- and I'm getting almost threadbare.

If you still have my measurements on file, would you please tailor another suit for me? The same double-breasted style in a dark blue or oxford grey winter fabric would suit me perfectly, although I leave you completely free to exercise your own judgment as to pattern, fabric, and price.

If you can comply with my request, please let me know the price and I shall forward you a money order immediately.

Kindest personal regards to you all,

Very truly yours,

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Louisiana State University used all its power to outplay Alabama in the early stages today and then withstood a final period rally led by the great Harry Gilmer to defeat the Crimson Tide 31 to 21 before an estimated 45,000.

The once-great and still powerful Alabama squad showed flashes of last year's brilliant playing which carried the Tide to the Rose Bowl, but was stopped cold during most of the game by an alert and hard running Tiger team.

Y. A. Tittle, Louisiana State quarterback, was able to hit his receivers repeatedly, and Dan Sandifer, Tiger right half, brought the crowd to its feet twice on long runs, one on a lateral from Substitute Right End Jim Loflin which was good for 82 yards and again on a 61 yard pass from Tittle.

The "Breaks" were about evenly divided, but Louisiana State's alert brand of football kept the Crimson Tide on the defensive during most of the game.

'Bama started the scoring in the first period after Ted Cook recovered Rip Collins' fumble on the Louisiana State two. Hal Self, quarterback, went over on a quarterback sneak, and Hugh Morrow, quarterback, made the conversion from placement.

Tittle put L. S. U. back in the ball game early in the second period when he intercepted a pass from Johnny August and scampered 60 yards for a touchdown. Holly Heard missed the try for extra point but a few minutes later the Tigers took the lead when Loflin intercepted Harry Gilmer's pass and lateralled to Sandifer, who sent the rest of the 82 yards for the score to put L. S. U., in the lead 12 to 7, at the half.

The Tigers scored again on the first four plays of the third quarter, with Fullback Rip Collins galloping 32 yards for the touchdown and Heard making good his placement.

Later in the same quarter, Sandifer wrapped up the game for the Tigers with his 62 yard pass play from Tittle. Towards the end of the period Tittle connected with substitute End Mel Lyle for 27 yards, and Ray Coates went through the Alabama line for the necessary three.

The fighting Tide refused to concede an inch, however, and came back in the final period to score twice.

Jim Corbitt, 'Bama right half, recovered a fumble on State's 29 to set up one score. Fred Grant barged over from the one. Morrow again kicked the extra point from placement.

Gilmer intercepted a pass on the Alabama 40 and then opened up a brilliant passing attack of his own, which was climaxed by Self's plunge from the one. Morrow's placement was good and the game ended shortly afterwards.

Gilmer gained 70 yards from scrimmage in 17 tries and completed six passes for 93 yards. He had two passes intercepted and nine fell incomplete.

NORTHWESTERN DEMONS DOWN SOUTHERNERS, 7-6

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Northwestern Louisiana State College Demons took an early lead and held on to defeat Mississippi Southern College 7 to 6 here yesterday.

Demon Tailback Harold Rhodes sprinted 70 yards for his team's touchdown. The winning point was kicked from placement by Harold Tinsley, a guard.

The Southerners scored in the third quarter when Lewis, center, recovered a blocked Northwestern punt on the Demons 20. Mullins, left half, skirted left end and carried the pigskin to the one-yard line. Latham then hit the center of the line for the touchdown but Sims was unable to convert.

CURTIS DEFENDS CROWN AGAINST MEXICAN CHAMP

Bobby Segura Gets Shot At World's Light-Heavy Title Wednesday

Jack Curtis, world's light heavyweight wrestling champion, will defend his crown here Wednesday night against the challenge of Bobby Segura, light-heavy champ of Mexico and considered a versatile opponent for the Mississippi titlist, it was announced last night by Promoter Gus Kallio.

Kallio, expecting a big turnout of customers for the Curtis-Segura scramble, said the advanced sale of tickets would begin tomorrow and continue until his Walnut street arena opens Wednesday evening.

Curtis, a three-time holder of the belt, is one of the most popular wrestlers to appear here in several years as far as Kallio's customers are concerned, and they'll be 'pulling' for him against the tough Mexican bruiser.

The semi-final event on the program beginning at 8 o'clock will mark the return here of Roland Meeker, former Shreveport policeman and once a challenger for the Louisiana heavyweight wrestling championship.

Meeker, who last appeared in Monroe over a year ago in a battle with Al Lovelock, Philadelphia, Pa., for the state crown held at that time by the quaker star, will be paired against Francisco Aguaya, another Mexican, for his Wednesday scramble.

Meeker won favor with local mat followers in his previous bouts here, and Kallio said it was chiefly at the request of some fans who had expressed a desire to see the Shreveport warrior in action again that he had taken steps to get him the match here this week.

The Curtis-Segura feature will have a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win, and the semi-final will have an hour time limit, also two falls to win.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—It took the terrific pressure generated by this year's Army-Notre Dame game to get Red Blaik to admit his great Cadet team never was under real pressure last year . . . The Army coach claims that the boys weren't extended even by Michigan and Navy in what were supposed to be the season's tough games . . . But Red also claims Notre Dame hasn't been extended this year . . . When Navy was pushing the Irish around near the goal line, Blaik looked over at Frank Leahy. And there was Frank, leaning back and looking unperturbed, not even reaching for the telephone to his spotters . . . "He didn't seem a bit worried," says Red, "and Navy didn't score."

The Pencil-In Treatment

Jim Tyree, Oklahoma U. end who has a busted hand, got a promise from the doctor this week that he'd remove the cast from Jim's flipper and, if it had healed sufficiently, replace it with another so Tyree could play against Kansas today . . . "I think I'll have them put a pencil in it this time," Jim commented. "My wife has had to write all my lessons for me since I broke my hand."

Dots All, Brothers

Loudest booing heard on the Notre Dame campus in years came at the rally the other night when a New York writer admitted: "I pick Army." . . . Incidentally, the season isn't over after today's big game. Notre Dame still has to play Northwestern, Tulane and Southern California and Army has dates with Penn and Navy.

Touchdowns Plentiful Everywhere Saturday Except In Army-Irish Tilt

Arkansas Upsets Rice; Conference Title Races Thrown Wide Open

By Harold Claassen

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Army and Notre Dame battled to a scoreless tie today in the football game that meant so much to both but on other fields the scoring was plentiful as the Collegians swung into the final four weeks of the campaign with an array of titles just over the horizon.

Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, Army's tornadic touchdown twins of a 25-game winning streak, were held in check as Cadet Arnold Tucker shared the limelight with Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack in a game that provided every thrill but that of a score. After the fray some 74,000 pairs of tip-toes were weak from having been stood on all afternoon.

The script for the New York Yankee Stadium battle called for a high scoring fray. But it wasn't followed. Neither was it followed in determining the winners in numerous other games.

Rice, the team that only recently made a myth of Texas' invincibility, became a cropper to Arkansas, 7 to 0, with the winner promptly moving to the Southwest Conference throne. Oklahoma, ready and willing to wear the Big Six crown, was deflated by Kansas, 16 to 13, on a last-period, 40-yard field goal.

Indiana breathed new life into the Big Nine championship race by dealing Northwestern its second straight defeat, 7 to 6. Iowa moved into a fourth place tie with the Hoosiers by upsetting Wisconsin, 21 to 7, and Minnesota pasted Purdue, 13 to 7.

Princeton, which last week upended Pennsylvania, bowed to Virginia, 20 to 6. The Quakers, who humbled Columbia, 41 to 6, today, previously had downed Virginia, 40 to 0. Cornell was bumped by Syracuse, 14 to 7, in a startling reversal of form and Duke mastered Wake Forest, 13 to 0 in a game most experts thought would go the other way.

Georgia sputtered the first half but got on an even keel in the last half to down Florida, 33 to 14, and Louisiana State pushed to a 31 to 21 over Alabama when two of the great Harry Gilmer's passes were intercepted and nine fell incomplete.

Navy, gradually growing more powerful every Saturday, gave Georgia Tech a rugged afternoon before weakening in the fourth stanza and letting the Southerners pull out a 28 to 20 victory. U. C. L. A. was extended all the way by Oregon with the likely Rose Bowl team finally winning, 14 to 0.

Both Texas and Texas A. and M. stayed in the Southwest Conference race, the Longhorns with a 22 to 7 triumph over Baylor and the latter by blanking Southern Methodist, 14 to 0.

Tulsa came from behind to annex the Missouri Valley title in a 20 to 18 contest with Oklahoma A. and M. that was played in the rain.

Tennessee kept pace with Georgia in the Southeast circuit by defeating Mississippi, 18 to 14, all the Vols' touchdowns coming on passes thrown by J. R. Proctor to Jim Powell. Mississippi State had no difficulty with Auburn, 33 to 0. Kentucky stepped outside the family to belt Marquette, 35 to 7, and Tulane drubbed Clemson, 54 to 13, in a similar non-conference affair.

North Carolina pulled William and Mary from the top rung of the Southern Conference with a 21 to 7 verdict, the South Carolina Gamecocks moving up front on the strength of their shellacking of the hapless Maryland outfit by the same score.

Both Denver and Utah turned in victories in the Big Seven race with the Coloradoans, besting Wyoming, 19 to 6, and the Utes trimming Colorado A. and M., 13 to 0. Utah State's title hopes, however, were blasted in a scoreless tie with Brigham Young.

Fumbles sent Stanford reeling to a 21 to 15 setback by Washington and the Southern California Trojans kept right on the Uclan heels with a 14 to 0 contest of California.

Yale turned Levi Jackson loose in a 49 to 0 walkover at Brown's expense and Harvard stayed atop the Ivy loop with a hard-earned 21 to 7 decision over Dartmouth. Holy Cross downed Colgate, 21 to 6, and Boston College, now ranked among the east's best, had to hurry for a 20 to 13 squeeze past Georgetown. Little Delaware posted its 28th game without a defeat in its record book by downing Bucknell, 27 to 14.

MINIATURE RACERS IN ACTION TODAY

Local Enthusiasts Run Against Shreveport Card At Lakeside

With new members and new cars being added to strengthen the Louisiana Miniature Race Car Club in Monroe, the local miniature speedsters will compete against Shreveport miniature racers here this afternoon at the local "speedway" at the old Lakeside Country Club, it was announced last night by F. J. 'Fran" Brennan, secretary of the local organization.

The regular Sunday afternoon exhibitions at Lakeside have been attracting several hundred spectators, but today's show is expected to prove the biggest since the miniature racers opened their track here several weeks ago.

At a meeting of the club here Thursday night plans were completed for the New Years' day miniature auto classic here, and the event, which is attracting miniature racers from throughout the nation, is expected by the sponsors to become an annual event here. It was also announced that the finishing touches, including a timer and public address system, would be completed at the track here by next Sunday.

The Louisiana Miniature Race Club charges no admission to persons attending its events, being a non-profit organization set up entirely for recreation, but it does offer an opportunity for its spectators to contribute to worthy causes. A coin box will be set up at the track each Sunday and all money contributed without solicitation during this month is to be contributed to the crippled children's cause. Brennan said, and donations during December are being pledged to the Goodfellows' Fund for underprivileged at Christmas time.

The local club is also planning to conduct one class weekly for the benefit of novice racers to teach them the mechanical fundamentals of construction of the little racing machines. There will be no charge for the classes and all facilities of a well-equipped shop will be at their disposal. The purpose of these classes is to help anyone interested in becoming a miniature racing "bug" but the Monroe club is especially interested in attracting the 'teen-aged element into its organization.

FOSTER MOTHER OF MRS. BERNIE MOORE IS DEAD

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Bernie Moore watched his Louisiana State football team score an unexpected 31 to 21 victory over Alabama today, then prepared to leave at once for Tennessee to attend the funeral of his wife's foster mother.

Miss Lizzie Clark, an aunt who reared Mrs. Moore, who lived for 14 years with Coach and Mrs Moore, died last night.

Moore tried to keep the news from his players until after the game, but word leaked out earlier

"They're the most spirited players I ever coached," Moore remarked after the game.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Underdog Mississippi outscrapped and outscored powered Tennessee for 59 1 2 stirring minutes today but bowed to superior numbers and a last gasp pass, 18 to 14, in a Southeastern Conference game played before 25,000.

Mississippi's stout forwards choked off the power of Bob Neyland's two first-string machines and it remained for a lowly third stringer, J. B. Proctor, to deliver the blow that broke the Rebels' wearying backs.

Proctor lobbed a soaring 24-yard pass to Jim Powell, sub end, in the end zone with only 20 seconds to play to pull the hard-fought game out of the fire for the Volunteers.

Until then it was all Mississippi with Coach Red Drew's inspired forwards pushing the vaunted Orange line back on its heels and Charley Conerly, the long-legged Ole Miss triple-threat, giving a performance of dead-eye passing, running and kicking that will not soon be forgotten here.

Mississippi racked up 18 first downs to seven for Tennessee and outgained the Vols on the ground, 204 yards to 66. Despite Conerly's fine passing, the Vols had an edge in the air, 185 yards to 131.

It was the second straight week that Ole Miss had led a heavy favored foe through three periods only to wilt under the pressure of more men and greater staying power. The Rebels bowed to Louisiana State last week, 34 to 21.

All three of Tennessee's scores came on passes, Proctor to Powell.

Conerly set up and personally scored both of Mississippi's touchdowns, one in the second period and another in the third. And his battery mate, big End Ray Poole, kicked the two extra points that looked mighty good until the Vols' late kayo punch.

The first Ole Miss score culminated a 70-yard march and the second on an 80-yard drive, Conerly tallying both on brief line plunges.

Where Tennessee's first string field generals, Walt Slater and Bob Lund failed, scrub tailback Proctor succeeded.

Proctor threw a pass, good for 66 yards, to End Jim Powell that gave Tennessee its first touchdown in the third period. He set up the second, in the same stanza, with a scintillating 77-yard kickoff return and iced it with a 23-yard toss to Jim Powell.

That gave Mississippi a 14-12 lead going into the final period.

In the fourth period Mississippi stood off one threat when the Vols marched to the 12-yard line but the clock didn't move as fast as Proctor's arm. Proctor put the ball neatly in Powell's hands over the goal line and that was it.

RUMORED BRYANT HEADED FOR JOB AS 'BAMA COACH

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Authoritative Southern football sources, in New York for the Army-Notre Dame game, reported tonight that Paul (Bear) Bryant, grid coach at the University of Kentucky, is likely to succeed Frank Thomas as coach at Alabama by the beginning of 1947 season, if not before.

It is known that Thomas, who has been in ill health for several months, is planning to retire. The Southern sources said Thomas had told friends that his physician advised him he must give up his job this year.

NEVILLE MEETS ARCADIA FRIDAY

Tigers In Last Home Stand Of Season Against Strong Hornet Eleven

The Neville High School Tigers, appearing in their last home game of the season, will meet the strong Arcadia Hornets, Class B title contenders, here Friday night at Neville Stadium in another game in which the Bengals will be the less favored team.

Coach Bill Ruple's Bengals, beaten Friday night by Coach Devon Payne's Tallulah Trojans at Tallulah, 26 to 0, have a tough job on their hands this week, the Tiger mentor last night said he was calling off practice sessions for tomorrow and Tuesday.

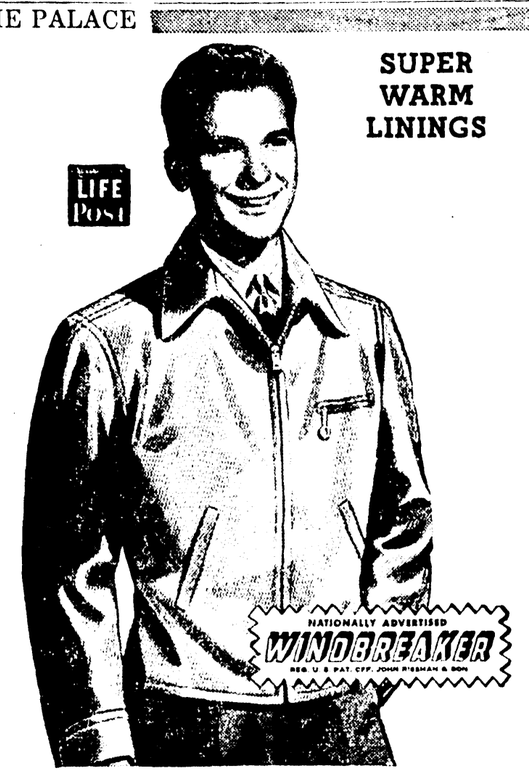

"The kids hustled and tried against Tallulah but couldn't take advantage of the breaks when they had them," Ruple said. "I think the rest Monday and Tuesday will help them. I don't believe they can do any worse for I know they are training and in good condition."

Arcadia, coached by Emmett Cope with the assistance of Billy Davis, includes among its victims this season the Jonesboro-Hodge Tigers and the Winnfield Tigers, a pair of Class A opponents. The Hornets stopped J-H, 6-0, and tripped Winnfield, 7-6. Both Jonesboro and Winnfield trounced Neville.

Commenting on the Tallulah game Friday night, Coach Ruple declared: "We were beaten by a good club in Tallulah. Bill Jones was the fastest

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Louisiana State University used all its power to outplay Alabama in the early stages today and then withstood a final period rally led by the great Harry Gilmer to defeat the Crimson Tide 31 to 21 before an estimated 45,000.

The once-great and still powerful Alabama squad showed flashes of last year's brilliant playing which carried the Tide to the Rose Bowl, but was stopped cold during most of the game by an alert and hard running Tiger team.

Y. A. Tittle, Louisiana State quarterback, was able to hit his receivers repeatedly, and Dan Sandifer, Tiger right half, brought the crowd to its feet twice on long runs, one on a lateral from Substitute Right End Jim Loflin which was good for 82 yards and again on a 61 yard pass from Tittle.

The "Breaks" were about evenly divided, but Louisiana State's alert brand of football kept the Crimson Tide on the defensive during most of the game.

'Bama started the scoring in the first period after Ted Cook recovered Rip Collins' fumble on the Louisiana State two. Hal Self, quarterback, went over on a quarterback sneak, and Hugh Morrow, quarterback, made the conversion from placement.

Tittle put L. S. U. back in the ball game early in the second period when he intercepted a pass from Johnny August and scampered 60 yards for a touchdown. Holly Heard missed the try for extra point but a few minutes later the Tigers took the lead when Loflin intercepted Harry Gilmer's pass and lateralled to Sandifer, who sent the rest of the 82 yards for the score to put L. S. U., in the lead 12 to 7, at the half.

The Tigers scored again on the first four plays of the third quarter, with Fullback Rip Collins galloping 32 yards for the touchdown and Heard making good his placement.

Later in the same quarter, Sandifer wrapped up the game for the Tigers with his 62 yard pass play from Tittle. Towards the end of the period Tittle connected with substitute End Mel Lyle for 27 yards, and Ray Coates went through the Alabama line for the necessary three.

The fighting Tide refused to concede an inch, however, and came back in the final period to score twice.

Jim Corbitt, 'Bama right half, recovered a fumble on State's 29 to set up one score, Fred Grant barged over from the one. Morrow again kicked the extra point from placement.

Gilmer intercepted a pass on the Alabama 40 and then opened up a brilliant passing attack of his own, which was climaxed by Self's plunge from the one. Morrow's placement was good and the game ended shortly afterwards.

Gilmer gained 70 yards from scrimmage in 17 tries and completed six passes for 93 yards. He had two passes intercepted and nine fell incomplete.

NORTHWESTERN DEMONS DOWN SOUTHERNERS, 7-6

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Northwestern Louisiana State College Demons took an early lead and held on to defeat Mississippi Southern College 7 to 6 here yesterday.

Demon Tailback Harold Rhodes sprinted 70 yards for his team's touchdown. The winning point was kicked from placement by Harold Tinsley, a guard.

CURTIS DEFENDS CROWN AGAINST MEXICAN CHAMP

Bobby Segura Gets Shot At World's Light-Heavy Title Wednesday

Jack Curtis, world's light heavyweight wrestling champion, will defend his crown here Wednesday night against the challenge of Bobby Segura, light-heavy champ of Mexico and considered a versatile opponent for the Mississippi titlist, it was announced last night by Promoter Gus Kallio.

Kallio, expecting a big turnout of customers for the Curtis-Segura scramble, said the advanced sale of tickets would begin tomorrow and continue until his Walnut street arena opens Wednesday evening.

Curtis, a three-time holder of the belt, is one of the most popular wrestlers to appear here in several years as far as Kallio's customers are concerned, and they'll be 'pulling' for him against the tough Mexican bruiser.

The semi-final event on the program beginning at 8 o'clock will mark the return here of Roland Meeker, former Shreveport policeman and once a challenger for the Louisiana heavyweight wrestling championship.

Meeker, who last appeared in Monroe over a year ago in a battle with Al Lovelock, Philadelphia, Pa., for the state crown held at that time by the quaker star, will be paired against Francisco Aguaya, another Mexican, for his Wednesday scramble.

Meeker won favor with local mat followers in his previous bouts here, and Kallio said it was chiefly at the request of some fans who had expressed a desire to see the Shreveport warrior in action again that he had taken steps to get him the match here this week.

The Curtis-Segura feature will have a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win, and the semi-final will have an hour time limit, also two falls to win.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—It took the terrific pressure generated by this year's Army-Notre Dame game to get Red Blaik to admit his great Cadet team never was under real pressure last year . . . The Army coach claims that the boys weren't extended even by Michigan and Navy in what were supposed to be the season's tough games . . . But Red also claims Notre Dame hasn't been extended this year . . . When Navy was pushing the Irish around near the goal line, Blaik looked over at Frank Leahy. And there was Frank, leaning back and looking unperturbed, not even reaching for the telephone to his spotters . . . "He didn't seem a bit worried," says Red, "and Navy didn't score."

The Pencil-In Treatment

Jim Tyree, Oklahoma U. end who has a busted hand, got a promise from the doctor this week that he'd remove the cast from Jim's flipper and, if it had healed sufficiently, replace it with another so Tyree could play against Kansas today . . . "I think I'll have them put a pencil in it this time," Jim commented. "My wife has had to write all my lessons for me since I broke my hand."

Dots All, Brothers

Loudest booing heard on the Notre Dame campus in years came at the rally the other night when a New York writer admitted: "I pick Army." . . . Incidentally, the season isn't over after today's big game. Notre Dame still has to play Northwestern, Tulane and Southern California and Army has dates with Penn and Navy.

Touchdowns Plentiful Everywhere Saturday Except In Army-Irish Tilt

Arkansas Upsets Rice; Conference Title Races Thrown Wide Open

By Harold Claassen

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Army and Notre Dame battled to a scoreless tie today in the football game that meant so much to both but on other fields the scoring was plentiful as the Collegians swung into the final four weeks of the campaign with an array of titles just over the horizon.

Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, Army's tornadic touchdown twins of a 25-game winning streak, were held in check as Cadet Arnold Tucker shared the limelight with Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack in a game that provided every thrill but that of a score. After the fray some 74,000 pairs of tip-toes were weak from having been stood on all afternoon.

The script for the New York Yankee Stadium battle called for a high scoring fray. But it wasn't followed. Neither was it followed in determining the winners in numerous other games.

Rice, the team that only recently made a myth of Texas' invincibility, became a cropper to Arkansas, 7 to 0, with the winner promptly moving to the Southwest Conference throne. Oklahoma, ready and willing to wear the Big Six crown, was deflated by Kansas, 16 to 13, on a last-period, 40-yard field goal.

Indiana breathed new life into the Big Nine championship race by dealing Northwestern its second straight defeat, 7 to 6. Iowa moved into a fourth place tie with the Hoosiers by upsetting Wisconsin, 21 to 7, and Minnesota pasted Purdue, 13 to 7.

Princeton, which last week upended Pennsylvania, bowed to Virginia, 20 to 6. The Quakers, who humbled Columbia, 41 to 6, today, previously had downed Virginia, 40 to 0. Cornell was bumped by Syracuse, 14 to 7, in a startling reversal of form and Duke mastered Wake Forest, 13 to 0 in a game most experts thought would go the other way.

Georgia sputtered the first half but got on an even keel in the last half to down Florida, 33 to 14, and Louisiana State pushed to a 31 to 21 over Alabama when two of the great Harry Gilmer's passes were intercepted and nine fell incomplete.

Navy, gradually growing more powerful every Saturday, gave Georgia Tech a rugged afternoon before weakening in the fourth stanza and letting the Southerners pull out a 28 to 20 victory. U. C. L. A. was extended all the way by Oregon with the likely Rose Bowl team finally winning, 14 to 0.

Both Texas and Texas A. and M. stayed in the Southwest Conference race, the Longhorns with a 22 to 7 triumph over Baylor and the latter by blanking Southern Methodist, 14 to 0.

Tulsa came from behind to annex the Missouri Valley title in a 20 to 18 contest with Oklahoma A. and M. that was played in the rain.

Tennessee kept pace with Georgia in the Southeast circuit by defeating Mississippi, 18 to 14, all the Vols' touchdowns coming on passes thrown by J. R. Proctor to Jim Powell. Mississippi State had no difficulty with Auburn, 33 to 0. Kentucky stepped outside the family to belt Marquette, 35 to 7, and Tulane drubbed Clemson, 54 to 13, in a similar non-conference affair.

North Carolina pulled William and Mary from the top rung of the Southern Conference with a 21 to 7 verdict, the South Carolina Gamecocks moving up front on the strength of their shellacking of the hapless Maryland outfit by the same score.

Both Denver and Utah turned in victories in the Big Seven race with the Coloradoans, besting Wyoming, 19 to 6, and the Utes trimming Colorado A. and M., 13 to 0. Utah State's title hopes, however, were blasted in a scoreless tie with Brigham Young.

Fumbles sent Stanford reeling to a 21 to 15 setback by Washington and the Southern California Trojans kept right on the Uclan heels with a 14 to 0 contest of California.

Yale turned Levi Jackson loose in a 49 to 0 walkover at Brown's expense and Harvard stayed atop the Ivy loop with a hard-earned 21 to 7 decision over Dartmouth. Holy Cross downed Colgate, 21 to 6, and Boston College, now ranked among the east's best, had to hurry for a 20 to 13 squeeze past Georgetown. Little Delaware posted its 28th game without a defeat in its record book by downing Bucknell, 27 to 14.

MINIATURE RACERS IN ACTION TODAY

Local Enthusiasts Run Against Shreveport Card At Lakeside

With new members and new cars being added to strengthen the Louisiana Miniature Race Car Club in Monroe, the local miniature speedsters will compete against Shreveport miniature racers here this afternoon at the local "speedway" at the old Lakeside Country Club, it was announced last night by F. J. 'Fran" Brennan, secretary of the local organization.

The regular Sunday afternoon exhibitions at Lakeside have been attracting several hundred spectators, but today's show is expected to prove the biggest since the miniature racers opened their track here several weeks ago.

At a meeting of the club here Thursday night plans were completed for the New Years' day miniature auto classic here, and the event, which is attracting miniature racers from throughout the nation, is expected by the sponsors to become an annual event here. It was also announced that the finishing touches, including a timer and public address system, would be completed at the track here by next Sunday.

The Louisiana Miniature Race Club charges no admission to persons attending its events, being a non-profit organization set up entirely for recreation, but it does offer an opportunity for its spectators to contribute to worthy causes. A coin box will be set up at the track each Sunday and all money contributed without solicitation during this month is to be contributed to the crippled children's cause. Brennan said, and donations during December are being pledged to the Goodfellows' Fund for underprivileged at Christmas time.

The local club is also planning to conduct one class weekly for the benefit of novice racers to teach them the mechanical fundamentals of construction of the little racing machines. There will be no charge for the classes and all facilities of a well-equipped shop will be at their disposal. The purpose of these classes is to help anyone interested in becoming a miniature racing "bug" but the Monroe club is especially interested in attracting the 'teen-aged element into its organization.

S'EASTERN LIONS WHIP TECH, 22-14

RUSTON, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Southeastern Louisiana College came out on top of the Louisiana Intercollegiate Conference by defeating Louisiana Tech 22 to 14 here tonight.

At the end of the half Tech was leading 7 to 0 by virtue of Pearce Didier's score on a running play and Joe Michael's successful place kick. A downpour in the first quarter left the field slippery.

Al Romboli, Southeastern back, opened the second half by running 95 yards from kickoff for a touchdown. Bill Parnell missed the extra point try.

A third took the ball to Tech's 12, and shortly after Underwood of Southeastern went over on a pass play from Simmons. Parnell made a successful kick.

In the fourth Louis Romboli ran 25 yards to a touchdown, after which Parnell kicked the extra point. Raymond Peace, Tech quarterback, was tackled behind his own goal line, giving Southeastern 2 points for a safety.

The final score was by Tech's Didier, who caught a punt and ran 20 yards across the goal line. Michael's kick was successful.

IRISH

and again, had the ball in the Greenbacks' territory and was trying desperately to score by the aerial route.

The big ball-luggers from Indiana, led by Gerry Cowhig a 211-pounder who struck with the power of an express train, and Terry Brennan, a shifty 18-year-old, chalked up 173 yards by rushing, compared to Army's 138.

Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame's All-America quarterback candidate, attempted 17 passes and completed five of them for 52 yards. Tucker, his rival for national recognition, and Davis shot 16 toward hopeful receivers, and four of them connected for an identical 52 yards.

Notre Dame ground out 11 first downs to Army's 9, four of them in the course of its abortive 51-yard drive in the second quarter, which barely failed when Bill Gompers, a substitute halfback, was driven out of bounds only three yards from the Army goal line on fourth down.

As Notre Dame was deadly intent upon stopping Davis and Blanchard, it was Tucker who had an opportunity to show his mettle. Army's signal-caller got off several of the game's most electrifying runs, including a 30-yard dash from scrimmage just as the first half ended, and a 32-yard punt return that set off a Cadet march to Notre Dame's 20 in the third quarter.

Tucker was out of the fray for two plays late in the last period, and Lujack for only a similar short period. The tussle between the pair for honors at their position could have been called a draw, though Tucker's figures looked better.

Army threatened first in the tense debate, when Emil (Red) Sitko of Notre Dame fumbled midway of the opening period and Goble Bryant recovered on the Irish 24. This died aborning, as previously told, when Blanchard couldn't quite hack out a first down inside the Irish 15. Notre Dame in the opening stanza couldn't get past midfield.

Then, soon after the second quarter opened, Notre Dame started rolling. From their own 13, with Cowhig and Gompers smashing for repeated gains, interspersed by a 25-yard aerial from Lujack to Bob Skoglund, the Irish swept through the Cadets like they owned them—right down to the Army three.

That, as it turned out was the Notre Dame high-water mark. Never again did they exhibit the crushing power which had been attributed to them.

Never again did the Irish really threaten. In the third period they had the ball on Army's 32 after John Mastrangelo recovered a fumble by Rip Rowan. Again in the fourth they penetrated to the Cadet 42 after End Jim Martin fell upon another errant ball. But each time the West Pointers rose and held.

Army, on the other hand, kept shooting for a score. Early in the second quarter the Mules drove to the Notre Dame 23 on a long pass from Davis to Blanchard. Again in the same period they recovered a fumble by Brennan on the Irish 35. But each time Notre Dame's forwards moved in and smothered every attempt by Tucker and Davis to pass for a score.

Tucker brought the 2,500 members of the Cadet corps to their feet in the third period when he intercepted a Lujack aerial and whisked it back 32 yards to his own 42. Blanchard, freed for the first time of his hobbles, then blasted around his left for 21 and a first down on the Notre Dame 37.

Davis and Blanchard smacked for four in two tries, and Tucker followed smoothly with a throw to Hank Foldberg for a first down on the Notre Dame 20. There the Cadets went for the jackpot Davis faded and shot a pass toward the goal posts, and it was gathered in by Notre Dame's young Terry Brennan. The Cadet corps sat down.

The last chance either team had to break the deadlock came midway of the last period, when Lujack got off a poor kick from his goal line and Davis darted it back from midfield to the Notre Dame 39. Tucker, still hoping for that pay-off pass, dropped back looking for a receiver and took too long. The ball was knocked from his hand and Notre Dame recovered. And from there on a tie was in the books.

CHOCTAWS ROUT LA. COLLEGE, 32-0

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Mississippi College's Choctaws rolled up a 32 to 0 victory over the Louisiana College Wildcats here tonight, scoring all five of their touchdowns in the first half.

Wendell Webb ripped six yards off right tackle to make the first tally and Howard Green got loose through the left side of the line and raced 37 yards to score in the second as the first quarter ended, 12-0.

Three more came in the second period. Webb went over on a reverse from the 10, Clyde Howard returned a punt 75 yards to make the next and Pete Evans reeled off 11 yards around right end for the fifth and last. Jack Bryan kicked two extra points.

The Choctaws gained 225 yards. The Mississippians led in first downs, 11 to 7. The Cats attempted 13 passes, completing three for 56 yards with three intercepted. The Choctaws threw a dozen, completing two for 27 yards.

on a seven-yard fourth down gain by Kenneth Davis on an end around.

Harper Davis and Billy Murphy paced a 63-yard drive in the third period for the fourth Maroon score. Davis got the final 11 yards on an off-tackle slash in which he whirled out of the arms of a host of Auburn tacklers.

W. W. (Sonny) Jones, sophomore from Philadelphia, Miss., dominated State's offensive efforts in the final period. He made the final Maroon touchdown on a nine-yard run around his right end. Teddy Shuff converted for his third successful try in five attempts.

Tidwell and Fullback Leon (Bull) Cochran, former teammates at Birmingham's Woodlawn High, were the big guns in Auburn's two scoring threats. The first went to State's 5, but Cochran was stopped on fourth down, and the next ended at the State 29, when Tidwell picked up only two of the four yards needed for first down.

State picked up 323 yards rushing to 102 for Auburn, and netted 74 yards passing to 93 for the Tigers.

54 IS UNLUCKY NUMBER FOR CLEMSON'S TIGERS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Tulane's Green Wave didn't quite achieve the football ideal of a "point-a-minute" team in its game with Clemson today, but it was both a "point-a-play" and a "point-a-player" club.

The Wave ran 54 plays and used 54 men in beating Clemson 54 to 13.

Four hundred persons lost their lives, 600,000 were made homeless, and property damage of more than $200,000,000 was caused in the 1927 Mississippi flood.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Strength of copper stocks spread to other sections of today's market and, with scattered exceptions, gains for favorites ranged from fractions to 4 points or so.

Buying of the metals was based mainly on expectations of higher prices with controls being quickly eliminated. The present spread between copper ceilings and foreign quotations is about three cents a pound.

Brokers attributed the brighter market picture partly to hopes for constructive legislation by the new Republican congress on taxes and budgetary cuts. Another lift in cotton futures propped sentiment.

Dealings, quiet at the start, picked up some activity when the metal group began to bulge. There were subsequent slowdowns. Early declines were erased in most cases and the plus column was widely populated near the close. Transfers were in the vicinity of 500,000 shares.

Bonds were narrow and grains lower.

SPOT COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady $2.25 a bale higher today. Sales 1,321. Low middling 24.85, middling 30.25, good middling 30.65, receipts 7,943. Stock 208,644.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15/16ths-inch cotton today at ten designated southern spot markets was $2.40 a bale higher at 30.39 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 34.25; middling 7/8ths-inch average 26.88.

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Textile mill buying and a lack of hedging were instrumental in boosting cotton futures more than $4 a bale today. Some of the demand was based on technical considerations following the recent break. Dealers commented that there was a strong demand for spot cotton in the south which also contributed to the advance.

Futures closed unchanged to $2.50 a bale higher than the previous close.

back we have met this year and his passing was also good.

"Noel Wilkins was the most powerful of the Trojan backs. He was a star at Tallulah in '42, '43, and '44 before entering the navy. He's back now better than ever, and he was punting 60 yards on every kick against us.

"If Billy Kellar was all-state last year then he's better than all-state this year. Kellar's play at end gave us trouble all night. He's the best end we've met so far.

"The only outstanding boys, if any, for us were George Harlow at fullback and Ronald Gunter and Buster Stevens at guards. Harlow really hit his stride for the first time and made several nice runs. Gunter and Stevens kept the score from being any heavier against us."

S'EASTERN LIONS WHIP TECH, 22-14

RUSTON, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Southeastern Louisiana College came out on top of the Louisiana Intercollegiate Conference by defeating Louisiana Tech 22 to 14 here tonight.

At the end of the half Tech was leading 7 to 0 by virtue of Pearce Didier's score on a running play and Joe Michael's successful place kick. A downpour in the first quarter left the field slippery.

Al Romboli, Southeastern back, opened the second half by running 95 yards from kickoff for a touchdown. Bill Parnell missed the extra point try.

A third took the ball to Tech's 12, and shortly after Underwood of Southeastern went over on a pass play from Simmons. Parnell made a successful kick.

In the fourth Louis Romboli ran 25 yards to a touchdown, after which Parnell kicked the extra point. Raymond Peace, Tech quarterback, was tackled behind his own goal line, giving Southeastern 2 points for a safety.

The final score was by Tech's Didier, who caught a punt and ran 20 yards across the goal line. Michael's kick was successful.

IRISH

and again, had the ball in the Greenbacks' territory and was trying desperately to score by the aerial route.

The big ball-luggers from Indiana, led by Gerry Cowhig a 211-pounder who struck with the power of an express train, and Terry Brennan, a shifty 18-year-old, chalked up 173 yards by rushing, compared to Army's 138.

Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame's All-America quarterback candidate, attempted 17 passes and completed five of them for 52 yards. Tucker, his rival for national recognition, and Davis shot 16 toward hopeful receivers, and four of them connected for an identical 52 yards.

Notre Dame ground out 11 first downs to Army's 9, four of them in the course of its abortive 34-yard drive in the second quarter, which barely failed when Bill Gompers, a substitute halfback, was driven out of bounds only three yards from the Army goal line on fourth down.

As Notre Dame was deadly intent upon stopping Davis and Blanchard, it was Tucker who had an opportunity to show his mettle. Army's signal-caller got off several of the game's most electrifying runs, including a 30-yard dash from scrimmage just as the first half ended, and a 32-yard punt return that set off a Cadet march to Notre Dame's 20 in the third quarter.

Tucker was out of the fray for two plays late in the last period, and Lujack for only a similar short period. The tussle between the pair for honors at their position could have been called a draw, though Tucker's figures looked better.

Army threatened first in the tense debate, when Emil (Red) Sitko of Notre Dame fumbled midway of the opening period and Goble Bryant recovered on the Irish 24. This died aborning, as previously told, when Blanchard couldn't quite hack out a first down inside the Irish 15. Notre Dame in the opening stanza couldn't get past midfield.

Then, soon after the second quarter opened, Notre Dame started rolling. From their own 13, with Cowhig and Gompers smashing for repeated gains, interspersed by a 25-yard aerial from Lujack to Bob Skoglund, the Irish swept through the Cadets like they owned them—right down to the Army three.

That, as it turned out was the Notre Dame high-water mark. Never again did they exhibit the crushing power which had keen attributed to them.

Never again did the Irish really threaten. In the third period they had the ball on Army's 32 after John Mastrangelo recovered a fumble by Rip Rowan. Again in the fourth they penetrated to the Cadet 42 after End Jim Martin fell upon another errant ball. But each time the West Pointers rose and held.

Army, on the other hand, kept shooting for a score. Early in the second quarter the Mules drove to the Notre Dame 23 on a long pass from Davis to Blanchard. Again in the same period they recovered a fumble by Brennan on the Irish 35. But each time Notre Dame's forwards moved in and smothered every attempt by Tucker and Davis to pass for a score.

Tucker brought the 2,500 members of the Cadet corps to their feet in the third period when he intercepted a Lujack aerial and whisked it back 32 yards to his own 42. Blanchard, freed for the first time of his hobbles, then blasted around his left for 21 and a first down on the Notre Dame 37.

Davis and Blanchard smacked for four in two tries, and Tucker followed smoothly with a throw to Hank Foldberg for a first down on the Notre Dame 20. There the Cadets went for the jackpot. Davis faded and shot a pass toward the goal posts, and it was gathered in by Notre Dame's young Terry Brennan. The Cadet corps sat down.

The last chance either team had to break the deadlock came midway of the last period, when Lujack got off a poor kick from his goal line and Davis darted it back from midfield to the Notre Dame 39. Tucker, still hoping for that pay-off pass, dropped back looking for a receiver and took too long. The ball was knocked from his hand and Notre Dame recovered. And from there on a tie was in the books.

CHOCTAWS ROUT LA. COLLEGE, 32-0

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Mississippi College's Choctaws rolled up a 32 to 0 victory over the Louisiana College Wildcats here tonight, scoring all five of their touchdowns in the first half.

Wendell Webb ripped six yards off right tackle to make the first tally and Howard Green got loose through the left side of the line and raced 37 yards to score in the second as the first quarter ended, 12-0.

Three more came in the second period. Webb went over on a reverse from the 10, Clyde Howard returned a punt 75 yards to make the next and Pete Evans reeled off 11 yards around right end for the fifth and last. Jack Bryan kicked two extra points.

The Choctaws gained 225 yards. The Mississippians led in first downs, 11 to 7. The Cats attempted 13 passes, completing three for 56 yards with three intercepted. The Choctaws threw a dozen, completing two for 27 yards.

'CANES EDGE AGGIES

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Tulsa's Golden Hurricane stood off the challenge of an aroused Oklahoma A. & M. team today to defeat its intrastate foe, 20-18, and annex the Missouri Valley Conference championship before a rain-bedraggled crowd of 16,000.

on a seven-yard fourth down gain by Kenneth Davis on an end around.

Harper Davis and Billy Murphy paced a 63-yard drive in the third period for the fourth Maroon score. Davis got the final 11 yards on an off-tackle slash in which he whirled out of the arms of a host of Auburn tacklers.

W. W. (Sonny) Jones, sophomore from Philadelphia, Miss., dominated State's offensive efforts in the final period. He made the final Maroon touchdown on a nine-yard run around his right end. Teddy Shuff converted for his third successful try in five attempts.

Tidwell and Fullback Leon (Bull) Cochran, former teammates at Birmingham's Woodlawn High, were the big guns in Auburn's two scoring threats. The first went to State's 5, but Cochran was stopped on fourth down, and the next ended at the State 29, when Tidwell picked up only two of the four yards needed for first down.

State picked up 323 yards rushing to 102 for Auburn, and netted 74 yards passing to 93 for the Tigers.

54 IS UNLUCKY NUMBER FOR CLEMSON'S TIGERS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Tulane's Green Wave didn't quite achieve the football ideal of a "point-a-minute" team in its game with Clemson today, but it was both a "point-a-play" and a "point-a-player" club.

The Wave ran 54 plays and used 54 men in beating Clemson 54 to 13.

Four hundred persons lost their lives, 600,000 were made homeless, and property damage of more than $200,000,000 was caused in the 1927 Mississippi flood.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Strength of copper stocks spread to other sections of today's market and, with scattered exceptions, gains for favorites ranged from fractions to 4 points or so.

Buying of the metals was based mainly on expectations of higher prices with controls being quickly eliminated. The present spread between copper ceilings and foreign quotations is about three cents a pound.

Brokers attributed the brighter market picture partly to hopes for constructive legislation by the new Republican congress on taxes and budgetary cuts. Another lift in cotton futures propped sentiment.

Dealings, quiet at the start, picked up some activity when the metal group began to bulge. There were subsequent slowdowns. Early declines were erased in most cases and the plus column was widely populated near the close. Transfers were in the vicinity of 500,000 shares.

Bonds were narrow and grains lower.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Stocks: Higher; coppers lead advance.

Bonds: Mixed; changes narrow.

Cotton: Firm; textile mill buying.

Chicago — Wheat: Lower with feed grains.

Corn: Sharply lower; cash prices down.

Oats: Weak; cash prices lower.

Hogs: Nominally steady; quotable top $24.10.

Cattle: Nominally steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Weakness in cash markets sent grain prices lower today, nearby months of corn and oats bearing the brunt of the selling. Wheat followed the lower trend of other grains with the July contract pacing the downturn.

Wheat finished 3/4-3 cents lower, January $2.03 1/2, corn was off a cent to 3 7/8 cents, January $1.27 5/8-3/4, and oats dropped 1/2 to 3 cents.

COTTON

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Cotton futures advanced here today on holiday week-end covering and trade buying. Closing prices were steady 75 cents to $3.05 a bale higher.

SPOT COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady $2.25 a bale higher today. Sales 1,321. Low middling 24.85, middling 30.25, good middling 30.65, receipts 7,943. Stock 208,644.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15/16ths-inch cotton today at ten designated southern spot markets was $2.40 a bale higher at 30.39 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 34.25; middling 7/8ths-inch average 26.88.

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Textile mill buying and a lack of hedging were instrumental in boosting cotton futures more than $4 a bale today. Some of the demand was based on technical considerations following the recent break. Dealers commented that there was a strong demand for spot cotton in the south which also contributed to the advance.

Futures closed unchanged to $2.50 a bale higher than the previous close.

back we have met this year and his passing was also good.

"Noel Wilkins was the most powerful of the Trojan backs. He was a star at Tallulah in '42, '43, and '44 before entering the navy. He's back now better than ever, and he was punting 60 yards on every kick against us.

"If Billy Kellar was all-state last year then he's better than all-state this year. Kellar's play at end gave us trouble all night. He's the best end we've met so far.

"The only outstanding boys, if any, for us were George Harlow at fullback and Ronald Gunter and Buster Stevens at guards. Harlow really hit his stride for the first time and made several nice runs. Gunter and Stevens kept the score from being any heavier against us."

OPERATION OF STORES TAUGHT

Practical Course Given At College; Can Still Enroll

It is still possible to enroll up to Thursday night in the new night course at Northeast Junior College devoted to the management and operation of a retail store, states W. L. Perkins, director of night extension classes at the local college. The class last Thursday was large, he said and unusual interest is being shown.

He also added that GI's on the job in training are eligible to take the course.

It is the purpose of the course to bring practical guidance to those who are operating or desire to be operating small places of business. Indications are that the course will be unusually popular and a good registration seems assured, states Mr. Perkins.

Some of the subjects to be considered are "You a Factor in Retailing," "Organization of the Store," "Planning, Budgeting and Making a Profit and Loss Budget," "Your Number One Job-Selling," "The Salesman and the Manager," "Successful Selling," "Increasing and Closing Sales," "Retail Sales Systems," "Retail Advertising Plans," "Advertising That Gets Results," "Displays That Sell," "Buying Goods That Sell at a Profit."

The preceding are only a few of the practical subjects treated in the course.

Louisiana Oil And Gas News

NOW 10 PRODUCERS IN MADISON PARISH

First Well North Of I. C. Extends Delhi Field Further Eastward

Since last September 2, when it brought in Madison's first successful oil well, the Murphy-Sun Company has drilled ten proved or assured producers in that parish. The latest one, Mahoney-Railroad Unit No. 1, is two miles east of Bayou Macon and extends the Delhi field another half-mile east and it is the first oil strike north of highway 80 and the I. C. railroad.

Now is the final stages of completion, the company's Monroe office reported Saturday, the Mahoney-Railroad well encountered 20 feet of good oil at 3,330-50 feet with no further showing during the remainder of its total depth of 3,817 feet.

The company's "crooked" well Haney-Railroad Unit No. 1, which was drilled by the process known as "wimpstocking" was tested Friday and showed 43 feet of broken oil sand from 3,308 feet to its total depth of 3,36_ feet. The well is a half mile east of Bayou Macon. Its surface location is just south of the I. C. right-of-way and the bottom of the hole is 50 feet to the north, under the right-of-way. Haney, co-lessee with the I. C. company, operates a tavern on the banks of Bayou Macon along highway 80.

The Murphy-Sun holds all leases in the vicinity of its ten successful Madison parish wells. The company head, Charles H. Murphy, Jr., El Dorado, Ark., banker, drilled the discovery well, Holt No. 1, in the Delhi field in December, 1944.

An entirely new field is regarded as having been opened by the Atlas Oil Corporation's Ayer Timber Co. No. 1 wildcat in Franklin parish, 11 miles east of Winnsboro and 12 miles south of the Lamar field. Now shut in and awaiting official state conservation department test, it is expected to be a flowing distillate well from approximately 6,600 feet. Three men were killed in the collapse of the derrick at this well last Sunday.

The town of Delhi continues on its way to become one of the richest little towns in the world. It owns part of the land making up the F. L. Bryant et al-Town Unit No. 1 lease, just within the south corporate limits, where drillers were reported Saturday to have encountered 50 feet of oil sand at about 3,380 feet. The same report was received on Vaughey & Vaughey's Willis No. 1 well, a short distance south of the town limits.

H. P. WARDEN'S EFFORTS WON

Delhi's Bank Was Promoted By Him; Visioned Oil Field

DELHI, La., Nov. 9.—(Special)—In connection with our recent news item on The First National Bank of Delhi and its growth in a few short years to a two million dollar business, some mention of a man instrumental in organizing the bank might be of interest at this time.

H. P. Warden, then of Warden, and now of Delhi, was the moving spirit behind the organization of a bank for this area after the depression had left not one bank in town. Through his insistence the new bank was given the name of "The First National Bank of Delhi."

Serving as a member of the board of directors through the early years of the new bank, Mr. Warden's far-sighted faith in the future of the country and community did much toward developing a healthy growth of the bank. When, after only a few months, the first cashier died, Mr. Warden persuaded Mr. T. F. Hardy to leave Monroe and come to Delhi as cashier for the new bank. This proved to be a wise selection as Mr. Hardy has carried the bank forward with wide success.

One of the greatest contributions Mr. Warden has made to the development of Delhi, and one that he is proudest of, was to interest his friend of many years, Mr. C. H. Murphy, of El Dorado, Ark., in its possibilities. Mr. Murphy has brought large agricultural and oil developments to this part of the state, and he often says that his good friend, H. P. Warden, is responsible for his (Murphy's) becoming interested in northeast Louisiana.

Mr. Warden is a native Virginian and a gentleman of the old school. He holds an LL.B. degree from the University of Missouri. He moved to Delhi and bought extensive property here some 25 years ago. Mr. Warden, now well beyond his alloted three score years and ten, walks erectly and with a youthful stride. Over six feet tall, he is a familiar and popular figure on the streets of Delhi.

LOUISIANA VETERANS OBTAIN $2,066,735

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Louisiana veterans obtained $2,066,735 in educational benefits during October through parish service officers, the state department of veterans' affairs said today.

Other benefits paid state veterans included $144,452 for service connected disability; $78,799 for death pensions, $143,877 for insurance settlements, $833 for burial allowances and $29,961 for non-service connected disabilities.

ASKS DIVORCE FROM AUTHOR OF 'AMBER'

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9.—(AP)—"I'm not bitter, Kay and I tried very hard to make a go of it. But she wanted one thing out of life—I wanted another."

Thus did big Bob Herwig, 31, ex-football star and marine hero, describe his parting from the sultry author of "Forever Amber," Kathleen Winsor, after filing suit for divorce in which he describes them as still "man and wife."

Miss Winsor 10 days ago became the fifth wife of bandsman Artie Shaw, in a Mexican ceremony, shortly after she obtained a divorce from Herwig there.

Other quotes from the former University of California tackle, who was decorated for bravery on Okinawa:

"I would help her out of any problem."

"The first thing I knew of her marriage or interest in Shaw was when I read it in the papers."

His suit formally charged cruelty, and alleged that she "inflicted grievous mental suffering and anguish upon him."

Shaw, 36, and Miss Winsor, 28, have been in seclusion since returning here briefly following their marriage. Shaw was divorced two weeks ago by actress Ava Gardner—a decree which under California law does not become final for a year.

DELINQUENCY TO BE DISCUSSED

Dr. Beryl D. Orris, Psychiatrist, Will Consider Problem Monday

The relationship of delinquency (both juvenile and adult) to world disturbances will be discussed by Dr. Beryl D. Orris, the brilliant young American psychiatrist, who has accepted the invitation of the Monroe Town Hall to be its guest speaker at its next meeting, November 11.

His principal fields of concentration are Comparative Religion and Psychiatry in which he holds doctorates granted to him in Berlin and Vienna. He studied chiefly in the latter city, where he worked with the famous Freud, and he took additional work in London where he studied under Havelock Ellis. Both Professor Freud and Dr. Ellis were exceedingly interested in his experiments and theories concerning the combination and coordination of psychiatry and religion.

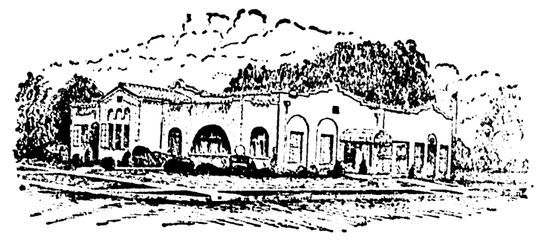

Dr. Orris, who was born in Chicago and who after his trailing in foreign fields returned to follow his profession in his native city, is brilliantly equipped to deal with the problem of preventive psychiatry, bridging the gap between adolescence and adulthood and aiding thereby in the formation of the character and life work of the individual.

A brilliant speaker, Dr. Orris, who combines a delightful sense of humor with much learning, is a great favorite on the lecture platform where his knowledge and his charm have won for him the generous acclaim of his listeners.

THANKSGIVING DATE SET

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Gov. Jimmie Davis today suggested that Thanksgiving, for which he designated Nov. 28, be observed in Louisiana this year by reading of the Scriptures. The governor also asked citizens to display the flag as "thanks to an all wise providence for the blessings of freedom, of liberty and of conscience we here enjoy."

YES MAN

My name is Vernon Adkins. I'm the "Yes" man at Personal Finance Co. . . . that is—I'm the man who likes to say "Yes" to requests for Personal loans.

You see—I'm the manager of our office—the man who's responsible for building up our business. The more times I say "yes" to requests for loans—the more business we do. And since making Personal Loans of $25 to $900 or more is our ONLY business—that's mighty important to me.

Therefore, if you need extra cash at any time—whether a little for a short time or a lot for a long time—you can depend on my doing my best to say "yes" to you.

Next time you can use a loan give me a chance to say "Yes"—won't you? I'll consider it a favor. See me at Personal Finance Co., 2nd floor, 213 Bernhardt Bldg., or phone me at 1288.

THERE SIMPLY ARE NOT ENOUGH NEW CHEVROLETS TO GO AROUND

We are getting our fair share of the current production of new Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks. And as strikes and shortages decrease, as the Chevrolet plants are able to produce more and more new passenger cars and trucks, we'll get more and more of them to deliver to our customers.

Meanwhile, as long as shortages do exist, it is our purpose to apportion our share of the new Chevrolets available fairly and justly among the many customers, new and old, whose continued friendship and patronage are the keystone of our business.

So that you may have no doubt as to our method of distribution of new Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks, we make the following—

DECLARATION OF POLICY

1. PRIORITY OF DELIVERY—New Chevrolet cars and trucks will be apportioned on the basis of: Essential public services; Veterans' occupational requirements; former customers and priority of date in placing orders.

2. PRICES—All new Chevrolet cars and trucks will be sold at the authorized prices current at time of delivery.

3. TRADE-INS—No trade-in will be required from any customer who does not have a car to dispose of at the time of the transaction. Customers who do have cars will be given allowances based on honest appraisal and fair value at the time of delivery.

4. ACCESSORIES—No customer will be asked to purchase accessories as a condition of securing delivery.

5. STATUS OF ORDERS—Customers will be informed, upon request, of the true status of their orders in our files.

6. NEW ORDERS—We welcome your order for a new Chevrolet at any time.

WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR PATIENCE AND LOYALTY IN AWAITING DELIVERY OF YOUR NEW CHEVROLET

OPERATION OF STORES TAUGHT

Practical Course Given At College; Can Still Enroll

It is still possible to enroll up to Thursday night in the new night course at Northeast Junior College devoted to the management and operation of a retail store, stated W. L. Perkins, director of night extension classes at the local college. The class last Thursday was large, he said, and unusual interest is being shown.

He also added that GI's on the job in training are eligible to take the course.

It is the purpose of the course to bring practical guidance to those who are operating or desire to be operating small places of business. Indications are that the course will be unusually popular and a record registration seems assured, states Mr. Perkins.

Some of the details to be considered are: "Your Future in Retailing;" "Organization of the Store;" "Planning, Budgeting and Making a Profit and Loss Budget;" "Your Number One Job-Selling;" "The Salesman and the Manager;" "Successful Selling;" "Increasing and Closing Sales;" "Retail Sales Systems;" "Retail Advertising Plans;" "Advertising That Gets Results;" "Displays That Sell;" "Buying Goods That Sell at a Profit."

The preceding are only a few of the practical subjects treated in the course.

First Well North Of I. C. Extends Delhi Field Further Eastward

Since last September 2, when it brought in Madison's first successful oil well, the Murphy-Sun Company has drilled ten proved or assured producers in that parish. The latest one, Mahoney-Railroad Unit No. 1, is two miles east of Bayou Macon and extends the Delhi field another half-mile east and it is the first oil strike north of highway 80 and the I. C. railroad.

Now is the final stages of completion, the company's Monroe office reported Saturday, the Mahoney-Railroad well encountered 20 feet of good oil at 3,330-50 feet, with no further showing during the remainder of its total depth of 3,877 feet.

The company's "crooked" well, Haney-Railroad Unit No. 1, which was drilled by the process known as "whipstocking," was tested Friday and showed 43 feet of broken oil sand from 3,308 feet to its total depth of 3,363 feet. The well is a half mile east of Bayou Macon. Its surface location is just south of the I. C. right-of-way and the bottom of the hole is 60 feet to the north, under the right-of-way. Haney, co-leasee with the I. C. company, operates a tavern on the banks of Bayou Macon along highway 80.

The Murphy-Sun holds all leases in the vicinity of its ten successful Madison parish wells. The company head, Charles H. Murphy, Jr., El Dorado, Ark., banker, drilled the discovery well, Holt No. 1, in the Delhi field in December, 1944.

An entirely new field is regarded as having been opened by the Atlas Oil Corporation's Ayer Timber Co No. 1 wildcat in Franklin parish, 11 miles east of Winnsboro and 12 miles south of the Lamar field. Now shut in and awaiting official state conservation department test, it is expected to be a flowing disillate well from approximately 6,600 feet. Three men were killed in the collapse of the derrick at this well last Sunday.

The town of Delhi continues on its way to become one of the richest little towns in the world. It owns part of the land making up the F. L. Bryant et al.-Town Unit No. 1 lease, just within the south corporate limits, where drillers were reported Saturday to have encountered 50 feet of oil sand at about 3,380 feet. The same report was received on Vaughey & Vaughey's Willis No. 1 well, a short distance south of the town limits.

H. P. WARDEN'S EFFORTS WON

Delhi's Bank Was Promoted By Him; Visioned Oil Field

DELHI, La., Nov. 9.—(Special)—In connection with our recent news item on The First National Bank of Delhi and its growth in a few short years to a two million dollar business, some mention of a man instrumental in organizing the bank might be of interest at this time.

H. P. Warden, then of Warden, and now of Delhi, was the moving spirit behind the organization of a bank for this area after the depression had left not one bank in town. Through his insistence the new bank was given the name of "The First National Bank of Delhi."

Serving as a member of the board of directors through the early years of the new bank, Mr. Warden's far-sighted faith in the future of the country and community did much toward developing a healthy growth of the bank. When, after only a few months, the first cashier died, Mr. Warden persuaded Mr. T. F. Hardy to leave Monroe and come to Delhi as cashier for the new bank. This proved to be a wise selection as Mr. Hardy has carried the bank forward with wide success.

One of the greatest contributions Mr. Warden has made to the development of Delhi, and one that he is proudest of, was to interest his friend of many years, Mr. C. H. Murphy, of El Dorado, Ark., in its possibilities. Mr. Murphy has brought large agricultural and oil developments to this part of the state, and he often says that his good friend, H. P. Warden, is responsible for his (Murphy's) becoming interested in northeast Louisiana.

Mr. Warden is a native Virginian and a gentleman of the old school. He holds an LL.B. degree from the University of Missouri. He moved to Delhi and bought extensive property here some 25 years ago. Mr. Warden, now well beyond his alloted three score years and ten, walks erectly and with a youthful stride. Over six feet tall, he is a familiar and popular figure on the streets of Delhi.

LOUISIANA VETERANS OBTAIN $2,066,735

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Louisiana veterans obtained $2,066,735 in educational benefits during October through parish service officers, the state department of veterans' affairs said today.

Other benefits paid state veterans included $144,452 for service connected disability; $78,799 for death pensions, $143,877 for insurance settlements, $833 for burial allowances and $29,961 for non-service connected disabilities.

ASKS DIVORCE FROM AUTHOR OF 'AMBER'

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9.—(AP)—"I'm not bitter. Kay and I tried very hard to make a go of it. But she wanted one thing out of life—I wanted another."

Thus did big Bob Herwig, 31, ex-football star and marine hero, describe his parting from the sultry author of "Forever Amber." Kathleen Winsor, after filing suit for divorce in which he describes them as still "man and wife."

Miss Winsor 10 days ago became the fifth wife of bandsman Artie Shaw, in a Mexican ceremony, shortly after she obtained a divorce from Herwig there.

Other quotes from the former University of California tackle, who was decorated for bravery on Okinawa:

"I would help her out of any problem."

"The first thing I knew of her marriage or interest in Shaw was when I read it in the papers."

His suit formally charged cruelty, and alleged that she "inflicted grievous mental suffering and anguish upon him."

Shaw, 36, and Miss Winsor, 28, have been in seclusion since returning here briefly following their marriage. Shaw was divorced two weeks ago by actress Ava Gardner—a decree which under California law does not become final for a year.

YES MAN

My name is Vernon Adkins. I'm the "Yes" man at Personal Finance Co. . . . that is—I'm the man who likes to say "Yes" to requests for Personal loans.

You see—I'm the manager of our office—the man who's responsible for building up our business. The more times I say "yes" to requests for loans—the more business we do. And since making Personal Loans of $25 to $900 or more is our ONLY business—that's mighty important to me.

Therefore, if you need extra cash at any time—whether a little for a short time or a lot for a long time—you can depend on my doing my best to say "yes" to you.

Next time you can use a loan give me a chance to say "Yes"—won't you? I'll consider it a favor. See me at Personal Finance Co., 2nd floor, 213 Bernhardt Bldg., or phone me at 1288.

DELINQUENCY TO BE DISCUSSED

Dr. Beryl D. Orris, Psychiatrist, Will Consider Problem Monday

The relationship of delinquency (both juvenile and adult) to world disturbances will be discussed by Dr. Beryl D. Orris, the brilliant young American psychiatrist, who has accepted the invitation of the Monroe Town Hall to be its guest speaker at its next meeting, November 11.

His principal fields of concentration are Comparative Religion and Psychiatry in which he holds doctorates granted to him in Berlin and Vienna. He studied chiefly in the latter city, where he worked with the famous Freud, and he took additional work in London where he studied under Havelock Ellis. Both Professor Freud and Dr. Ellis were exceedingly interested in his experiments and theories concerning the combination and coordination of psychiatry and religion.

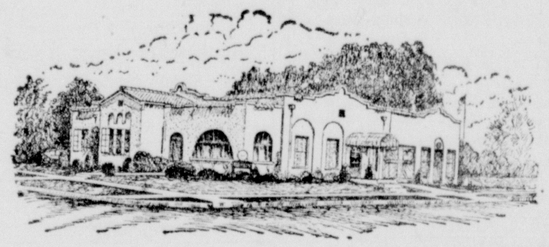

Dr. Orris, who was born in Chicago and who after his trailing in foreign fields returned to follow his profession in his native city, is brilliantly equipped to deal with the problem of preventive psychiatry, bridging the gap between adolescence and adulthood and aiding thereby in the formation of the character and life work of the individual.

A brilliant speaker, Dr. Orris, who combines a delightful sense of humor with much learning, is a great favorite on the lecture platform where his knowledge and his charm have won for him the generous acclaim of his listeners.

THANKSGIVING DATE SET

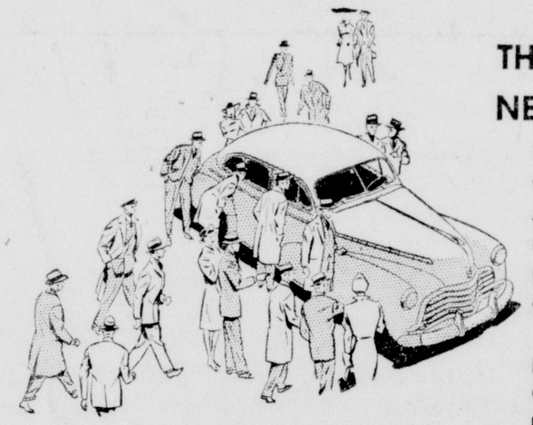

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Gov. Jimmie Davis today suggested that Thanksgiving, for which he designated Nov. 28, be observed in Louisiana this year by reading of the Scriptures. The governor also asked citizens to display the flag as "thanks to an all wise providence for the blessings of freedom, of liberty and of conscience we here enjoy."

THERE SIMPLY ARE NOT ENOUGH NEW CHEVROLETS TO GO AROUND

We are getting our fair share of the current production of new Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks. And as strikes and shortages decrease, as the Chevrolet plants are able to produce more and more new passenger cars and trucks, we'll get more and more of them to deliver to our customers.

Meanwhile, as long as shortages do exist, it is our purpose to apportion our share of the new Chevrolets available fairly and justly among the many customers, new and old, whose continued friendship and patronage are the keystone of our business.

So that you may have no doubt as to our method of distribution of new Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks, we make the following—

DECLARATION OF POLICY

1. PRIORITY OF DELIVERY—New Chevrolet cars and trucks will be apportioned on the basis of: Essential public services; Veterans' occupational requirements; former customers and priority of date in placing orders.

2. PRICES—All new Chevrolet cars and trucks will be sold at the authorized prices current at time of delivery.

3. TRADE-INS—No trade-in will be required from any customer who does not have a car to dispose of at the time of the transaction. Customers who do have cars will be given allowances based on honest appraisal and fair value at the time of delivery.

4. ACCESSORIES—No customer will be asked to purchase accessories as a condition of securing delivery.

5. STATUS OF ORDERS—Customers will be informed, upon request, of the true status of their orders in our files.

6. NEW ORDERS—We welcome your order for a new Chevrolet at any time.

WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR PATIENCE AND LOYALTY IN AWAITING DELIVERY OF YOUR NEW CHEVROLET

Mrs. Whitfield Talks On Scotland

Members Of The Readers' Clique Enjoy Talk By Mrs. Elizabeth Whitfield

The beauty of her homeland, Scotland, was so colorfully revealed in a talk made by Mrs. Elizabeth Whitfield, her audience, members of the Readers' Clique, visualized the moors covered with heather and the rugged loveliness of the highlands beloved by all Britishers.

Members of the Readers' Clique were delightfully entertained in the home of Mrs. Sidney Gill who had the pleasure of introducing Mrs. Whitfield. She said: "Scotland is a land of soft voices and strange rugged loveliness. "The Lowlands, or borderlands, merging from the English hills of Northumberland have scenery which is more graceful than that of the north, but lacks the grandeur which is passed the further north one travels. The lowlands graze cattle and till the land on gentle easy slopes: an easier harvest, a more plentiful return. The towns are very clean, with graceful outlined houses and well kept prosperous farmhouses. The main industry is the making of tweed and some very beautiful patterns are evolved under skillful hands.

"Further north towards Glasgow on the west coast, you find a busy city. It's seaport and coal mines, which surround it, have always brought it its' greatest industry. There have been others, cars are manufactured here and during the war great tanks rolled from the assembly line. Glasgow is quite a large city, the River Clyde cuts it in two, so that you have the northeast and west on one side and the Southeast and west on the other. Great bridges span the river. Trams, busses, trolley cars and automobiles cross and recross at all hours of the night; tugs move up and down the river. On each side are shipbuilding yards, and the river echoes to the sound of hammer on steel as great ships are created to slip gracefully from the docks into the river. The Queen Mary was constructed on the River Clyde and both she and the Queen Elizabeth often berth in these waters. Just west, down the river, lies the port of Greenock where many of the great convoys formed during the war.

"Travelling upward and westward from Glasgow you come into really beautiful country. This road leads you to Loch Lomond. Scattered around this famous Loch are small villages with quaint old inns and hotels where you can sit in front of great glowing fires and listen to the gossip of the village. There are some very lovely towns and cities in Scotland: Inverness with its Faery Glen, strung throughout in the summer time with tiny lights where musical concerts are given or people stroll of an evening. Its cleanliness, its castle and the beautiful English spoken by the people there is said to be the purest English spoken.

"St. Andrews set on a windy bluff on the East coast with its beautiful old castle and its internationally famous old golf course. Here the streets are narrow and the houses are quite old, but set around the golf course and the lovely hotel which stands alongside it, the houses are more spaciously set out. St. Andrews also has a very good university, especially for law and English letters. The Scottish law is different from English law, and those practising in Scotland have to add this to their acquired knowledge of English law and be able to defend or prosecute in either. Edinburgh with its history, its castle and old parliamentary houses: the main street of Edinburgh is a lovely one, being a wide boulevard known as Princes street, with some beautiful shops on one side, while on the other are the gardens, where a huge clock lies embedded, made up entirely of flowers. The mechanism is beneath and the clock tells the correct time. Above the city, overhead like a remembrance of past glory, stands the rugged outline of the castle. Many invaders tried unsuccessfully to scale Edinburgh castle rock. In winter the snow hangs on the branches of the fir and pine trees, and ices the ponds. This district is popular for a mild form of winter sports."

At the conclusion of her talk, Mrs. Whitfield graciously answered many questions from members of the club concerning Scotland.

The president, Mrs. Jack Masur, presided during the business session. Routine reports were made by standing committees. A letter from Dr. A. V. M. Mey of Brunssum, Holland was read by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Gill. Dr. Mey's letter was in reply to a request from the club for information concerning needy families in Holland. Clothes and other items will be collected and packed for mailing by December 1. Mrs. Stanley Archibald will serve as chairman of this project and she will have as her committee, Mrs. Sidney Gill, Mrs. T. F. Wilson, Mrs. Fred Parrish and Mrs. Oliver Lowery.

During the social hour the hostess served delicious refreshments to the following members and guests:

Mrs. Clay Albright, Mrs. Stanley Archibald, Mrs. Joe Bennett, Mrs. E. W. Crowley, Mrs. Sidney Gill, Mrs. J. S. Harbuck, Mrs. Burl Hollis, Mrs. Mike John, Jr., Mrs. Raymond John, Mrs. Oliver Lowery, Mrs. Ivy Jordan, Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. G. L. Morgan, Mrs. Fred Parrish, Mrs. Louis Peters, Mrs. Walter Ryland, Jr., Mrs. Ray Updegraff, Mrs. T. F. Wilson, Mrs. Evans Ethridge, Mrs. H. C. Menuet, Mrs. Gene Demmary, Mrs. Elizabeth Whitfield.

NATIONAL BOOK WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED AT OUACHITA PARISH PUBLIC LIBRARY

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. Every citizen can aid the library by paying a visit during National Book Week, November 10-16 and learning something about the workings of the library and the important part it plays in the lives of men, women, and children of this parish.

This event which occurs each year in the second week of November has come to have national and international importance. Each year a theme is chosen for Book Week. The theme this year is "Books are Bridges." This is a very significant statement and can be developed in many ways. Books are bridges to new experiences; books are bridges to the wonders of science; books are bridges to realms of imagination; books are bridges to the world of nature; books are bridges to understanding other people; books are bridges to the past; books are bridges to the future. The theme can be carried out in a number of ways.

Children's Book Week as it was then called, was originated in 1919 by the American Bookseller's Association, the American Library Association, the Boy Scouts of America and associated publishers. The purpose of Book Week is two-fold, to encourage reading and to encourage the development of personal libraries by children. Book Week with its emphasis on children's books has stimulated the publishing of many attractive and lovely books for children. This year many of the offerings are especially attractive.

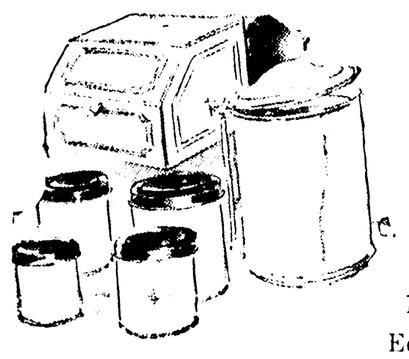

Each year, the Louisiana State Library sponsors a project which runs from one Book Week to another; that is the stimulation of the reading of adult non-fiction. Lists of the approved titles are distributed by libraries. Each person must read 12 nonfiction titles from this list to receive a certificate. If you did not obtain one this year, come to the library during Book Week and get a new list and begin now to work on a certificate for next year.

The people listed below received reading certificates for the year 1944-45. Because their names were not sent in to the Louisiana State Library, they only recently received the certificate. They are: Mrs. C. E. Faulk, Mrs. M. P. Hayes, Mrs. Kate Morrice and Mrs. J. C. Stewart.

The people listed below received reading certificates for the year 1945-46. They may obtain them by coming to the Library during Book Week. They are. Miss Yvonne Crow; Mrs. C. E. Faulk, Miss Frances Flanders, Miss Francis Griffin, Mrs. M. P. Hayes, Mrs. Maud Mullen Hays, Mrs. Joseph Landreaux, Mrs. Kate Morrice, Miss Marie Powers, Billy Smith, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale and Miss Kay Werner.

Mrs. Whitfield Talks On Scotland

Members Of The Readers' Clique Enjoy Talk By Mrs. Elizabeth Whitfield

The beauty of her homeland, Scotland, was so colorfully revealed in a talk made by Mrs. Elizabeth Whitfield, her audience, members of the Readers' Clique, visualized the moors covered with heather and the rugged loveliness of the highlands beloved by all Britishers.

Members of the Readers' Clique were delightfully entertained in the home of Mrs. Sidney Gill who had the pleasure of introducing Mrs. Whitfield. She said: "Scotland is a land of soft voices and strange rugged loveliness. "The lowlands, or borderlands, merging from the English hills of Northumberland have scenery which is more graceful than that of the north, but lacks the grandeur which is passed the further north one travels. The lowlands graze cattle and till the land on gentle easy slopes: an easier harvest, a more plentiful return. The towns are very clean, with graceful outlined houses and well kept prosperous farmhouses. The main industry is the making of tweed and some very beautiful patterns are evolved under skillful hands.

"Further north towards Glasgow on the west coast, you find a busy city. It's seaport and coal mines, which surround it, have always brought it its' greatest industry. There have been others; cars are manufactured here and during the war great tanks rolled from the assembly line. Glasgow is quite a large city, the River Clyde cuts it in two, so that you have the northeast and west on one side and the Southeast and west on the other. Great bridges span the river. Trains, busses, trolley cars and automobiles cross and recross at all hours of the night: tugs move up and down the river. On each side are shipbuilding yards, and the river echoes to the sound of hammer on steel as great ships are created to slip gracefully from the docks into the river. The Queen Mary was constructed on the River Clyde and both she and the Queen Elizabeth often berth in these waters. Just west, down the river, lies the port of Greenock where many of the great convoys formed during the war.

"Travelling upward and westward from Glasgow you come into really beautiful country. This road leads you to Loch Lomond. Scattered around this famous Loch are small villages with quaint old inns and hotels where you can sit in front of great glowing fires and listen to the gossip of the village. There are some very lovely towns and cities in Scotland: Inverness with its Faery Glen, strung throughout in the summer time with tiny lights where musical concerts are given or people stroll of an evening. Its cleanliness, its castle and the beautiful English spoken by the people there is said to be the purest English spoken.

"St. Andrews set on a windy bluff on the East coast with its beautiful old castle and its internationally famous old golf course. Here the streets are narrow and the houses are quite old, but set around the golf course and the lovely hotel which stands alongside it, the houses are more spaciously set out. St. Andrews also has a very good university, especially for law and English letters. The Scottish law is different from English law, and those practising in Scotland have to add this to their acquired knowledge of English law and be able to defend or prosecute in either. Edinburgh with its history, its castle and old parliamentary houses: the main street of Edinburgh is a lovely one, being a wide boulevard known as P inces street, with some beautiful shops on one side, while on the other are the gardens, where a huge clock lies embedded, made up entirely of flowers. The mechanism is beneath and the clock tells the correct time. Above the city, overhead like a remembrance of past glory, stands the rugged outline of the castle. Many invaders tried unsuccessfully to scale Edinburgh castle rock. In winter the snow hangs on the branches of the fir and pine trees, and ices the ponds. This district is popular for a mild form of winter sports."

At the conclusion of her talk, Mrs. Whitfield graciously answered many questions from members of the club concerning Scotland.

The president, Mrs. Jack Masur, presided during the business session. Routine reports were made by standing committees. A letter from Dr. A. V. M. Mey of Brunssum, Holland was read by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Gill. Dr. Mey's letter was in reply to a request from the club for information concerning needy families in Holland. Clothes and other items will be collected and packed for mailing by December 1. Mrs. Stanley Archibald will serve as chairman of this project and she will have as her committee, Mrs. Sidney Gill. Mrs. T. F. Wilson, Mrs. Fred Parrish and Mrs. Oliver Lowery.

During the social hour the hostess served delicious refreshments to the following members and guests:

Mrs. Clay Albright, Mrs. Stanley Archibald, Mrs. Joe Bennett, Mrs. E. W. Crowley, Mrs. Sidney Gill, Mrs. J. S. Harbuck, Mrs Burl Hollis, Mrs. Mike John, Jr., Mrs. Raymond John, Mrs. Oliver Lowery, Mrs. Ivy Jordan, Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. G. L. Morgan, Mrs. Fred Parrish, Mrs. Louis Peters, Mrs. Walter Ryland, Jr., Mrs. Ray Updegraff, Mrs. T. F. Wilson, Mrs. Evans Ethridge, Mrs. H. C. Menuet, Mrs. Gene Demmary, Mrs. Elizabeth Whitfield.

PROMINENT NUPTIAL EVENT IN LAKE PROVIDENCE IS OF INTEREST TO MANY FRIENDS

A wedding characterized by sentiment to a wide circle of friends and relatives throughout the midsouth was solemnized at Grace Episcopal church, Lake Providence, La., on Saturday, November 2, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when Miss Margaret Mitchell Goode, daughter of Mr. O. Z. Goode and the late Mrs. Vivian Blanton Goode, became the bride of Mr. George Cleveland Hammack, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Hammack, Bolton, Miss.

The impressive double ring ceremony was said by Rev. Frank Levy. The tapers were lighted by Charles Johnson, the acolyte.

Autumn's loveliest flower, the chrysanthemum, predominated the color scheme of white, green and gold. White Dotys were interspersed on the altar by the tall lighted tapers and were background by Oregon fern. Blazing Gold, intermixed with Plumosa, filled the Princess baskets placed on either side of the chancel, and were duplicated in the cases in the windows of the nave.

Mrs. Crawford A. Rose, organist, rendered the nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Vivian Goode, sister of the bride, who sang "The Lord's Prayer." The bridal party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march. "Sweet Evening Star" was rendered during the ceremony and Mendelssohn's march was played for the recessional.

The bride's sister, Mrs. John Markey, served as matron of honor. She wore a draped peplum model of aqua blue with winged sleeves. The V neckline was trimmed with self covered buttons. Her accessories were black and her corsage was of pink carnations and stephonitis.

Miss Celeste Hammack, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. She wore a medium brown spun rayon model with red patent belt, which held the fullness of the skirt. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, Mr. O. Z. Goode, who gave her in marriage. She wore a lovely two-piece model of powder blue with the bodice trimmed in sequins. She wore a calot with jeweled sunbursts decorating each side. She carried a white ivory prayer book with a cascade of Pinocchio roses.

The groom had as his best man his brother, Mr. James Wilson Hammack, and the ushers were Mr. F. A. Babb, Mr. T. J. Sitton of Lake Providence, and Mr. Francis Norman Burgess, Bolton, Miss.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the home of Mrs. Margaret Blanton Neill, aunt of the bride. Chrysanthemums were lavishly placed about the reception suite and dining room and were silhouetted against native greenery and interspersed with potted plants. Mrs. Neill received her guests in a black crepe model and shoulder corsage of white carnations.

Friends pressed forward to congratulate the groom and extend best wishes to the bride.

The lace-covered refreshment table was centered with the beautifully embossed wedding cake insurmounted with miniature bride and groom figurines. Miss Eddie Sue Bell and Miss Charlotte Ann Nelson presided at the punch bowl. Individual cakes decorated with Calla lilies and mint were served the guests.

For traveling the bride wore an attractive ensemble of brown pin check with brown calot and brown accessories. The young couple will honeymoon in Jackson, and New Orleans, after which they will return to Lake Providence to make their home, temporarily with the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sitton.

The bride has made her home in East Carroll parish for her entire life and is one of the lovely members of the younger social set. She is a member of families noted for their hospitality, graciousness and enjoyment of entertaining friends. She is a graduate of the Lake Providence High School and of Draughon's School of Commerce, Memphis, Tenn.

The groom is a veteran of four years service with action in the Pacific.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Hammack, Bolton, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Martin and daughter, Gayle, Onward, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hammack and daughters, Mary Anne and Carol Kay, Jackson, Miss.; Mrs. W. W. Dance and daughters, Betty Lee, Nancy Babb and Billy Sue, Gibsland, La., Mrs. Jack Holt, Epps, Miss Florence Goode, Memphis, and John Blanton, Vicksburg.

Mark Wilenzick, 43, of 500 Alexander avenue, son of Mrs. Irene Wilenzick of 502 Erin street, will undergo a major operation at Hotel Dieu in New Orleans Monday. Accompanied by his wife, he went to the hospital last Wednesday.

Miss Frost Is The Bride Of Bernard Davis

A wedding of interest to a large circle of relatives and friends in this section took place when Miss Elsie Frost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Frost of West Monroe, became the bride of Bernard C. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Davis of Jacksonville, Florida.

The impressive double ring ceremony was solemnized at seven-thirty o'clock Saturday evening, October 26 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Cheek of West Monroe with the Rev. A. T. Mitchell of the Ridge Avenue Baptist church officiating.

The bride wore a lovely fall model of pastel blue with black accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink carnations. Observing the tradition of something old, she wore a gold bracelet worn by her great aunt on her wedding day.

Miss Frances Lolley, only attendant of the bride, wore a blue tailored model with brown accessories and a white chrysanthemum shoulder corsage. Mr. Carey J. Cheek, served the groom as best man.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony a reception was held in the beautifully decorated living room. The bride's table, covered with a lovely satin damask cloth, held a crystal punch bowl. Mrs. C. E. Frost, mother of the bride, and Miss Elaine Lolley assisted in the courtesies. Mrs. C. J. Cheek served the punch.

Those present were Mrs. C. E. Frost, Bobby Raye Frost, mother and brother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny F. Dopson, Miss Elaine and Frances Lolley, Miss Shirley Ann Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Cheek, Gene and Nan Cheek, all of West Monroe. Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dopson of Baton Rouge, La.; and Mr. Lee Russell of Kelly, La.

Mrs. Davis is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High School. Mr. Davis is a graduate of the Jacksonville High School. He served in the army medical corps, for five years.

Buffet Luncheon For Miss McKenzie

Buffet Luncheon Honoring Bride-Elect Is Charming Event Of Week

Candles gleamed among the flowers adorning the lace covered luncheon table in the private dining room at La Casa tea room when Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick and Mrs. Howard Greene entertained complimentary to Miss Barbara McKenzie who will step altarward next week to become the bride of Mr. Edwin Hollis Venable.

At one end of the luncheon table was placed an immense silver tray containing broiled chickens. Silver and crystal bowls held luscious salads, relishes and all the other viands associated with a buffet luncheon.

The guests were seated at small linen covered, flower adorned tables. The one reserved for Miss McKenzie and her attendants was covered with lace and centered with a silver epergne overflowing with white chrysanthemums.

Coffee was poured by the hostesses from silver urns placed on a low coffee table in the reception suite where a short conversational hour was enjoyed following the serving of luncheon.

The guests in addition to Miss McKenzie were: Mrs. C. E. McKenzie, Mrs. Lea Thompson, Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr., Mrs. Langston Yancey, Mrs. Fred Coon, Mrs. H. M. Venable, Mrs. Neil McHenry, Mrs. Harold Monk, Mrs. J. Hunter Thatcher, Mrs. S. A. Collins, Mrs. R. C. Sparks.

Miss McKenzie's gown of Madonna blue wool was accented by a corsage of Talisman roses presented by her hostesses.

BREAD MAKING is the oldest industry man has engaged in. It dates back thousands of years before the Christian era. It's a far cry from the primitive method to the present day modern baking plant of the SUREBEST BAKING COMPANY. The owner and manager, CHARLES P. BROGAN, spent more than thirty-five years studying the science of bread-making. That's why SUREBEST has now reached the state of perfection. Try a loaf today and join the thousands who say "they can't live without SUREBEST BREAD."

MRS. MARVIN G. WRIGHT

Mrs. Wright, bride of recent date, is the former Miss Sarah Elizabeth Brantley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brantley.

OUT OF TOWN WEDDINGS

A marriage of interest to friends in this section was that of Miss Anita Moreland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moreland of Monterey, and Ricks Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Price of Ferriday. The wedding took place at the home of the groom's parents.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Hamilton, pastor of the Ferriday Baptist church before an improvised altar blanked with white chrysanthemums and ferns. The bride wore an attractive light blue wool suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. She wore a gold bracelet, a gift of the groom. Mrs. Lare Cruse, sister of the groom, was the bride's attendant. She wore a gold colored model with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mr. Price had as his best man, his brother-in-law, Mr. Lane Cruse.

Immediately after the ceremony an informal reception was held. The bride's table was overlaid with a linen and lace cloth, brought by the groom from China. The wedding cake surmounted with bride and groom figurines centered the table. At either end of the table white tapers burned in silver candelabra.

For going away, Mrs. Price wore a becoming model of gray wool, with black accessories. After a short honeymoon, the young couple will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Price until their apartment is available.

Only members of the immediate families attended the ceremony. The groom is a graduate of Ferriday High School and of Loyola University of the South, New Orleans. He served two years with the armed forces, most of which time he was with the medical corps. Both are well known in Ferriday, where they will make their home.

Miss Genevieve G. Davis and Lt. Col. Aldin G. Bianchi were married at a quietly celebrated ceremony at the rectory of the St. Agnes Catholic church, Baton Rouge, with the Rev. Father Patrick Gillespie officiating.

Completing the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Worsham, Jr., of Rosedale, Mrs. Rudolph Hebert and Mr. Louis Aucoin.

After the ceremony the couple was toasted with champagne at the home of Mr. Aucoin.

A small breakfast party was held at the American room at the Heidelberg hotel after this, the table being tastefully decorated in the bridal theme.

The bride wore a Fred Block suit of gray with black trimming, a gray Lily Dache hat, and black kid accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of twe orchids.

Mrs. Worsham wore a blue suit with black accessories, and Mrs. Hebert wore a gray suit with black accessories. They wore military corsages with matching colors.

Immediately after the bridal pictures were made, the couple left for an extended tour of the Gulf and East coasts, going on to Worcester, Mass., where they will reside.

A wedding of paramount interest to relatives and friends throughout Louisiana took place in California, when Lt. John A. McCoy and Miss Evalyn Shifflett of Keyser, West Virginia were married in the parlors of the First Baptist church of Van Nuys, Rev. Howard Bigelow officiating.

The bride wore an ice blue crepe model with brown accessories and corsage of white rosebuds. Miss Ella Marble, her attendant was in aqua blue with black accessories and corsage of pink rosebuds.

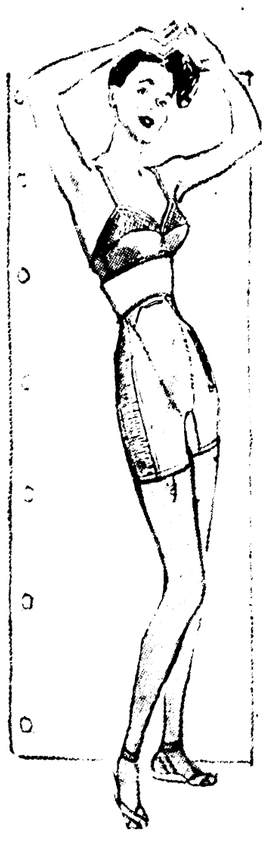

Mr. Jack Farnsworth served as best man.

The bride, a native West Virginian graduated in Washington, D. C., after which she spent four years in the service, eighteen months in England as first lieutenant Army Nurse Corps.

The groom attended Louisiana State University, and was a member of Kappa Sigma. He entered the service and graduated at Corpus Christi as a naval pilot. After active service in the European theater of war having been stationed in England, he was transferred to the Pacific area for more than a year.

The young couple will make their home in New Orleans, where the groom will attend Tulane University.

"SHOPPING THE TOWN" WITH Camille

BREAD MAKING is the oldest industry man has engaged in. It dates back thousands of years before the Christian era. It's a far cry from the primitive method to the present day modern baking plant of the SUREBEST BAKING COMPANY. The owner and manager, CHARLES P. BROGAN, spent more than thirty-five years studying the science of bread-making. That's why SUREBEST has now reached the state of perfection. Try a loaf today and join the thousands who say "they can't live without SUREBEST BREAD."

AS THE ARTIST SIGNS the canvas, so the R AND A JEWELRY SHOP proudly affixes its name to the little boxes containing their precious products. Half the pleasure in giving is lost when the name of the firm from whom the gift is purchased is obscure. The name R AND A is a great name and stands for the eternal beauty of a fine line and the honesty of the owners. The name R AND A is a lasting proof that the precious jewelry from this shop is the finest that money can buy.

NO WONDER THE RAINBOW INN is the most popular night club for young and old. . . . it's so beautiful, so restful and so hospitable. The lounge with its soft carpet, lowered lights, and atmosphere of congeniality is thronging with pleasure seekers nightly. The food is delicious whether it's a full course chicken or steak dinner or a midnight snack. The service is impeccable and the music supplied by the company of glamorous girls is lilting and "peppy." If you are seeking an evening of entertainment let me recommend the RAINBOW INN.

MRS. O. F. WATTS EXTENDS GRACIOUS HOSPITALITY TO MEMBERS OF HER BOOK CLUB

Saturday afternoon found members of the Atheneum club gathered in the hospitable home of Mrs. O. F. Watts for an interesting program.

Mrs. Walter C. Minniear, the club president, called the meeting to order with the salute to the flag led by Mrs. John P. Lewis. A brief business session ensued in which the president presented several matters for the consideration of the members.

The poem for the month which, presented by Mrs. John Lewis follows: "If you can't be a pine on the top of a hill,
Be a scrub in the valley—but be
The best little scrub by the side of the rill;
Be a bush if you can't be a tree.
If you can't be a bush, be a bit of grass,
So some highway you'll happier make.
If you can't be a muskee, then be a bass
But the loveliest bass in the lake.
If you can't be a highway, then just be a trail,
If you can't be a sun, be a star:
It isn't by size you win or fail—
Be the best of whatever you are.
If you can't be any of these, be loyal."

Anonymous.

The program chairman, Mrs. A. L. Dickerson, introduced Mrs. Fred Grant, who spoke on "Education," her theme being "Citizenship for Future Americans." She said in part: "Young Americans should understand the fundamental meaning of the history and traditions of their country. To serve the nation best, they require political standing including practical knowledge of political conditions and practices extending beyond party symbols. Such training, encouraging active participation, can contribute greatly by easing the internal tension-racial, religious and economic presently within the American scene. No generation of American youth ever faced such tremendous responsibilities as those faced by the youth of this generation.

What are the factors that make a nation great, and what are the factors that will keep it great? In the first analysis, the success of our democracy will depend more upon the quality of leadership that we are able to develop than any other factor. The training of our youth, therefore, for world leadership is our principal educational task. Club women can exercise great influence in bringing about closer ties between the school and the community. They can throw their weight behind the use of the school plant and staff for community purposes.

Margery Sharp's book, "Britannia Mews" was reviewed by Mrs. A. J. Lester, who said in part: "Britannia Mews was built in 1865 to accommodate the carriage horses, coachmen and other respectable of the ten houses in Albion Place. The place, facing directly upon Hyde Park, and forming in fact a section of the Bayswater Road, was bound by the north and south perpendiculars of Chester and Bedford streets; it's back doors on Albion alley, which also debauched on these streets and Britannia Mews opened off the opposite side of the alley through a wide and rather handsome arch The Mews, ran north and south, squeezed up in the shape of a gin bottle between the backs of the Chester and Bedford street house.

Britannia Mews had housed the horses and coachmen of Adelaide's family and their set in 1875. This is a sympathetic chronicle of a life spanning three generations.

"When Adeliade went to live there it was a slum, in which domestic tragedy and blackmail were only general terms for the turmoil of experience that awaited her. But she learned to take the worst along with the best. As her story unfolds, it became the richly varied account not only of an exceptional woman, but of an English family over three-quarters of a century—an account that ends only after the buzz-bombs have spent their fury in England."

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Watts and her co-hostess, Mrs. John P. Lewis, invited their guests into the dining room where the refreshment table was overlaid with handsome lace and adorned with a low crystal bowl of yellow chrysanthemums encircled with crystal candelabra holding white tapers.

From a handsome silver service at one end of the table, Mrs. Minniear poured Russian tea. Crystal trays of open face sandwiches, individual cakes and mints were passed to the following members: Mesdames Clark Butler, S. D. Kennedy, A. J. Lester, Fred Grant, A. L. Dickerson, Agnes Dickerson, A. M. Barrett, Walter C. Minniear and the hostesses.

FOUR CHARMING HOSTESSES ENTERTAIN DURING THE TEA HOUR FOR MISS M'DONALD

Miss Gail McDonald, whose approaching marriage on November 11 has been the inspiration for many lovely social functions, was delightfully entertained Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Fred Thatcher, Mrs. E. L. Page, Mrs. George Welch and Mrs. R. B. Henry entertained at tea.

Beautiful fall roses banked the mantel and low tables in the reception suite where the hostesses stood with the guest of honor and her mother to receive the friends who called throughout the receiving hours.

Miss McDonald wore on this occasion one of her lovely trousseau models of azure blue crepe and corsage presented by her hostesses. Mrs. McDonald wore a beautiful black crepe model with corsage of gardenias.

The coffee table, developed entirely in white, was overlaid with handsome, imported white damask cloth and centered with white chrysanthemums encircled with white candles in silver holders.

Mrs. C. E. Faulk presided over the silver coffee service and was assisted by a coterie of attractive young girls, Misses Beverly Ann Thatcher, John Ann Lewis, Betty Henry and Mrs. Don Strain.

A lovely gift of crystal was presented to Miss McDonald by her hostesses.

Boating Party Enjoyed By The Club Women

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Heidenreich entertained members of the Current Literature Club with a delightful boat trip Friday afternoon. Guests arrived at the boat dock, attired in sport apparel and were welcomed aboard by the host and hostess.

Landing was made on a white sand bar where a delicious barbecue supper was served.

This boat ride has become an annual affair and members of the Current Literature Club look forward to it as an afternoon of unusual pleasure.

Those present were: Mrs. W. W. Cotton, Mrs. Jordan Barton, Mrs. J. L. Dennis, Mrs. Dan Dennett, Mrs. Henry Menuet, Mrs. Louis Peters, Mrs. Otto Passman, Mrs. J. D. Reeves, Mrs. R. L. Seiler, Mrs. A. L. Stovall, Mrs. W. O. Webb, Mrs. W. M. Whitfield, Mrs. Jery Whitledge, Mrs. Walter Knapp, Mrs. A. E. Porter, Jr., together with the host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. LeBlanc announce the engagement of their daughter, Bessie, to Mr. Carlo Sciara, son of Mrs. Rose LaPietra of this city. The wedding will be solemnized at St. Matthew's Catholic church on November 28.

Interest is growing daily in the Tom Breneman Show sponsored by the Twin City P. T. A. Council. Mr. Charles Brogan has been practicing that famous Tom Beneman laugh and polishing up his "line" so he will have an answer ready for every question. This program will be completely unrehearsed The announcer, Mr. George Fink will assist Mr. Brogan in "putting over" the show.

The number of prizes is increasing daily. Mrs. E. B. Whitten is chairman of the West Side, and rendering valuable assistance.

A dance revue presented by Monroe's talented children will be a feature of the program.

One of Monroe's most beautiful girls, Miss Sally Foster, a Newcomb College junior, will reign as queen of Tulane University's homecoming festivities, November 23. This interesting bit of news has just been released by Miss Beatrice M. Field, director of student activities at the university. Miss Foster has received enough honors during her high school days and college career to completely turn her head but she still remains sensible, unassuming and not too boastful of the fact that she received the high honor of being named queen of Tulane University's homecoming week. It's an honor coveted by every Newcomb student and seldom before has it been bestowed upon a junior.

Mrs. Thomas Gunby is off for faraway Korea en route from Seattle via steamer, to join her husband, Colonel Gunby, who has been stationed there since early spring. Mrs. Gunby, who has a flair for writing has promised to send us, from time to time, little pen pictures of life as it is lived in Korea so readers can look forward to items of exceptional interest. Mrs. Gunby is quite capable of giving a colorful outline of the history of Korea as she is mentally alert and is one of those friendly souls who takes a keen interest in her fellowmen. The people are a mixed race of disputed elements, apparently Mongoloid and Ain with Manchu and Malayan infusions. Korea, since early times, has employed two languages, Chinese for writings and native Korean for speech. Mrs. Gunby will, no doubt, return home with a knowledge of both languages. Colonel Gunby expects to be stationed there for three years.

Mrs. Earl Chumney, of Mexico City, the former Miss India Stubbs, flew to New York to join her sister, Mrs. S. E. Huey, of this city. They had a wonderful time together attending the theater, famous restaurants and visiting countless places of interest. They both returned to Monroe via airways. Mrs. Chumney spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Stubbs, before returning via airways to Mexico City.

Imagine the surprise of Mrs. Blanche Oliver and Mrs. Marion Learned when they attended a Little Theatre play in Bay St. Louis recently and discovered the name of Margaret Harberson, formerly of this city, on the program as director of the play. It was announced from the stage that Mrs. Oliver had directed several Little Theatre plays in Monroe. She was introduced to the audience and responded to the introduction in inimitable manner. Mrs. Harberson, upon learning of the presence of Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. Learned, who is also associated with Little Theatre work in this city, rushed from behind the scenes to greet her friends.

Mrs. Oliver speaks highly of the performance and the splendid work accomplished by Mrs. Harberson whose ability as a director is recognized in this city where she directed several highly-successful productions.

The Little Theater in Bay St. Louis was formerly an old barn that was donated to the group and with little expense was converted into a most attractive play house. If some philanthropist would step forward in Monroe and make such a similar contribution, how happy Little Theatre members would be. Monroe needs a playhouse of its own as never before but until some civic spirited, generous citizen comes to the rescue the outlook continues rather dismal.

Dignitaries from the United States and abroad will be arriving in Monroe next week, as the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the National Council, Diocese of Louisiana, begins its meeting.

One of the most interesting of these visitors will be the Rt. Rev. Robin T. S. Chen, bishop of China. His secretary, Miss Laura Clark, a missionary from Wake Forest, N. C., will also attend and will be one of the principal speakers. The highlight of the entire session will be the sermon by Bishop Chen Wednesday night, to which the public is invited.

Grace Church Auxiliary will be hostess at a tea in honor of Bishop Chen, Miss Clark and the Rt. Rev. John R. Jackson, bishop of Louisiana, and Mrs. Jackson, on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Fred Fudickar, 100 Riverside.

One of Monroe's most beautiful girls, Miss Sally Foster, a Newcomb College junior, will reign as queen of Tulane University's homecoming festivities, November 23. This interesting bit of news has just been released by Miss Beatrice M. Field, director of student activities at the university. Miss Foster has received enough honors during her high school days and college career to completely turn her head but she still remains sensible, unassuming and not too boastful of the fact that she received the high honor of being named queen of Tulane University's homecoming week. It's an honor coveted by every Newcomb student and seldom before has it been bestowed upon a junior.

Mrs. Thomas Gunby is off for faraway Korea en route from Seattle via steamer, to join her husband, Colonel Gunby, who has been stationed there since early spring. Mrs. Gunby, who has a flair for writing has promised to send us, from time to time, little pen pictures of life as it is lived in Korea so readers can look forward to items of exceptional interest. Mrs. Gunby is quite capable of giving a colorful outline of the history of Korea as she is mentally alert and is one of those friendly souls who takes a keen interest in her fellowmen. The people are a mixed race of disputed elements, apparently Mongoloid and Ain with Manchu and Malayan infusions. Korea, since early times, has employed two languages, Chinese for writings and native Korean for speech. Mrs. Gunby will, no doubt, return home with a knowledge of both languages. Colonel Gunby expects to be stationed there for three years.

Mrs. Earl Chumney, of Mexico City, the former Miss India Stubbs, flew to New York to join her sister, Mrs. S. E. Huey, of this city. They had a wonderful time together attending the theater, famous restaurants and visiting countless places of interest. They both returned to Monroe via airways. Mrs. Chumney spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Stubbs, before returning via airways to Mexico City.

Imagine the surprise of Mrs. Blanche Oliver and Mrs. Marion Learned when they attended a Little Theatre play in Bay St. Louis recently and discovered the name of Margaret Harberson, formerly of this city, on the program as director of the play. It was announced from the stage that Mrs. Oliver had directed several Little Theatre plays in Monroe. She was introduced to the audience and responded to the introduction in inimitable manner. Mrs. Harberson, upon learning of the presence of Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. Learned, who is also associated with Little Theatre work in this city, rushed from behind the scenes to greet her friends.

Mrs. Oliver speaks highly of the performance and the splendid work accomplished by Mrs. Harberson whose ability as a director is recognized in this city where she directed several highly-successful productions.

The Little Theater in Bay St. Louis was formerly an old barn that was donated to the group and with little expense was converted into a most attractive play house. If some philanthropist would step forward in Monroe and make such a similar contribution, how happy Little Theatre members would be. Monroe needs a playhouse of its own as never before but until some civic spirited, generous citizen comes to the rescue the outlook continues rather dismal.

Dignitaries from the United States and abroad will be arriving in Monroe next week, as the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the National Council, Diocese of Louisiana, begins its meeting.

One of the most interesting of these visitors will be the Rt. Rev. Robin T. S. Chen, bishop of China. His secretary, Miss Laura Clark, a missionary from Wake Forest, N. C., will also attend and will be one of the principal speakers. The highlight of the entire session will be the sermon by Bishop Chen Wednesday night, to which the public is invited.

Grace Church Auxiliary will be hostess at a tea in honor of Bishop Chen, Miss Clark and the Rt. Rev. John R. Jackson, bishop of Louisiana, and Mrs. Jackson, on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Fred Fudickar, 100 Riverside.

REV. R. T. WATSON ADDRESSES MEMBERS OF THE MISSOURI PACIFIC WOMEN'S CLUB

Members of the Missouri Pacific Women's Club enjoyed their November meeting in their flower-banked club rooms.

Mrs. A. J. Speer, the president, presided. The meeting was opened with a flag salute with all members participating.

Mrs. J. C. Leath, acting as chaplain, read "Eternal Thanks," by James Radcliffe, as follows:

"I am so grateful to you, God
For all that you have done,
From every golden dawn until
The setting of each sun.
For every little favor and
The goals that I have gained,
And even for my loneliness
Whenever it has rained.
I thank you for the beauty of the life
you let me live,
And for the opportunity, to borrow and to give.
The chance to gather happiness
wherever I may go.
And in the wisdom of the world to contemplate and grow.
I am forever grateful for the blessings I receive,
And pray that I will never cause your loving heart to grieve."

Mrs. R. H. Dollar, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Alexander Winn, who sang "The Rosary" and "Nursery Rhymes," accompanied by Mrs. C. E. Hopkins.

Rev. R. T. Watson, pastor of the First Christian Church of this city, was guest speaker, "Community Cooperation" was his subject. He said in part:

"Community cooperation consists of three important factors—good citizenship, good religion and good common sense. Good citizenship includes people from all walks of life—the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker—all organized to create harmony and good will. Good religion include Christians of all faiths, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish, all based on the Fatherhood of God, and the brotherhood of man.

"Community cooperation is good common sense. The family, school and church should work together in harmony where competition does not inter, because competition is the life of trade and the death of harmony."

During the business session various reports were given and accepted. Mrs. Speer took the opportunity to thank each one for their splendid cooperation.

Each member was presented with attractive luggage tags, sent from the general offices in St. Louis. A prize was also awarded to Mrs. R. E. Redding.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mmes. E. Haner, L. M. Posey, O. M. Dowdey and Mrs. M. R. Hausherr to the following members: Mmes. A. J. Speer, H. L. Moore, E. Haner, R. H. Dollar, J. C. Leath, M. F. Holley, W. E. Burke, B. R. Roe, E. A. Porter, C. W. Williams, Lois Demasterson, M. E. Picket, W. H. Smith, C. B. Hill, M. S. Minor, A. G. Thurmon, J. W. Chowning, L. M. Brinson, G. P. Walker, Estelle Brantley, R. H. Redding, J. W. Reynolds, Travis Marks, S. W. Hailes, John Arthur, O. M. Dowdey, Joe Surrett, L. M. Posey, M. R. Hausherr and Mrs. F. M. Hill. Guests were Mrs. V. G. Dyer, Alex Winn and Rev. R. T. Watson.

LITERARY CLUB MEMBERS HEAR SPLENDID TALKS DELIVERED BY MRS. MILAM AND MRS. DURRETT

The Literary Guild held its November meeting in the home of Mrs. J. P. Brown. The program for the afternoon, "The Evolution of Nations" by Mrs. Dewitt Milam and "The Races of Europe" by Mrs. J. G. Durrett showed great depth of thought and indicated the trend toward an effort at universal understanding among people. Mrs. Milam, in tracing the evolution of nations, said that nations have developed because of racial, linguistic, and cultural similarities of the people, influenced by geographical boundaries. That, 'Race is often and erroneously confounded by nationality,' but the fact remains that unless racial difference is marked, unless here is a difference like that between whites, blacks, and yellows, it is actually of minor concern. Race does not exemplify color but means linguistic and cultural identity, not biological contrasts. The only justification for any nation or government is the benefits it confers upon the governed, and although governments have grown up in harmony with geographical, linguistic, cultural and racial factors, none of these has been an absolute detriment. We shall be untrue to our inheritance and to what the world expects of us if we fail to maintain the ideal and the fact of freedom in all of its aspects, and if we fail to make personal worth and social service the measure of value between man, and man, instead of race, language, culture, or descent. In dealing with other nations we must remember that the only certain security is collective, and that freedom at the expense of another is not freedom. Louis Pasteur, at a celebration at the Sorbonne in honor of his 70th birthday, said, "Gentlemen, you bring me the greatest happiness that can be experienced by a man whose invincible belief is that science and peace will triumph over ignorance and war. Never permit the sadness of certain hours which pass over nations to discourage you. Have faith that in the long run the nations will learn to unite, not for destruction but for cooperation, and that the future will belong not to the conquerors but to the saviors of mankind."

At the conclusion of the short business session members were invited to the dining room where the hostesses served a variety of delicious sandwiches and sweets from a beautifully appointed tea table.

The members of the Catholic Altar Society were hostesses at a reception given at the Catholic Rectory honoring Father Charles Crowley and Father John Patrick Quinn. The entertainment was given as a farewell to Father Crowley, former priest in charge and a welcome to Father Quinn, the priest now presiding. The guests of honor and those receiving with them received the guests in the living room of the rectory, which was attractive for the occasion with clusters of yellow and pink dahlias, placed on the mantel and coffee table. Mrs. Nick Bruno, Mrs. William Oehmig, Mrs. John Guice, Mrs. James Brown, Mrs. Samuel G. Manning, Misses Martha and Sadie Baragona, Olivia Scott and Adrienne Prince assisted Father Crowley and Father Quinn in receiving. All wore pretty corsages of white carnations and fern. The autumn theme was suggested in the decorations of yellow and white in the dining room. The mantel and the buffet were centered with bouquets of yellow and white chrysanthemums on either side of which stood silver candlesticks holding yellow lighted tapers. The tea table was lovely, overlaid with an embroidered cloth with insets of lace. The center decor was an embossed silver tidbit stand filled with almonds and confections and at the top overflowing with white carnations and ferns. At each corner were placed embossed silver candlesticks holding yellow lighted tapers. At each end were silver coffee and tea services. A delicious plate, coffee and tea and individual cakes, iced in yellow and white, were served. One hundred guests called during the reception, hours of 5 to 7.

The congregation of the St. Joseph Episcopal Church and a number of guests enjoyed the entertainment at the community house, when the Mission picture, "Go Forward" was shown in the club room, the rector, Rev. J. Dean Maurer, operating the projector. The picture was shown as a preliminary to the every member canvass of the church. It was informative and interesting. Before the picture, Mr. Philip Watson made introductory remarks and gave an interesting report on the church meeting held recently in Tallulah, La. After the picture, the ladies of the congregation served a variety of delicious open faced sandwiches, coffee, tea and cakes.

Miss Flanders Submits Report On Public Library

The board of control of the Ouachita Parish Public Library held its November meeting on the morning of November 2 at the library. The members of the board expressed hearty approval of the progress made during the month of October as evidenced by the report of the librarian, Miss Frances Flanders.

During the month of October 3,616 books and 302 periodicals were borrowed by adults in Monroe. While the juvenile circulation was 1,385 books and 257 periodicals. This makes a total adult circulation of 3,918 and a juvenile circulation of 1,642. The total circulation figure for Monroe was 5,560. These figures prove definitely that the Public Library is an active agency in the field of adult education. In West Monroe 1,345 books were circulated, 1,046 to adults and 299 to juvenile borrowers. The total circulation of Ouachita parish was 6,905. This is a gain of 500 books over the month of September.

The registration has also shown an increase this past month. One hundred and sixty-five adults and 114 children, making a total of 279 were added in Monroe, while 24 adults and 5 children were added in West Monroe. The total registration for Ouachita parish is now 11,385 of which 6,687 are adults and 4,698 are juvenile borrowers.

More than 700 special requests for books and information were filled at the library during the month of October. Some of the questions asked were most interesting. In each case the answer was found. "Can you tell me the speed in flight of Canvassback and Teel ducks?" "How can I grow pansies?" "Where can I find information about the Shinto religion?" "Can you give me information about the relation of labor unions and the church?" "Do you have a book that shows the construction of a locomotive?" "Can you furnish examples of personnel tests?" "Can you get me books which will teach me how to draft patterns?" "Can you get me books which will teach me the fine art of checker playing?" "Can you give me the list of firms which manufactuer tinners tools?" "Can you give me the address of egg dehydrating plants?" "Can you give me a book that tells how to make corsages?" "Can you furnish me with an account of the Dewey decimal classification as applied to business filing?"

The library has helped numerous people prepare papers on a variety of subjects. Some of them are: "Feeding the Starving World," "Have the Movies Improved the Social, Civil and Moral Concepts of the World?" "The Study of A. J. Cronin," and many other topics too numerous to mention.

On Halloween night the members of the board of control of the Ouachita Parish Public Library and the librarian and her staff entertained with a Halloween party at the library on Jackson Street. The Halloween atmosphere was cleverly developed by the use of candles in the shape of black cats, owls and haystacks. The candles and numerous Jack O'Lanterns furnished the only light in the library.

One hundred and fifteen children between the ages of eight and ten years attended the party. They were enthralled by the stories, "How Jan Brewer was Piskey laden," "Tam O' Shanter" and "The Teeny-Tiny Woman," told by Miss Kay Werner.

Miss Werner graduated from the School of Library Service at Columbia University in June of this year. While there she was privileged to study story-telling under Mary Gould Davis, who is one of the outstanding children's librarians in the United States. Monroe is indeed fortunate that the Louisiana State Library loaned Miss Werner to our library for a period of two months.

All of the children enjoyed the stories and the popcorn, which was served at the close of the evening. Many of them have already asked if the party is to be an annual event.

Monroe book lovers have something in store for them Monday evening when Delta Rho Delta again presents Julia Morrow Gilmer, of Shreveport, in a book review. Mrs. Gilmer is the wife of Dr. P. R. Gilmer and is well known throughout the south for her excellent ability as a book reviewer and critic. With her unusual talent and radiant personality, she will bring to life the characters of "We Happy Few" by Helen Howe.

The program will be given at 8:00 p.m. in Room B at the Frances Hotel. The public is cordially invited to attend.

At each corner were placed embossed silver candlesticks holding yellow lighted tapers. At each end were silver coffee and tea services. A delicious plate, coffee and tea and individual cakes, iced in yellow and white, were served. One hundred guests called during the reception hours of 5 to 7.

The congregation of the St. Joseph Episcopal Church and a number of guests enjoyed the entertainment at the community house, when the Mission picture, "Go Forward" was shown in the club room, the rector, Rev. J. Dean Maurer, operating the projector. The picture was shown as a preliminary to the every member canvass of the church. It was informative and interesting. Before the picture, Mr. Philip Watson made introductory remarks and gave an interesting report on the church meeting held recently in Tallulah, La. After the picture, the ladies of the congregation served a variety of delicious open faced sandwiches, coffee, tea and cakes.

Miss Flanders Submits Report On Public Library

The board of control of the Ouachita Parish Public Library held its November meeting on the morning of November 2 at the library. The members of the board expressed hearty approval of the progress made during the month of October as evidenced by the report of the librarian, Miss Frances Flanders.

During the month of October 3,616 books and 302 periodicals were borrowed by adults in Monroe. While the juvenile circulation was 1,385 books and 257 periodicals. This makes a total adult circulation of 3,918 and a juvenile circulation of 1,642. The total circulation figure for Monroe was 5,560. These figures prove definitely that the Public Library is an active agency in the field of adult education. In West Monroe 1,345 books were circulated, 1,046 to adults and 299 to juvenile borrowers. The total circulation of Ouachita parish was 6,905. This is a gain of 500 books over the month of September.

The registration has also shown an increase this past month. One hundred and sixty-five adults and 114 children, making a total of 279 were added in Monroe, while 24 adults and 5 children were added in West Monroe. The total registration for Ouachita parish is now 11,385 of which 6,687 are adults and 4,698 are juvenile borrowers.

More than 700 special requests for books and information were filled at the library during the month of October. Some of the questions asked were most interesting. In each case the answer was found. "Can you tell me the speed in flight of Canvassback and Teel ducks?" "How can I grow pansies?" "Where can I find information about the Shinto religion?" "Can you give me information about the relation of labor unions and the church?" "Do you have a book that shows the construction of a locomotive?" "Can you furnish examples of personnel tests?" "Can you get me books which will teach me how to draft patterns?" "Can you get me books which will teach me the fine art of checker playing?" "Can you give me the list of firms which manufactuer tinners tools?" "Can you give me the address of egg dehydrating plants?" "Can you give me a book that tells how to make corsages?" "Can you furnish me with an account of the Dewey decimal classification as applied to business filing?"

The library has helped numerous people prepare papers on a variety of subjects. Some of them are: "Feeding the Starving World," "Have the Movies Improved the Social, Civil and Moral Concepts of the World?" "The Study of A. J. Cronin," and many other topics too numerous to mention.

On Halloween night the members of the board of control of the Ouachita Parish Public Library and the librarian and her staff entertained with a Halloween party at the library on Jackson Street. The Halloween atmosphere was cleverly developed by the use of candles in the shape of black cats, owls and haystacks. The candles and numerous Jack O'Lanterns furnished the only light in the library.

One hundred and fifteen children between the ages of eight and ten years attended the party. They were enthralled by the stories, "How Jan Brewer was Piskey laden," "Tam O' Shanter" and "The Teeny-Tiny Woman," told by Miss Kay Werner.

Miss Werner graduated from the School of Library Service at Columbia University in June of this year. While there she was privileged to study story-telling under Mary Gould Davis, who is one of the outstanding children's librarians in the United States. Monroe is indeed fortunate that the Louisiana State Library loaned Miss Werner to our library for a period of two months.

All of the children enjoyed the stories and the popcorn, which was served at the close of the evening. Many of them have already asked if the party is to be an annual event.

Monroe book lovers have something in store for them Monday evening when Delta Rho Delta again presents Julia Morrow Gilmer, of Shreveport, in a book review. Mrs. Gilmer is the wife of Dr. P. R. Gilmer and is well known throughout the south for her excellent ability as a book reviewer and critic. With her unusual talent and radiant personality, she will bring to life the characters of "We Happy Few" by Helen Howe.

The program will be given at 8:00 p.m. in Room B at the Frances Hotel. The public is cordially invited to attend.

MRS. W. M. WHITFIELD EXTENDS GRACIOUS HOSPITALITY AT HER HOME TO CLUB MEMBERS

A pleasant feature of the November meeting of the Current Literature club was the motor trip through the country to the home of Mrs. W. M. Whitfield.

The program was highlighted by Mrs. W. O. Webb's review of Frances Parkinson's current novel, "River Road."

Mrs. Webb exhibited a picture of the beautiful old colonial home set in the midst of moss covered oaks, where she lived while writing "River Road."

Reviewing the book, Mrs. Webb said: "Gervais d'Alvery, heir to Belle Heloise, a famous estate on Louisiana's "Grand Parade," returns from the first World War joyously acclaimed as a hero. But he finds his plantation neglected, his mother a self centered neurotic, and his sister Cresside running disasterously true to the current form of "Flaming Youth." An alliance has been planned between Gervais and Regine Hataway, whose ancestral home adjoins Belle Heloise on the River Road, that fabulous highway, bordered on one side by the levee and on the other by cane fields which connect the Capital with the Crescent City. Gervais announcing his engagement to Meredith Randall, a girl whose drab background is devoid of material advantage, but whose loveliness has captivated him and whose sincerity has compelled his admiration; and Regine, piqued by Gervais' slight, promptly takes revenge by stealing Cresside's sweetheart, Sylvester Tremaine.

The story unfolds in the same majesty that marks the great river, flowing expansively towards the Gulf, and the curving road that accompanies it on its winding way. The past merges naturally and vitally into the present. Such legends as persist are lusty ones; such celebrations as continued are quickened to a modern tempo; even a leisurely trip on an outmoded stern-wheeler becomes the prelude to an extravagant week-end in New Orleans.

Never before has Mrs. Keys dealt in so rich a region, and never have her maturing powers revealed such a wealth of experience and such a warmth as they do in The River Road. The land itself becomes alive with characters. Here is a saga of sugar as it has never been written before, a great chronicle of a mighty highway as well as a superb story of the people who dwell along it.

The hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. Allen, served a delicious chicken salad course to the following: Mrs. W. A. Cotton, Mrs. J. L. Dennis, Mrs. Dan Dennett, Mrs. Gene Demmary, Mrs. Louis Peters, Mrs. J. D. Reeves, Mrs. R. L. Seiler, Mrs. Earl Stovall, Mrs. W. O. Webb, Mrs. Jerry Whitledge, Mrs. Robert Cowden, Mrs. Jordan Barton, Mrs. Henry Menuet and Mrs. Otto Passman.

During the business meeting it was voted to give a donation to the Community Chest. Two new members, Mrs. Walter Knapp and Mrs. A. E. Porter, Jr., were elected to the club at this time.

MISS GREEN AND MR. BRYAN ARE UNITED IN MARRIAGE AT IMPRESSIVE CHURCH CEREMONY

The interest of friends is centered in the marriage of Miss Chlotcel Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Green, of Choudrant, La., and Mr. Holmes Bryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Bryan, of Downsville, which was solemnized Saturday evening, November 2, at 7:30 o'clock at the New Hope Baptist Church of Choudrant. Rev. F. D. Bachman officiated at the impressive double-ring service before a large concourse of relatives and friends.

The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and baskets of mammoth white chrysanthemums interspersed with white candles in wrought iron floor candelabra. Pews for the families of the bride and groom were marked with white tulle bows and huckleberry foliage. Prior to the ceremony, while the guests were being seated by Miss Josephine Colvin, Mr. James Wesley Colvin, and Mr. Watson Green, Mrs. Stella B. Kidd, of Ruston, rendered a program of nuptial music. She softly played "In The Gloaming" while the tapers were lighted and the white linen carpet was laid by Miss Colvin and Mr. Colvin. She also accompanied Mr. Lavan Robinson who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." The traditional wedding marches were featured.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of ivory satin made with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves ending in lily point at the hand, and bouffant skirt ending in a court train. Her finger-tip veil was attached to a lace halo adorned with orange blossoms.

The bride's bouquet was of white carnations tied with white satin ribbons with shower streamers of tuberoses. For something old, the bride carried a white silk handkerchief which her mother carried on her own wedding day. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

The bride's sister, Miss Jo Linda Green, maid of honor, was lovely in white taffeta fashioned with sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice, short puffed sleeves, full skirt with bustle effect bow in back. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations. A corsage of the same flower worn in her hair completed her costume. Miss Josephine Colvin, bridesmaid, and niece of the bride, wore pink taffeta made on similar lines to that of the maid of honor. Her flowers were also the same.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table, with its white linen cloth, was centered with an embossed three-tiered wedding cake surrounded with a ruffle of white satin ribbon. Miniature bridal bouquets graced each corner of the table. The bride and groom cut and served the cake assisted by Mrs. Earl Colvin and Mrs. Andrew Riser and others. Mrs. S. B. Hancock presided at the punch bowl. The bride's book was in charge of Miss Lorena Farmer.

For traveling the bride wore a light gray wool gabardine suit with white blouse. Her accessories were black. With this she wore a pink corsage of carnations. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Bryan will make their home in Monroe.

Personals

Mrs. Brandon Kellogg, the former Miss Martha Clayton Kilpatrick, enjoyed a brief visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick, last week, and returned via air ways to Philadelphia.

Mrs. John Sherrouse and Mrs. Henry Biedenharn are enjoying a visit in Hot Springs, Ark., and are guests at the Arlington.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cruse are now established in their beautiful new home on Hudson Lane. This residence, formerly the old Parker home, was partially destroyed by fire and has been rebuilt along the same architectural lines by the present owner, Mr. Cruse.

Mrs. J. J. Potts is planning to leave the first of the week for a visit of several weeks in New York City.

Mrs. Carrie Walsh, department president of the Louisiana United Spanish War Veterans' Auxiliary, will pay her official visit to the Thompson Wood Lee auxiliary on Wednesday. A charming program has been arranged for her entertainment.

Mrs. Janet Powell has returned from a visit with her brother, Mr. James Nelson and Mrs. Nelson of Wichita Falls, Tex., and is completing her visit with her niece, Mrs. Vernon Maish and Mr. Maish before leaving for Palm Beach, Florida.

Mrs. W. L. Marlowe and infant son, George Woodford, of Arden, North Carolina, are visiting Mrs. Marlowe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Humble.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Davis left Thursday evening for Washington, D. C. They will be guests for several days of Mrs. Davis' sister, Mrs. R. R. Jemison and Mr. Jemison, at their home in Tacoma Park.

MONROE COUPLE UNITED IN MARRIAGE AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN TEMPLE, TEXAS

The chapel of the Presbyterian Church, Temple, Tex., was the scene of an impressive marriage ceremony when Miss Lucille Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jordan, 1004 Montgomery Avenue, West Monroe, became the bride of Lieutenant William P. Stough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Stough, 1825 DeSiard Drive, Monroe.

The Rev. Michael Mor Yosip performed the double-ring ceremony.

Captain William Taylor gave the bride in marriage. She was attired in a lovely blue Fred A. Bloch model with black accessories. She wore a corsage of white orchids.

Mrs. William Taylor, matron of honor, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a coral suit with corsage of white gladiolas.

Lieutenant George Lahey served as best man.

Both the bride and groom are former residents of Monroe and graduates of Ouachita Parish High School. They will make their home in Temple for the present.

Lieutenant Stough is currently stationed at Camp Hood, Tex., with the 233rd Searchlight Battalion. He reenlisted in the regular army last August after receiving his discharge from the war-time army and being placed in officers' reserve. During the war he spent four years overseas in Hawaii with a Seacoast Artillery Battalion.

REV. FILER J. SEAL
New Pastor of Trinity Baptist Church

The Trinity Baptist Church has called Rev. Filer J. Seal to be pastor of their church. Rev. Seal, present pastor of Second Baptist Church of Bogalusa, La., has accepted the call and will be present in our church to begin services on the First Sunday in December.

The Rev. Seal was pastor of the Church at Angie, La., and did a great work there. From Angie he went to the Second Baptist Church in Bogalusa. The Bogalusa Church has grown in membership, buildings, and equipment in the few years of his service with them.

YOUNG MEN CAN TRAVEL WIDELY

Korea, Japan, Work, Sports Available To Those In Army

Look forward Korea and Japan! A thrilling new job and a new life—with interesting work, sports, entertainment and travel opportunities—can be had for the asking by qualified young men who volunteer for one of the famed far eastern units listed below.

What an opportunity . . . what a job! Choose one of these great divisions, then set your sights for an experience that will be valuable to you all your life. Training in one of these crack units will stand you in good stead wherever you go. Study a foreign language. Learn the fascinating details of military government—so vital to future peace and world prosperity.

Not every one can measure up to this job. Only 3-year enlistees who meet prescribed physical and mental standards can enjoy the benefits of such a job. High overseas pay, excellent medical and dental care, good food and lodging and a generous retirement plan make your future in the army ground forces too good to miss!

Japan's "Isles of Pines" are but a sample of the attractions of an army career in the Far East. The army has reopened comfortable hotels, theaters, swimming pools, tennis clubs, golf courses, ball parks. These—familiar haunts of pre-war tourists—and many new developments—provide a broader choice of recreation for army men than is enjoyed by the average civilian at home.

First Cavalry Division—"The cavalry troops," now mechanized in Japan. First U. S. unit to reach Manila and Tokyo. Fought one of the war's wildest battles taking Momote airstrip on Los Negros. Received distinguished unit citations for action on Los Negros, Kwajalein and Layte.

Sixth Infantry Division—The "Red Star Division," now in Korea. Saw terrific action in New Guinea and Aansapor and moved on to play a vital role in clearing the Japs from Luzon, Philippine Islands.

Seventh Infantry Division — The "Hour Glass Division," now in Korea. First to recapture American territory from the Japs. Eight distinguished unit citations for action on Attu. Saw bitter fighting on Kwajalein, Layte and Okinawa.

Eleventh Airborne Division"—"The Angeles," now in Japan. Awarded 10 distinguished unit citations for spectacular fighting in six months on Layte and Luzon.

Twenty-fourth Division—The Victory Division, now in Japan. Veterans of heavy fighting in New Guinea, Layte, Mindoro, Marinduque Islands. Awarded distinguished unit citations for action in capturing Corregidor Fortress.

Twenty-fifth Infantry Division—The "Tropic Lighting Division," now in Japan. Saw heroic fighting on Guadalcanal, New Georgia, Vella LaVella and Luzon. Two distinguished unit citations for action on Luzon.

Young men, you can have all the information by calling 5354 or stopping by the recruiting office, 101 North Grand street, Monroe.

A very cold egg just out of the refrigerator is more likely to crack when put in hot water than an egg which is warmed to room temperature.

CUT THIS OUT

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of the hen was too short," said Henry Trafford, nationally famous Poultry Expert, for nearly eighteen years Editor of "Poultry Success."

The average pullet may lay 150 eggs or more—in second year may lay 100. Then she goes to market. Yet it has been definitely established that every pullet hatched has from 1,000 to 3,000 minute egg germs in her system—and may, in many instances, be made to lay on a highly profitable basis for as long as five years—if given proper care.

How to work to get up towards 1,000 eggs from hens instead of discarding them after one year of laying; how to keep up high production from fewer birds, save on upkeep, cost of breeding, rearing and feeding, and so get more net profit from every dozen eggs. These and many other money-making poultry secrets are in Mr. Trafford's 1,000 EGG HEN PLAN of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent to any reader of this paper who keeps poultry. Eggs, this year, will again be in great demand—at good prices—to take the place of hard-to-get meat. Means real profit to the poultry keeper who can make his birds produce. Mr. Trafford's plan tells how. If you keep chickens and want them to pay with EXTRA EGGS, cut out this notice and mail name and address to PENN POULTRY SERVICE, Suite 508, 333 North 15th St., Philadelphia (2), Pa., and free copy of the 1,000 EGG PLAN will be sent by return mail. Boyle's Notebook

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—One of Britain's fairest peeresses here on her first visit—finds America exciting but can't say as much for American men.

"The men are long-winded—their stories are too long," said Lady Rothermere, chic dark-haired wife of Viscount Rothermere, publisher of the London Daily Mail.

"At cocktail parties give me the women. They are more fun.

"You feel at once that this is a woman's world. The women have great power—more than in Britain. And they are certainly more entertaining than American men. They have the light touch and are quicker in conversation."

"Perhaps it's because our men don't work such long hours," she smiled.

She may be slightly prejudice in favor of Englishmen because her titled husband, one of Britain's press leaders, is tall and handsome enough to be a fugitive from a Hollywood contract.

She willingly concedes one edge in dress to American men: Their neckties.

"They are a bit startling to the English eye," she said, "but I'm all in favor of that. I like bright colors."

Among other aspects of American life that have won her approval are "your superb drugstores, women's department stores, nightclubs and broadway on Saturday night.

"I love to walk along Broadway in the crowds eating that popcorn covered with caramel.'

He's gone American enough, too, to ask for burbon now instead of Scotch at parties.

Slim, witty, serious, the young peeress has no career interest beyond the welfare of her husband's newspapers. She feels she wasted time in not coming to America sooner.

"Here I am 33 years old and seeing this country for the first time. I think I waited too long.

"I think everybody should see this country as early in life as possible. All the hopes and possibilities of the future do lie in America now. I want to send my son here to university."

She has a daughter, 10, and a son, 13, by a previous marriage. Her first husband, an Irish colonel, was killed during the war.

Some other first opinions on America:

"Superb women's shoes and ready-made clothes, but I still doubt you'll overtake the French in fashions.

"I was told everybody here had bad manners. That isn't true. The shopgirls have beautiful manners. But they are slower—take twice as long to wrap a parcel.

"Your upper classes have less individuality than ours. Your lower classes have more, perhaps because ours are less educated, although that will be corrected by the new education bill.

"I find it nice to be in a country where freedom of enterprise is still encouraged.

"The size of your newspapers and menus is bewildering. I believe I shall send some of the menus to my friends for Christmas cards.

"It is fascinating to see so much soap after seven years. Do you really have a shortage?

"Considering the wealth spent on them, New York apartments are uncomfortable. They give you an unlived-in feeling—as if you had walked into a hotel bedroom.

"That is odd in this rich life here. I suppose it is because people eat out because of the servant problem. But the apartments definitely aren't cosy. No magazines and books lying around. Everything is tidied up and put away."

If she could take just one thing back from America, what would it be?

"An icebox full of steaks."

And if Lady Rothermere could bring to America one English gift?

Northeast Junior College Ends Day With Brilliant Dance In Gym

Spectators were given a program packed with thrills and gala activities as Northeast Junior College climaxed her annual homecoming festivities with a football game between the local college Indians and Arkansas A. & M. College Friday night, November 8.

The weatherman declared it a proper time to celebrate, and he cooperated with a crisp, moonlight night as a perfect setting for an exciting game and special features. It was a packed stadium that responded with rare enthusiasm as Coach James L. Malone's team won a victory over the Arkansas aggregation with a score, 19 to 0.

Special pre-game features opened with a flag raising ceremony under direction of M/Sgt. Harry C. Jolly of the N. J. C. military staff. It was followed by an address made by Fred A. Coon, Jr., 1937 alumnus, who welcomed former students, graduates and visitors to the college. Irving Zeidman, 1941 alumnus, sang, "God Bless America," accompanied by the band directed by Harry Lemert of the music faculty.

Then Joe Pearce, N. J. C. student, took over the microphone for the coronation ceremony. Members of the royal court and their escorts crossed the field from the east and as they reached the royal platform they formed an aisle through which Queen Pauline Dearman, freshman, of Delhi, and her escort, Walter Hastings, of West Monroe, walked. The pretty little crown bearer, Marjorie "Boofie" Malone, daughter of Coach Malone, stood with Dr. S. A. Caldwell, dean of the junior division of Louisiana State University, and coordinator of the university's junior colleges. From a white satin pillow, Dr. Caldwell took the jewelled crown to place upon the head of Miss Dearman as he declared, "I crown thee queen of homecoming."

Members of the court and their escorts included: Miss Kiki Gatzoulas, Monroe freshman, and Nick Kokinos; Miss Naomi Harris, Clarks, freshman, and Edward Clark; Miss Libby Siegle, Monroe sophomore, and Maurice Phillips; Miss Joyce Toler, Monroe, freshman, and Doyle Parker; Miss Rose Marie West, Grayson, sophomore, and Ray "Tut" Whittington. The queen carried an arm bouquet of specimen gold chrysanthemums tied with wide purple satin ribbon, and the maids wore corsages of these same flowers with purple ribbons. Miss Barbara Finlay, who was elected maid of honor, was unable to participate in the activities because of a recent operation. She had chosen Perry Bedgood as her escort.

During the half-time celebration the Indianettes, in colorful costume, marched on the field to form the greeting, "Hi." The Men's Glee Club sang, "Grand Old Grads," accompanied by the band. While twirlers Susanne Phebus, Naomi Harris, Faye Glass and Marinel Bacon and drum major Ralph Catlin did special stunts, the Indianettes, led by majorette Libby Siegle, spelled "Grad," and went through intricate formations to win enthusiastic response from the audience.

The field was darkened for a display of fireworks that gave spectators an unexpected thrill. The final feature was a real camp fire which burned as the Indianettes danced around it with Indian music played by the band.

Throughout the game the cheer leaders in purple and white costumes gave a spectacular performance as they danced, sang and yelled. The group comprised: Dorothy Addison, Mary Cloud, Barbara Ellis, Roy Holloway, Mack Wayne Morris, Dan Trimble and Ann Martin.

Other organizations that were active at the game were the members of Phi Theta Kappa, who sold corsages made by them, and the Purple Jackets who attended in uniform.

The evening's festivities were completed with the dance in the college gymnasium. The gala affair was sponsored by the student council in honor of former students and alumni, with Bob Powell, president of the organization, in charge. His decorating committee transformed the building into a scene of gaiety.

The afternoon social event was an open house in the student center.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The war chapter in the story of Angela Lansbury's family, which is as dramatic as any ever filmed, has come to a pleasant ending. It's doubtful that in this happy land there could be a family happier than hers.

In 1940, Angela, her mother (actress Moyna McGill) and her younger, twin brothers left blitzed England and came to the U. S. on a visitors' visa, sponsored by C. T. Wilson of New York. They left behind the other daughter, Isolde, married a week to Peter Ustinov, British producer.

After their visa expired, the little family went up to Canada. Their finances hit bottom. Moyna got a job touring the Dominion with a troupe to raise funds for the training of nurses. Fifteen-year-old Angela became a song-and-dance girl in a Montreal night club.

Moyna had saved some money by the time she reached western Canada, and took a chance by going to Hollywood. She landed a small contract at MGM and sent for her children. Then Angela began haunting the casting offices for a job to help support the family. One of the directors, she laughs now, "came right out and said I was nuts."

Nuts or not, she persisted, and finally landed a test for "Dorian Grey." Instead, she was handed the maid's role in "Gaslight," and her first performance won her an academy nomination for the best supporting job. She was nominated again last year for "Dorian." Now she is starring in "Bel Ami," and firmly established in Hollywood.

But around the Lansbury home, the first they have owned since the war, they would scarcely notice Angela was a screen star. At present, the household is joyous over the reunion with Isolde, who arrived from England recently with her 15-month-old baby. Everyone seems radiant, even down to Fella the dog and Ingrid the cat.

Isolde may be somewhat amazed at how Americanized the rest of her family is becoming. The 16-year-old twins play the violin and paint, but, said Angela, "they are also hep." She is now teaching them how to dance, American style. And the boys can often be found tinkering over their jalopy.

But some things remain, I discovered, as we all joined in a rousing pot of tea.

Keep knives in a wall rack or in a special place in a drawer where they may not expose you to cuts.

YOUNG MEN CAN TRAVEL WIDELY

Korea, Japan, Work, Sports Available To Those In Army

Look forward Korea and Japan! A thrilling new job and a new life—with interesting work, sports, entertainment and travel opportunities—can be had for the asking by qualified young men who volunteer for one of the famed far eastern units listed below.

What an opportunity . . . what a job! Choose one of these great divisions, then set your sights for an experience that will be valuable to you all your life. Training in one of these crack units will stand you in good stead wherever you go. Study a foreign language. Learn the fascinating details of military government—so vital to future peace and world prosperity.

Not every one can measure up to this job. Only 3-year enlistees who meet prescribed physical and mental standards can enjoy the benefits of such a job. High overseas pay, excellent medical and dental care, good food and lodging and a generous retirement plan make your future in the army ground forces too good to miss!

Japan's "Isles of Pines" are but a sample of the attractions of an army career in the Far East. The army has reopened comfortable hotels, theaters, swimming pools, tennis clubs, golf courses, ball parks. These—familiar haunts of pre-war tourists—and many new developments—provide a broader choice of recreation for army men than is enjoyed by the average civilian at home.

First Cavalry Division—"The cavalry troops," now mechanized in Japan. First U. S. unit to reach Manila and Tokyo. Fought one of the war's wildest battles taking Momote airstrip on Los Negros. Received distinguished unit citations for action on Los Negros, Kwajalein and Layte.

Sixth Infantry Division—The "Red Star Division," now in Korea. Saw terrific action in New Guinea and Aansapor and moved on to play a vital role in clearing the Japs from Luzon, Philippine Islands.

Seventh Infantry Division — The "Hour Glass Division," now in Korea. First to recapture American territory from the Japs. Eight distinguished unit citations for action on Attu. Saw bitter fighting on Kwajalein, Layte and Okinawa.

Eleventh Airborne Division"—"The Angeles," now in Japan. Awarded 10 distinguished unit citations for spectacular fighting in six months on Layte and Luzon.

Twenty-fourth Division—The Victory Division, now in Japan. Veterans of heavy fighting in New Guinea, Layte, Mindoro, Marinduque Islands. Awarded distinguished unit citations for action in capturing Corregidor Fortress.

Twenty-fifth Infantry Division—The "Tropic Lighting Division," now in Japan. Saw heroic fighting on Guadalcanal, New Georgia, Vella LaVella and Luzon. Two distinguished unit citations for action on Luzon.

Young men, you can have all the information by calling 5354 or stopping by the recruiting office, 101 North Grand street, Monroe.

CUT THIS OUT

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of the hen was too short," said Henry Trafford, nationally famous Poultry Expert, for nearly eighteen years Editor of "Poultry Success."

The average pullet may lay 150 eggs or more—in second year may lay 100. Then she goes to market. Yet it has been definitely established that every pullet hatched has from 1,000 to 3,000 minute egg germs in her system—and may, in many instances, be made to lay on a highly profitable basis for as long as five years—if given proper care.

How to work to get up towards 1,000 eggs from hens instead of discarding them after one year of laying; how to keep up high production from fewer birds, save on upkeep, cost of breeding, rearing and feeding, and so get more net profit from every dozen eggs. These and many other money-making poultry secrets are in Mr. Trafford's 1,000 EGG HEN PLAN of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent to any reader of this paper who keeps poultry. Eggs, this year, will again be in great demand—at good prices—to take the place of hard-to-get meat. Means real profit to the poultry keeper who can make his birds produce. Mr. Trafford's plan tells how. If you keep chickens and want them to pay with EXTRA EGGS, cut out this notice and mail name and address to PENN POULTRY SERVICE, Suite 508, 333 North 15th St., Philadelphia (2), Pa., and free copy of the 1,000 EGG PLAN will be sent by return mail. Boyle's Notebook

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—One of Britain's fairest peeresses here on her first visit—finds America exciting but can't say as much for American men.

"The men are long-winded—their stories are too long," said Lady Rothermere, chic dark-haired wife of Viscount Rothermere, publisher of the London Daily Mail.

"At cocktail parties give me the women. They are more fun.

"You feel at once that this is a woman's world. The women have great power—more than in Britain. And they are certainly more entertaining than American men. They have the light touch and are quicker in conversation."

Lady Rothermere—"Annie" to her friends—thinks, too, that the men of her own country are more charming than their American cousins, chiefly because they have more energy left for the give-and-take of evening social life.

"Perhaps it's because our men don't work such long hours," she smiled.

She may be slightly prejudice in favor of Englishmen because her titled husband, one of Britain's press leaders, is tall and handsome enough to be a fugitive from a Hollywood contract.

She willingly concedes one edge in dress to American men: Their neckties.

"They are a bit startling to the English eye," she said, "but I'm all in favor of that. I like bright colors."

Among other aspects of American life that have won her approval are "your superb drugstores, women's department stores, nightclubs and broadway on Saturday night.

"I love to walk along Broadway in the crowds eating that popcorn covered with caramel.'

He's gone American enough, too, to ask for burbon now instead of Scotch at parties.

Slim, witty, serious, the young peeress has no career interest beyond the welfare of her husband's newspapers. She feels she wasted time in not coming to America sooner.

"Here I am 33 years old and seeing this country for the first time. I think I waited too long.

"I think everybody should see this country as early in life as possible. All the hopes and possibilities of the future do lie in America now. I want to send my son here to university."

She has a daughter, 10, and a son, 13, by a previous marriage. Her first husband, an Irish colonel, was killed during the war.

Some other first opinions on America:

"Superb women's shoes and ready-made clothes, but I still doubt you'll overtake the French in fashions.

"I was told everybody here had bad manners. That isn't true. The shopgirls have beautiful manners. But they are slower—take twice as long to wrap a parcel.

"Your upper classes have less individuality than ours. Your lower classes have more, perhaps because ours are less educated, although that will be corrected by the new education bill.

"I find it nice to be in a country where freedom of enterprise is still encouraged.

"The size of your newspapers and menus is bewildering. I believe I shall send some of the menus to my friends for Christmas cards.

"It is fascinating to see so much soap after seven years. Do you really have a shortage?

"Considering the wealth spent on them, New York apartments are uncomfortable. They give you an unlived-in feeling—as if you had walked into a hotel bedroom.

"That is odd in this rich life here. I suppose it is because people eat out because of the servant problem. But the apartments definitely aren't cosy. No magazines and books lying around. Everything is tidied up and put away."

If she could take just one thing back from America, what would it be?

"An icebox full of steaks."

And if Lady Rothermere could bring to America one English gift?

Members of the royal court and their escorts crossed the field from the east and as they reached the royal platform they formed an aisle through which Queen Pauline Dearman, freshman, of Delhi, and her escort, Walter Hastings, of West Monroe, walked. The pretty little crown bearer, Marjorie "Boofie" Malone, daughter of Coach Malone, stood with Dr. S. A. Caldwell, dean of the junior division of Louisiana State University, and coordinator of the university's junior colleges. From a white satin pillow, Dr. Caldwell took the jewelled crown to place upon the head of Miss Dearman as he declared, "I crown thee queen of homecoming."

Members of the court and their escorts included: Miss Kiki Gatzoulas, Monroe freshman, and Nick Kokinos; Miss Naomi Harris, Clarks, freshman, and Edward Clark; Miss Libby Siegle, Monroe sophomore, and Maurice Phillips; Miss Joyce Toler, Monroe, freshman, and Doyle Parker; Miss Rose Marie West, Grayson, sophomore, and Ray "Tut" Whittington. The queen carried an arm bouquet of specimen gold chrysanthemums tied with wide purple satin ribbon, and the maids wore corsages of these same flowers with purple ribbons. Miss Barbara Finlay, who was elected maid of honor, was unable to participate in the activities because of a recent operation. She had chosen Perry Bedgood as her escort.

During the half-time celebration the Indianettes, in colorful costume, marched on the field to form the greeting, "Hi." The Men's Glee Club sang, "Grand Old Grads," accompanied by the band. While twirlers Susanne Phebus, Naomi Harris, Faye Glass and Marinel Bacon and drum major Ralph Catlin did special stunts, the Indianettes, led by majorette Libby Siegle, spelled "Grad," and went through intricate formations to win enthusiastic response from the audience.

The field was darkened for a display of fireworks that gave spectators an unexpected thrill. The final feature was a real camp fire which burned as the Indianettes danced around it with Indian music played by the band.

Throughout the game the cheer leaders in purple and white costumes gave a spectacular performance as they danced, sang and yelled. The group comprised: Dorothy Addison, Mary Cloud, Barbara Ellis, Roy Holloway, Mack Wayne Morris, Dan Trimble and Ann Martin.

Other organizations that were active at the game were the members of Phi Theta Kappa, who sold corsages made by them, and the Purple Jackets who attended in uniform.

The evening's festivities were completed with the dance in the college gymnasium. The gala affair was sponsored by the student council in honor of former students and alumni, with Bob Powell, president of the organization, in charge. EDUCATION OF YOUTH PERILED

Speaker Declares Teaching Fast Becoming Demoralized

The principal speaker at the Optimist Club's luncheon at Hotel Frances Friday noon was Walter Minnear, teacher and band director at the Ouachita Parish High School. He said that public schools have been in the public limelight due to low salaries, shortage of teachers and other conditions that prevail. He declared that the teaching profession lacks the proper kind of recruits, and that will in the end affect the education of youth of the nation.

Teachers today, he said, are coming from the lower 50 percent of our high school students, those below the average scholastically, physically and socially.

Over 125,000 emergency teaching certificates were issued this year because of teacher shortage. These emergency certificates, issued on a temporary basis, permit teachers to teach for one term only. The principal cause of this condition, he said, is the low salaries paid teachers, stating that the average salary paid in Ouachita parish the past year was $1,750. The shortage, he said, is growing worse as other fields offer so much greater inducements.

Mr. Minnear said that the situation is critical and presents a challenge nationwide in scope and that all south are deeply concerned for their future and the fuure of the nation lies at stake.

BAND CAN ENROLL MORE PLAYERS

Randolph Cannon, leader of the municipal band, sponsored by the Monroe Recreation department, has requested all persons who desire to play in the band to be on hand Monday night at Neville High School for rehearsal. Band practice starts at 7:30 and ends at 9:00.

Girls are also invited to play. Efforts will be made to get instruments for those who do not have one.

DROP INDUSTRIAL FOUNDATION PLAN

'Lack Of Public Support' Given As Reason For Abandoning Project

Abandonment of the projected "Industrial Foundation" was announced Saturday by George D. Holland, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The public statement came a week after individuals, who had subscribed to the proposed $100,000 fund for attracting new manufacturing enterprises to the community, received their checks back with a note explaining the plan had been dropped "because of lack of public support."

Before the sponsors decided not to attempt to carry through with their widely publicized program the announcement said, there had been received 112 subscriptions totaling $31,900, or less than a third of the desired amount, and only $8,850 of the pledged sum had been paid into the treasury.

"It had been expected that at least 20 individuals and firms would subscribe $5,000 each," Manager Holland said, "but only two such subscriptions were received."

Payment from the Chamber of Commerce budget of all bills against the dissolved Foundation has been authorized, the announcement concluded.

At the suggestion of J. S. Drew, chairman of the Chamber's education committee, the board of directors has approved a program to raise an "educational loan fund" to make temporary loans to veterans at Northeast Junior College to tide them over financial hardships caused by the slowness of the veterans administration to provide the students their educational grants.

Dean Cline of the college had advised Mr. Drew some students were entering the school and were being forced to drop out because the veterans administration was so slow in sending the monthly checks. The loan fund will be administered by the registrar's office in making temporary advances to students.

Possibilities for a new 250-bed hospital for the Twin Cities were discussed at length at a meeting of the weekly meeting of the chamber directors at Hotel Virginia.

W. J. Riley reporting for the hospital committee stated that various church denominations including Methodist, Episcopal, Catholic, Presbyterian and Baptist, had been contacted with the view of interesting one of them in the erection and operation of another hospital here. He said it was the view of the committee that should a denomination sponsor such a project a substantial portion of the cost would have to be borne by the community. Dr. Scott Hamilton and Dr. J. W. Cummins have been appointed by P. E. Massey chairman of he commitee to discuss the possibility of a hospital being erected in the Twin Cities by the Methodists with the Bishop and Methodist officials at their approaching conference to be held in Alexandria this month.

One-third of the cost of certain hospitals may be obtained from federal funds through the Hill-Burton act, Mr. Riley stated. Whether or not such funds would be available for a general hospital in Monroe was not known.

A woman, Juanita Miller, address not listed, also was fined $100 for drunk driving, as was Joe Fudge, colored, who also drew a 60-day suspended jail sentence.

H. J. Frost, 54, was fined $20 on a peace disturbance charge.

Other persons arrested by troopers were W. E. Mashaw, 57, of Farmerville, disturbing the peace, Frank Harvey, 37, colored, of Lake Providence, improper lights; Louis Jones, 42, of Bastrop, passing halted school bus, and Cleve Bell, 56, colored, of Lake Providence, reckless driving.

CHINA'S PRELATE RATES HIGHLY

Rt. Rev. Robin Chen Will Address Episcopal Group Here

The Rt. Rev. Robin T. S. Chen, who will address the annual Episcopal Woman's Auxiliary here Wednesday at 8 p. m., is from the diocese of Anking, China, where he assists Bishop Lloyd R. Craighill in administering the largest of the three American church dioceses in China.

During the war Bishop Chen took up residence in the Free China part of the diocese, and during Bishop Craighill's internment and subsequent release and visit to America, Bishop Chen carried the full responsibility of diocesan administration.

"He is one of the most brilliant Chinese clergy in the whole American Mission," wrote a friend who has known him many years. A Chinese of distinguished lineage, his father a government official, he became a Christian in his youth.

After graduating from Boone University, now part of Central China College and the divinity school then at Wuchang, he was ordained and then spent nearly three years studying in the United States mostly at the University of Pennsylvania and the Philadelphia Divinity School.

In 1930 the Divinity School bestowed an honorary degree on him but had to award it in absentia as Dr. Chen, then dean of Anking's Cathedral of Our Savior, was at that moment shepherding his people in parts unknown while on their flight from bombing. The citation accompanying his degree spoke of "his astounding mastery of Occidental learning and his rare ability to express himself in an acquired tongue."

In China he is regarded as a particularly gifted preacher, and crowds flock to hear him.

Tall, vigorous, with a fine physique, a hearty laugh, and a face that lights up, he has a most winning personality.

PASTOR AND WIFE GIVEN RECEPTION

BERNICE La., Nov. 9.—(Special)—A good bye party held at the Baptist parsonage Wednesday night was held by Rev. and Mrs. R. R. Middleton for Rev. and Mrs. S. G. Rodgers who are leaving for Eunice where Rev. Rodgers will be pastor. He has been missionary in this section for two years, and has organized a number of churches in northeast Louisiana and has supplied pulpits where there were no pastors.

He has been greatly aided by his wife an accomplished musician and church leader. A useful gift was presented by their many friends and admirers here.

BIG CEREMONIAL DOKEY PROJECT

Carl R. Mitchell, Imperial Secretary, To Be Honored Guest

Hail! Hail! the gang's all here! Now will come another big Dokey ceremonial, Wednesday, Nov. 13, at Castle Hall, 127 1/2 St. John street, to honor Carl R. Mitchell, imperial secretary of Dokeys, Cincinnati, O. He was here several years ago in a Dokey ceremonial.

M. C. Williams, royal vizier of E. Miro Temple No. 187, Knights of Khorassan, states Monroe has been decidedly honored in the past two months as on Labor day, last September 12, Fallis Rees, who is imperial prince of Dokeys, Denver, Colo., was here when over 450 attended from this district of which Norman Coon is district deputy. Among the states represented were Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Texas, Oklahoma and other states.

Royal Vizier McWilliams of El Miro Temple asks all Dokeys to meet at the hall Wednesday morning by 10 o'clock to meet Mr. Mitchell at the train. He will arrive from Jackson, Miss.

A special luncheon in his honor will be held at Hotel Frances at noon. Reservations can be made by calling L. J. Hunnicutt, El Miro Temple secretary, or Guy Smith at the hotel.

A real old fashioned chili supper will be served by local Dokeys at 7 p. m. After this supper, El Miro Temple will be host. The Tigers will take care of the Tyros. A big time is planned. Get out all possible tyros, urge local temple officers.

This week will be a banner one for Pythianism. Monday night Monroe Temple No. 1, Pythian Sisters, will meet as usual; Tuesday night Friendship Temple No. 3, Pythian Sisters, meet as usual; Wednesday night the big Dokey party is planned and Thursday night Stonewall Lodge No. 8 will confer the second rank on a large class.

PLAN FORMAL OPENING

The public is invited to a formal opening of the Caldwell Hospital in Columbia, La., today, from 2 to 5 p. m. Dr. Eldredge L. Carroll is the hospital superintendent.

BROWNIE LEADERS TO TAKE STUDIES

The Ouachita Parish Girl Scout Council will offer a four-hour training session for Brownie leaders and troop committee members at the Girl Scout Office Tuesday and Wednesday morning from 9 to 11. The first session on Tuesday will cover general information about the organization of a Brownie troop and about the Girl Scout organization as a whole. On Wednesday the entire session will be devoted to program planning for Brownies. It is hoped that old leaders will attend this session and share their knowledge and experience with the new leaders.

On November 19, 20 and 21 there will be a training session for all intermediate leaders and troop committee members. The session on the 19th will cover general organization procedures for new leaders. This session will be of interest to troop committee members as well. The session on the 20th will cover program planning for second class, and on the 21st we will cover program planning in badge work. The last two sessions will be of interest to both new and old leaders.

Asthma Mucus Loosened First Day
For Thousands of Sufferers

Coughing, gasping, wheezing, recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma ruin your sleep and energy because you can't get air in and out of your lungs properly. But now it is no longer necessary to suffer from these terrible attacks without the benefit you may receive from a physician's prescription called Mendaco. The very first dose of Mendaco ingredients circulate thru the blood, to the Bronchial tubes where they usually quickly help liquefy, loosen and remove thick strangling mucus, thereby alleviating coughing and promoting freer breathing and more restful sleep. Get Mendaco from your druggist today. Take it exactly as directed for 8 Days under our guaranteed trial offer. See how quickly you improve. You be the judge. Money back unless completely satisfied.

EDUCATION OF YOUTH PERILED

Speaker Declares Teaching Fast Becoming Demoralized

The principal speaker at the Optimist Club's luncheon at Hotel Frances Friday noon was Walter Minniear, teacher and band director at the Ouachita Parish High School. He said that public schools have been in the public limelight due to low salaries, shortage of teachers and other conditions that prevail. He declared that the teaching profession lacks the proper kind of recruits, and that will in the end affect the education of youth of the nation.

Teachers today, he said, are coming from the lower 50 percent of our high school students, those below the average scholastically, physically and socially.

Over 125,000 emergency teaching certificates were issued this year because of teacher shortage. These emergency certificates, issued on a temporary basis, permit teachers to teach for one term only. The principal cause of this condition, he said, is the low salaries paid teachers, stating that the average salary paid in Ouachita parish the past year was $1,750. The shortage, he said, is growing worse as oher fields offer so much greater inducements.

Mr. Minniear said that the situation is critical and presents a challenge nationwide in scope and that all youth are deeply concerned for their fuure and the fuure of the nation lies at stake.

BAND CAN ENROLL MORE PLAYERS

Randolph Cannon, leader of the municipal band, sponsored by the Monroe Recreation department, has requested all persons who desire to play in the band to be on hand Monday night at Neville High School for rehearsal. Band practice starts at 7:30 and ends at 9:00.

Girls are also invited to play. Efforts will be made to get instruments for those who do not have one.

'Lack Of Public Support' Given As Reason For Abandoning Project

Abandonment of the projected "Industrial Foundation" was announced Saturday by George D. Holland, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The public statement came a week after individuals, who had subscribed to the proposed $100,000 fund for attracting new manufacturing enterprises to the community, received their checks back with a note explaining the plan had been dropped "because of lack of public support."

Before the sponsors decided not to attempt to carry through with their widely publicized program the announcement said, there had been received 112 subscripions totaling $31,900, or less than a third of the desired amount, and only $8,850 of the pledged sum had been paid into the treasury.

"It had been expected that at least 20 individuals and firms would subscribe $5,000 each," Manager Holland said, "but only two such subscriptions were received."

Payment from the Chamber of Commerce budget of all bills against the dissolved Foundation has been authorized, the announcement concluded.

At the suggestion of J. S. Drew, chairman of the Chamber's education committee, the board of directors has approved a program to raise an "educational loan fund" to make temporary loans to veterans at Northeast Junior College to tide them over financial hardships caused by the slowness of the veterans administration to provide the students their educational grants.

Dean Cline of the college had advised Mr. Drew some students were entering the school and were being forced to drop out because the veterans administration was so slow in sending the monthly checks. The loan fund will be administered by the registrar's office in making temporary advances to students.

Possibilities for a new 250-bed hospital for the Twin Cities were discussed at length at a meeting of the weekly meeting of the chamber directors at Hotel Virginia.

W. J. Riley reporting for the hospital committee stated that various church denominations including Methodist, Episcopal, Catholic, Presbyterian and Baptist, had been contacted with the view of interesting one of them in the erection and operation of another hospital here. He said it was the view of the committee that should a denomination sponsor such a project a substantial portion of the cost would have to be borne by the community. Dr. Scott Hamilton and Dr. J. W. Cummins have been appoined by P. E. Massey chairman of he commitee to discuss the possibility of a hospital being erected in the Twin Cities by the Methodists with the Bishop and Methodist officials at their approaching conference to be held in Alexandria this month.

One-third of the cost of certain hospitals may be obtained from federal funds through the Hill-Burton act, Mr. Riley stated. Whether or not such funds would be available for a general hospital in Monroe was not known.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

by MILTON CANIFF

TERRY, M'FRIEND, YOU ARE JUST PLAIN, OLD-FASHIONED JEALOUS!

NOW, DON'T GET PURPLE AROUND THE EARS, LOCHINVAR LEE! OL' HOTSHOT KNOWS WHEN YOU'RE ON A COURTIN' KICK ...YOU BLUSH OVERTIME!

DIDN'T I ARRANGE FOR JANE ALLEN TO GO TO SNAKE TUMBLIN'S GRAVE? HAVEN'T I TREATED DEETH CRISPIN RIGHT—EVEN THOUGH SHE HAS BEEN WITH HIM MOST OF THE TIME ON THIS TRIP?

WHY SO HUFFY? SURE YOU PROVED TO HER AND YOURSELF THAT SNAKE WAS KILLED... THEN YOU WERE ROUGH ON CRISPIN UNTIL YOU LEARNED HE LOST AN ARM IN THE WAR

I DON'T SEE WHAT THAT ADDS UP TO...

I DUNNO—EXCEPT THAT I'M GLAD YOU'RE NOT JEALOUS OF OL' HOTSHOT! YOU'D KEEP ME A COPILOT THE REST OF MY LIFE...

SPEAKING OF JANE AND DEETH, THEY WERE DUE TO MEET US HERE LONG BEFORE THIS!

M'SIEU LEE! M'SIEU CHARLOT! M'MSELLE ALLEN —SHE CALLS FOR YOU —AT THE INN OF THE ROSE! IT IS TROUBLE!

JANE IN A JAM?

HE'S HURT, TERRY! BLOOD!

DO NOT HESITATE FOR ME! HURRY!

THEY HAVE GONE?

LIKE SHEEP! IT WAS AS NOTHING!

THEN WE MAY PROCEED TO THE DROME AND DISABLE THEIR PLANE! CRISPIN WILL CARRY NO GOODS FROM HERE!

THE GUARD WILL BE NO PROBLEM

M'SIEU LEE DIRECTED THAT YOUR LONELY VIGIL BE RELIEVED BY THIS REFRESHMENT!

SO?

HA! I HEARD A THUD FROM THE GUARD'S POST!

TERRY NOV-10

The PHANTOM by LEE FALK and RAY MOORE

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

SO THAT WAS YOUR PLANE I SAW WRECKED ON THE SLOPE--

YES, AND THOSE GRAVES WERE THE REST OF THE TROUPE THAT PERISHED IN THE CRASH. I ALONE SURVIVED--

"FOR TWO WEEKS, I BRAVED THE COLD IN THIS ABSURD COSTUME, WHILE THE WOGU BROUGHT ME FOOD OFFERINGS. THEY THOUGHT I WAS SOME SORT OF WITCH OR SPIRIT---- "

"IT WAS DULL AND COLD UP THERE. TO AMUSE MYSELF, I DID A FEW TRICKS ONE DAY-- AND BROUGHT DOWN THE HOUSE! THEY WERE NOW POSITIVE I WAS A SORCERESS.

"BY SIGNS, THEY TOLD ME THEY WANTED ME TO GO TO THEIR VILLAGE. I FIGURED IT COULDN'T BE WORSE THAN THE MOUNTAIN, SO I WENT. IT WAS A BUMPY RIDE--- "

"THEY CARRIED ME AND ALL MY MAGIC APPARATUS INTO THE VILLAGE--I COULDN'T SPEAK A WORD TO THEM--I WAS LOST, A MILLION MILES FROM NO-WHERE--BUT I WAS HAPPY. AT LAST, I WAS WARM! "

"MY ONLY CHANCE FOR SAFETY WAS IN CONTINUING THE ACT, SO I PREPARED MY SLIDING PANELS AND OTHER APPARATUS- AND BECAME THE SCARLET SORCERESS OF THE WOGU!

Copr. 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.

QUITE A STORY, MAGDA, BUT WHY DID YOU TELL THE KING YOU NEEDED THE BLOOD OF A FAIR PRINCESS TO SAVE HIS CHILD? WHY DID YOU TELL THEM TO KIDNAP VALERIE?

Tarzan

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

AFTER THE JADE PRIESTESS VANISHED IN THE SACRED FLAME, TA-DEN THE KING LED TARZAN AND OM-AT INTO ANOTHER GROTTO ROOM WHERE A BARBARIC BANQUET WAS SPREAD.

AT THE TABLE, TA-DEN SPOKE TO HIS FRIENDS. "WHEN OUR HUNGER IS SATISFIED, WE SHALL RETURN TO A-LUR WHERE I SHALL ASSUME THE THRONE!"

"THOSE WHO CONSPIRED WITH JATO-LUR TO KILL JA-DON, MY FATHER, AND FORCED ME INTO EXILE SHALL BE PUNISHED QUICKLY," HE SAID.

"YOU, MY FRIENDS, WHO HAVE SERVED ME WELL, SHALL HOLD EXALTED PLACES IN MY KINGDOM!" TARZAN ROSE TO HIS FEET AND REPLIED: "THANK YOU, TA-DEN, BUT WE CANNOT ACCEPT!"

"I SEEK MY MATE LOST WHEN AN IRON BIRD CRASHED TO EARTH BEYOND THE MOUNTAINS. OM-AT GOES WITH ME. TOO MUCH TIME HAS BEEN LOST ALREADY!"

"I GRIEVE THAT YOU CANNOT RETURN TO A-LUR WITH ME," TA-DEN SAID, "BUT I UNDERSTAND. WOULD THAT I COULD ACCOMPANY YOU ON ONE MORE GREAT ADVENTURE!"

TA-DEN INSISTED HIS WARRIORS GUIDE THE APE-MAN AND HIS WAZ-DON COMPANION TO PAL-UL-DON--THE UNDERGROUND RIVER, FIRST STAGE OF THEIR JOURNEY.

"GOOD LUCK!" TA-DEN SHOUTED, AS THE MEN GOT INTO THE BOAT. "MAY THE GREAT GOD JAD-BEN-OTHO KEEP YOU SAFE!"

AFTER HOURS SPENT IN TRAVERSING THE STYGIAN LABYRINTH, THE CRAFT SUDDENLY RODE THE CREST OF A FOAMING TORRENT INTO THE BRIGHT SUNLIGHT OF THE OUTER WORLD.

WHEN THEY FINALLY ARRIVED AT THE COUNTRY'S NORTHERN BORDER, TARZAN AND OM-AT BADE FAREWELL TO TA-DEN'S GUIDES AND ENTERED THE DREADED, ENCIRCLING MORASS.

THROUGH THE MUD AND SLIME OF THE SWAMP THE TWO INTREPID TRAVELERS MADE THEIR WAY WITHOUT INCIDENT. AT LAST, THEY SET FOOT UPON A FORBIDDEN LAND.

FORGING THROUGH THE DEEP JUNGLE, THE APE-MAN STOPPED ABRUPTLY AND HELD UP HIS HAND. THERE, DIRECTLY AHEAD, WAS THE WRECKAGE OF AN AIRPLANE

WE BUY A SWING FOR THE KIDDIES

COME ON, POP, MOVE YOUR THUMB!

GOSH, SUSIE, YOU WERE ALL FOR IT WHEN WE TALKED IT OVER - YOU CAN'T KEEP KIDS OUT OF THE STREETS, UNLESS YOU GIVE 'EM SOMETHING TO DO AT HOME - YOU SAID THAT, YOURSELF - WELL, WE'RE DOING THIS FOR MYRTLE, NOT US, AND I SAY THERE'S NOTHING TOO GOOD FOR MYRTLE!

O-K, BUT I STILL THINK THE SMALL SIZE WOULD HAVE BEEN BIG ENOUGH, WHERE DO YOU THINK I'M GOING TO HANG THE WASHING?

IT BURNS ME UP THE WAY THEY DO EVERYTHING FOR THE KIDDIES. THEY NEVER THINK ABOUT US DOGS.

OH, WELL, I'D RATHER RUN IN THE STREET, ANYHOW!

CHEER UP, ALICE! YOU'LL HAVE TO GET USED TO SWING MUSIC!

SCREECH!

FREDDIE, NOT SO HIGH!

OH, SLUG! YOU JUST DON'T KNOW YOUR OWN STRENGTH!

OH, FOR PITTY THAKE!

ISN'T IT WONDERFUL THE THINGS THEY MAKE FOR CHILDREN!

WHERE DO THESE GO?

BOLT A TO B BEFORE ATTACHING BRACE F!

I'M NEXT

SIT DOWN AND RELAX, SAMPSON. PRETTY SOON THEY'LL ALL GET WINDED AND THEN WE'LL GET A CHANCE AT IT!

LET'S BARK!

IF THEY'D HAD THESE THINGS FIFTY YEARS AGO, ARNOLD MIGHT HAVE BEEN A DIFFERENT STORY!

WE'RE JUST TESTING IT FOR YOU!

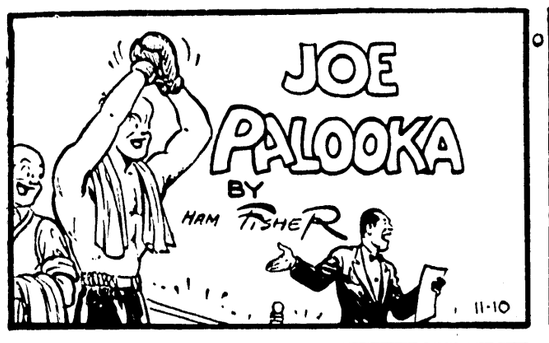

YOU SEE, ARNOLD, WHEN YOU HOLD OUT ON CHANGE I ALWAYS FIND IT OUT!

TRUMAN ASKS RESTRAINT BY 2 PARTIES

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Recalling the campaign orations and advertisements, I realize now that the objection to New Dealism, which I thought was most important and still believe was most persuasive in the change, was mentioned hardly at all by the Republican candidates and their highly indignant assistants.

Of course, the people were good and sore about the scarcity of food in the stores and the hours lost waiting in lines, and the degree of relief from this condition only reminded them that the shortage had been artificial, after all. President Truman had guessed wrong. There was a good deal of ill-tempered and mostly dishonest dispute about the housing shortage and, while Governor Dewey was justified in boasting that, within his state, he had done better than the national government had done in the nation, still I wasn't blaming Mr. Truman or the Democrats. We had done very little building of rental properties since 1929, when millions of the voters who now felt the pinch were very young. You get a stuffy effect when you speak of "investment capital," but you understand the idea when you ask yourself whether you would be willing to put your own savings in an apartment house or subdivision for the purpose of making a dollar. Did Harold Ickes? Did F. D. R.?

In the war years we had done no permanent building of this kind in the areas of regular need and the dilapidation had been faster than usual for lack of materials and labor and lack of incentive to make repairs under rent controls. Those controls still punish and restrain the landlord—who is a historic rascal, as we all learn from infancy, always wanting his rent, just as we always wanted our wages—but retard investment building. Nobody wants to become a historic rascal for nothing. Unlike the meat shortage, this trouble couldn't be cured by the removal of price control because, whereas the ranchers had plenty of critters held back, awaiting higher prices, nobody had 10,000 four-room apartments or six-room detached houses stashed away.

I think people were angry about something that few of the successful candidates even mentioned except, as in Tom Dewey's case, to brag how well they had done in spite of unnecessary difficulties, without condemning the difficulties themselves. Republican policy and propaganda ignored it.

I mean the arrogance and stupidity, the dumb, bossy conduct of the unions.

Editorialists and our punditry wrote about this, but the candidates were extremely delicate, and yet I say the people were madder over these impositions than they were over high prices, meaning inflation, or anything else. The candidates dodged the subject, because the Republicans are still afraid of the power of the unioneers, even after election. If you watch closely you will notice that they will go on tiptoe even now, with 1948 in mind. The Democrats, of course, were stuck with the blame and the best they could do was insinuate that the tories and Fascists, meaning the Republicans, were bent on driving down wages and destroying labor's gains. But if a tory or Fascist in big business drives down wages he also drives down the market for what he makes and the prices thereof, so I thought that argument came from a campaign book, not from the campaigner's intelligence. And labor's gains, according to their script, included wanton strikes and goonery with tire chains, clubs and half-bricks, with icepicks and big-head nails to puncture tires and the jugular cut, the little strike in a key operation such as ballbearings on gimmicks which throws out of work thousands

PALESTINE ACTION ASKED BY PEPPER

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—(AP)—U. S. Senator Claude A. Pepper, Democrat, Florida, who terms British practices in Palestine "barbaric," was on record today asking that the United States government "demand of the United Nations intervention in the Palestine affair."

"Let's remove Britain as a mandatory power over Palestine and put that unfortunate country under the protection of the United Nations," he told the executive committee of the American Jewish Congress last night.

Pepper also urged that the American government act to "put United Nations force in Palestine to do whatever policing is necessary."

"The United States," the Florida senator went on, "will never send its soldiers to protect a British mandate, but if the United Nations takes over the protection of Palestine, we will do our part."

"This is a world problem, not a British problem," he continued. "I call upon our government to delay no longer in the performance of its duty not only to the Jews but to decency and democracy in Palestine."

Asking that at least 100,000 immigrants be permitted to enter the Holy Land immediately, Pepper declared the American Jewish Congress is "righteously and with just indignation attacking the barbaric practices of the British in Palestine, reminiscent of the dark ages."

In a press conference prior to his address, Pepper termed the Republican election victory "a triumph of America's reactionaries" and predicted that "now we'll have less democracy at home and abroad than we have been having."

2 Die, 18 Hurt As Plane Crashes

Pilot, Co-Pilot Fatally Injured

Big Aircraft, Bound From Chicago To Boston, Wrecked In Storm

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A United Airlines plane crashed into trees and high tension wires just north of Cleveland airport early today, killing the pilot and co-pilot and injuring 17 passengers and the stewardess.

The plane, flight 404 bound from Chicago to Boston, crashed during a rainstorm. The plane cleared Chicago at 12:35 (CST) and was due at Cleveland airport at 3:27 a. m. (EST).

The victims:

Pilot F. L. Brown, 25, 4743 Drexel boulevard, Chicago.

Co-Pilot Robert L. Arnold, 25, 6814 Delaware, Hammond, Ind.

The plane was demolished as it spun into the ground, the engines being torn from the wings and the fusilage breaking in half.

Fred Pasko, a truck driver believed to be one of the few witnesses, said he noticed the plane about 2,000 feet north of the airport, flying low. He said the plane's landing lights were on and the landing gear was down.

"There was a flash as the plane hit some wires and the street lights went out," Pasko said. "Then the plane crashed into some trees, spun around and hit the ground."

Stewardess on the plane was Miss Betty Dobson, 25, of Chicago.

The passengers and stewardess were rushed to three Cleveland hospitals, but six were released almost immediately after treatment for small cuts

EXPLAINS WHY RICE, SUGAR CONTROLLED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—World shortages and government promises kept sugar and rice under price controls while all other foods were freed of wartime curbs, government officials explained today.

This country has been setting aside 40 per cent of its domestic rice production for export to the Philippines, Puerto Rico and to other areas. These in turn, supply the United States with sugar and natural rubber.

Fear that removal of price lids on rice might send it soaring so high that these export agreements could not be fulfilled prompted retention of controls on that commodity, it was explained.

The story on sugar is similar. The United States normally produces about one-fourth to one-third of the sugar it consumes. War damage to Philippine plantations and in other sugar growing areas has created a huge world wide shortage.

OPA and agriculture department officials told a reporter this country probably could use more than 8,000,000 tons of sugar this year. They estimated, on the other hand, that only about 5,400,000 tons will be available.

Most officials expressed belief that both rationing and price controls must continue well into next year.

ARMISTICE DAY IS CELEBRATED

President Truman Pays Visit To Tomb Of Unknown Soldier

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A visit by President Truman to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier and National Guard flag ceremonies in some 45 state capitals gave martial color today to the annual observance of Armistice Day.

Flanked by army, navy and marine honor guards, and a 21-gun salute awaiting him, Mr. Truman arranged to place a wreath on the World War I shrine in nearby Arlington National Cemetery at 11 a. m., eastern standard time. He planned to speak briefly.

Immediately afterwards, the American Legion scheduled a ceremony in the Arlington Amphitheatre with National Commander Paul H. Griffith as the speaker.

In the state capitals and the capitals of Puerto Rico and Hawaii, the adjutants general mustered representatives of some 3,000 National Guard units to receive from the war department the colors, standards and guidons carried in World War II.

At Austin, Tex., there were international honors for the Texas National Guard's 36th Infantry Division, which fought through Italy, France and Germany. The French government awarded the Croix de Guerre with palm decoration, to be attached to the division's colors, in appreciation of the hard-fought advance by the 36th late in 1944 which helped free Alsace from the Nazis.

Today was the second peace-time observance of the end of World War I since 1941.

But while much of the emphasis was on preparedness for the future, the army took a dim view of its chances of winning the new Congress over to the idea of a compulsory military training program.

War department legislative advisers told reporters privately they not only doubt that the new session will agree to peace-time conscription but that the sentiment may be so strong as to dissuade the army from even asking an extension of the war-time draft

O. G. ELLIOTT'S RITES TUESDAY

Well Known Timber Operator Succumbs In Hospital

O. G. Elliott, 72, prominently connected with timber interests here, died in a local hospital Sunday afternoon. Mr. Elliott was born in Adams county, Ohio, May 18, 1874, where his father before him was active in timber operations.

The funeral will be held with a short service at the residence, 2312 South Grand street, immediately preceding the service at the First Methodist Church, Tuesday at 10 a. m. Mr. Elliott was for the past 30 years a steward of this church. The pastor, Rev. A. M. Serex, will officiate and will be assisted by Dr. E. K. Means and Rev. L. T. Hastings.

Interment, in charge of the Davis-Lawhead Funeral Home, will be in Riverview Burial Park. Active pallbearers will be: H. H. Benoit, R. D. Farr, Matthew C. Redmond, William Wood, J. D. Busby, Sam Smith, M. D. Swayze, and Roy Q. Cole. Honorary pallbearers will be all friends of the family.

Mr. Elliott was educated in the public schools of his native county and when he completed grammar school he engaged in the lumber industry with his father. Later father and son

CHEVROLET CO. TO HAVE NEW HOME

Priority has been given to S. Jack Rogers, of the Lee-Rogers Chevrolet Company, for the erection of a $50,000 new home for this agency at the corner of North Second and Washington streets.

The new building, plans for which are not yet prepared, will be of brick and fireproof and will provide on two floors a total of 15,500 square feet of space.

Mr. Rogers stated Monday that he hopes to break ground on or about New Year's. When this building is completed the present location of his company, at 221-223 Walnut street, will be occupied by the owners of the building, the Ouachita Coca-Cola Company.

Truman Asks Labor, Management Truce

Wartime Curbs On Two Groups Off First Time In Five Years

By Marvin L. Arrowsmith

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—President Truman today advocated an armistice between labor and management in his first public statement since he junked wage and price controls.

Wartime curbs on the two groups were lifted after five years when Mr. Truman swept ceilings off all items except rents, sugar and rice. And rent increases appeared "inevitable" to some government officials.

The subject of a labor-management truce came up at the president's Armistice day news conference when a reporter asked whether he had noted such proposals.

Mr. Truman replied that he had not heard of the suggestion, but said it is just what he has been urging since August, 1945, when the war ended.

The chief executive killed off the price and wage controls in a week-end order, declaring:

"I am convinced that their further continuance would do the nation's economy more harm than good."

At the same time the chief executive placed "squarely upon management and labor" the "responsibility" for economic stability.

His decontrol edict brought immediate promises from industry and business leaders that prices will be held at reasonable levels—after a period of adjustment.

But some of these leaders tempered their pledges with a big "if"—if wage demands don't upset the applecart.

From labor unions, many of which already are seeking higher pay to offset living cost increases, there was

ITALY'S ELECTION MARKED BY APATHY

ROME, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Apathy generally marked municipal elections in Rome and 142 other Italian cities and towns Sunday.

In the capital, the municipal electoral office reported only 56 per cent of the 932,066 registered voters went to the polls, while the figure for Turin was 55 per cent, for Palermo 33 and for Naples only 28.

Of the six big cities choosing municipal assemblies, only Florence and Genoa turned out the bulk of the electorate—73 and 70 per cent, respectively.

Counting of ballots began in Rome at 8 a. m. (2 a. m. E. S. T.) today, and officials said they expected the work to be well enough along some time in the early evening to show how the 81 assembly seats at stake would be apportioned among eight parties and coalitions contending.

Morning papers generally echoed prophecies yesterday that the light vote would put the left wing Communist-Socialist-Action party bloc in first place, with Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian Democrats second.

U. N. WATCHES FRENCH VOTING

Communist Victory May Swing France More Toward Russia

COULD CHANGE TREND

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—(AP)—United Nations diplomats scanned reports of Communist election gains in France today for indications that the new French government might develop a more pro-Russian foreign policy than the old regime.

Should this occur, authorities speculated that it could radically alter the power balance in the foreign ministers and United Nations meetings here. However, questions raised by the Sunday ballot were slated to go without exact answers until all returns were in and the new government formed.

France has not always sided with the United States and Britain against Russia on critical issues—and sometimes has played the role of compromiser—but in the main French policy has lined up with the west more than with Russia.

The influence which the Communists appeared to have gained in the Paris government might, on key questions, change this alignment. Such a development would have far-reaching consequences. It would put an end to the situation in which Russia often finds herself without a voting partner among the big powers, thus preventing Britain and the United States from raising the cry of "veto" against Russia so frequently. It could have an incalculable effect on the policies of smaller European nations.

The vote also was being studied for its possible effects on Soviet foreign policy, which in the face of some reverses and stiff opposition has recently, in the view of American diplomats, been more conciliatory.

The foreign ministers, having left off formal work Saturday and Sunday, reassembled today for a new week's sessions on the eastern European peace treaties (beginning 10:30 a. m., EST). Their most troublesome issue in projected compacts with Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria is the question of free navigation on the Danube. Russia has flatly opposed guaranteeing it in the Romanian treaty currently under discussion, while the western powers demand inclusion of a free navigation clause.

At Lake Success, Long Island, delegates to the U. N.'s 54-nation assembly confidently expected a trusteeship statement from Russia which would

Armistice Day Observed In Twin Cities On Monday

In accordance with a proclamation issued by Mayor H. H. Benoit and the Veterans council, business paused in the Twin Cities for one minute at exactly 11 a. m. Monday, the time that the cease firing order sounded across the seas just 28 years ago. The moment was devoted to the purpose of paying tribute to the loyal men who made the supreme sacrifice.

At 11:01 a. m., over KNOE, former service men, participants in World War I, told in brief talks of some of the experiences they encountered in the struggle to preserve the continued existence of Democracies.

The men participating were: Sam Smith, Joe Trammell, J. B. Thornhill and a former chaplain, Ernest Duncan Holloway. The arrangements for this talk were effected by the Ouachita Parish Veterans' council.

The L. B. Faulk Post of the American Legion observed the day by conducting an open house starting at noon. Many members and friends of the Legion were participants.

The post office, city hall and courthouse offices remained closed Monday in observance of the holiday.

BLACK MARKET TRIAL RESUMED

Pace Continues Story Of 'Trapping' Accused With John's Aid

Trial of the "Tallulah black market whiskey case" went into its second week in federal district court here Monday morning with attorneys and officials estimating from three days to another full week as to when it will be placed in the hands of the jury. Back on the stand and resuming his story of how the U. S. alcohol tax unit cooperated with Comel John, Vicksburg, Miss., liquor dealer, in obtaining evidence against the four defendants, was Clyde D. Pace, agent in charge in Louisiana and Mississippi.

Pace's direct testimony was completed and his cross-examination was begun at 10:40 a. m.

The court was the only government agency functioning in Monroe on Armistice Day, it having been agreed last week to take a Saturday recess and continue on the national holiday. The remainder of the federal building was closed and, with no elevator service, jurors, lawyers, witnesses and

WARNS U. S. NOT TO DISARM COMPLETELY

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey today warned the United States against the "temptation of complete disarmament," and against "the mistake of giving the atom bomb secret to someone else."

"We tried it (disarmament) once, and it didn't work," Halsey said in an Armistice Day speech before the American Legion of greater Kansas City. "If it had, we wouldn't have the dead of two world wars to honor this day."

"Let us outlaw this atom bomb, which is by all concepts the most dreadful weapon we conceived. But let's never make the mistake of giving the secret to someone else. It is safe in our hands," he declared.

"Thinking Americans will agree," he said, "that we will not be able to enjoy that peace of mind that is born of a complete and wholesome sense of security if we submit to the temptation of complete disarmament."

The navy must not abandon its "hard-won leadership" in naval development, Halsey continued, "before we see reasonable proof of the success of world collaboration," lest "we run the unwarranted risk of another world conflict—one more deadly than any yet experienced."

"For if and when such a war comes, it would strike quickly and without warning. There would never be the same period granted us after Pearl Harbor in which to build our war machine to its full strength."

Foreign Affairs Cooperation Seen

President Calls On Republicans And Democrats To Place Welfare Of Nation Ahead Of Partisan Advantages

By Ernest B. Vaccaro

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—President Truman called upon both Democrats and Republicans today to exercise "wisdom and restraint" in operation of the government under divided party control.

He told the nation that the parties must examine their respective positions "with stern and critical analysis" to exclude any attempt "to tamper with the public interest in order to achieve personal or partisan advantage."

Mr. Truman said in a statement read to his news conference that the Democratic defeat in last Tuesday's election "does not alter our domestic or foreign interests or problems." He reminded that "in foreign affairs we have a well-charted course to follow."

The president declared he knew of no resignations planned by members of his cabinet and said that Charles G. Ross will continue as his press secretary.

In response to a question, the president said a decision on whether leaders of the new Republican-controlled Congress will be called to the White House for weekly conferences is one to be made later.

Mr. Truman characterized foreign policy as "a national and not a party program." He added:

"It will continue to be a national program insofar as the secretary of state and I are concerned. I firmly believe that our Republican colleagues who have worked intelligently and cooperatively with us in the past will do so in the future."

The president said he is concerned "lest any in either party should seek in this field (of foreign affairs) an opportunity to achieve personal notoriety or partisan advantage by exploitation of the sensational or by the mere creation of controversy."

"We are set upon a hard course," Mr. Truman said. "An effort by either the executive or the legislative branch of the government to embarrass the other for partisan gain would bring frustration to our country."

Mr. Truman pledged his cooperation "in every proper manner" with Congress—to meet "faith with faith," and "good will with good will."

The text of Mr. Truman's statement:

"The people have elected a Republican majority to the Senate and to the House of Representatives. Under our constitution the Congress is the lawmaking body. The people have chosen to entrust the controlling voice in this branch of our government to the Republican party. I accept their verdict in the spirit in which all good citizens accept the result of any fair election.

"At the same time and under the same constitution, the duties and responsibilities of the chief executive and of the executive branch of the government are entrusted to me and my associates.

"Our government is founded upon the constitutional principle that the three branches of the government are independent of each other. Under this principle our country has prospered and grown great. I should be less than candid, however, if I omitted to state that the present situation threatens difficulties.

"Only by the exercise of wisdom and restraint and the constant determination to place the interest of our country above all other interests, can we meet and solve the problems ahead of us.

"The stake is large. Our great im-

1 DEAD, 3 HURT IN TORNADOES

Gales And Heavy Rains Cause Considerable Property Damage

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Overnight tornadoes, gale winds and heavy rains in the gulf states resulted in one death and at least three injuries, together with considerable property damage.

The storms followed a spell of unseasonably high temperatures which are expected to give way to cooling and fair weather tomorrow.

One person was killed and two others injured when a tornado struck a rural community late Sunday between Morganza and New Roads, La., about 40 miles northwest of Baton Rouge.

Another tornado hit Calvert, in southwest Alabama, early today, demolishing three residences and a garage. None was reported injured. Calvert is 30 miles north of Mobile.

Rains overnight ranged from an inch and a half at New Orleans to more than two inches at Miami, Vicksburg, Miss., had 3.92 inches of rain and Jackson, Miss., 3.74. Temperatures in the forties and fifties are predicted generally for tonight, with near freezing and scattered frost in north Arkansas.

The fatality was that of a Negro child of Ida Mae Gremillion, 24, who with another of her children was injured. The woman and her injured child were taken to charity hospital at New Orleans for treatment.

There, the mother said that her other child was killed when the tornado swept down on her home and "blew it away." She and her five-year-old son suffered leg fractures and other injuries.

The Gremillion home was one of four dwellings reported destroyed.

Sheriff Lamartine Bouanchaud at New Roads said there had been no further reports of storm damage in the area.

E. C. Gordon, driving his car from nearby Morganza to Baton Rouge, witnessed the tornado. He described it as a huge funnel-shaped cloud that hit about halfway between New Roads and Morganza.

Gordon estimated that winds along the highway on the fringe of the storm were more than 50 miles an hour.

A utilities company employe reported that three additional persons had been injured in the storm. Telephone communications were temporarily out of order and this could not be confirmed immediately.

Unofficial reports reaching here by radio were that the body of a child, presumably the same one earlier reported missing or killed, was found in a field after his home had been blown away.

These reports said the storm struck La Barre, about halfway between New Roads and Morganza, and the Tonewall plantation, two miles north of La Barre. At La Barre three tenant

18,000,000 POUNDS OF SUGAR IS SAVED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Approximately 18,000,000 pounds of scarce raw sugar was safe today because of the combined efforts of the New Orleans fire department and six fire tugs.

A fire at the docks of the American Sugar Refinery at nearby Arabi, fanned by a high wind, spread along the company's docks and caused damage estimated by plant manager N. B. Scott at $3,000,000. Scott said that about 500,000 pounds of raw sugar were destroyed and that only quick work by firemen saved the 18,000,000 pounds in a nearby warehouse.

Fire Chief Howard Dey said the refinery proper was not damaged and that work probably would be resumed within a week. Scott said, however, the refinery's 3,500,000 pounds capacity probably would not be reached for at least 18 months.

Origin of the blaze was not known. The first signal brought a single piece of apparatus from St. Bernard parish, just below New Orleans. Subsequent alarms brought out the full fire fighting equipment of the city plus six fire tugs.

The blaze was discovered about 2:45 p. m. and was brought under control three hours later.

THREE SAVED AFTER DRIFTING 12 DAYS

OKINAWA, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Three Americans who drifted for 12 days on the open sea in a 20-foot boat related to rescuers today how a navy landing ship passed within 300 yards of their craft the first night but failed to see their flares.

The three, brought here by destroyer from Miyako Island where they grounded on a reef, appeared in fair condition. They last 10 to 15 pounds in weight and suffered cut feet in walking on the coral.

They had drifted 180 miles from Okinawa, whence they had set out on a short pleasure cruise.

CHINESE ASSEMBLY OPENING DELAYED

NANKING, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Opening of the National Assembly, called by Chiang Kai-Shek for tomorrow to establish an all-party government for China, has been postponed "two or three days," Minister of Information Peng Hsueh-Pei told newsmen today.

This was announced as Communist tempers flared anew over allegations that government troops in violation of the new cease-fire order were menacing the Red capital of Yenan, and as third-party representatives urged postponement of the session until the end of the month in the hope of reaching an agreement with the Communists beforehand.

Earlier responsible government officials had predicted the assembly would convene in an informal preparatory session tomorrow as scheduled.

This was taken as a compromise settlement to permit both sides to save face. The generalissimo has declared there would be no further postponement, and the Communists have insisted that formal convocation of the assembly would signal the end of peace negotiations.

It was understood that formal sessions would begin if and when the Communists and third party delegates could be persuaded to participate.

The Communists, who have insisted that military forces revert to their positions as of last Jan. 13 before the assembly is called, angrily protested today that Nationalist armies already were violating Chiang's cease-fire order—effective at noon today—by grouping for a possible attack on the Red capital of Yenan in Shensi province.
